

Kennedy's Meeting With Macmillan to Set 'Skybolt' Plans

Hottest Argument in Years Between Great Britain, U. S.

BULLETIN
PARIS (AP) — The United States has offered to turn over the entire controversial Skybolt rocket program to Britain free of charge, qualified sources reported tonight.

They said the British have been told they can take over the highly complicated project either in the United States or in their own country if they feel they can successfully develop it. The British accepted the American proposal for study.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fate of the Skybolt missile program, subject of the hottest U.S.-British argument in years, hangs precariously on next week's meeting between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan—and this country's military budget.

Tentative American plans to give up on the expensive missile—around which Britain has shaped its nuclear strategy—has brought a sharp reaction from Britain and put a strain on the alliance.

When asked about the Skybolt dispute at his news conference yesterday, Kennedy spoke cautiously.

1. He was sure it would be discussed when he meets with Macmillan in the Bahamas Dec. 19-20. The United States is now reviewing its budget for the new fiscal year. No final decision will be made until these matters have been completed.

Tests Unsuccessful
2. The United States has put a half-billion dollars into the program so far. To complete it and buy the missiles might require $2.5 billion more. Five tests of the 1,100-mile range ballistic missile for launching from bombers have not been successful.

"So—there really is the question of how much it is worth to the British and ourselves to put in that kind of money when we have competing claims for our available funds," the President said.

Kennedy characterized the Skybolt as "the most sophisticated weapon imaginable. To fire a missile from a plane moving at high speed to hit a target 1,000 miles away requires the most advanced engineering and, of course, it has been really, in a sense, the kind of engineering that's been beyond us."

British experts don't believe the

Writer Had Been Leading Spokesman For Conservatism

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Columnist George E. Sokolsky, 69, died Wednesday night in his Manhattan apartment. A leading spokesman for American conservatism, his writings appeared in 298 newspapers across the country.

Plagued by heart trouble, diabetes and the cancer to which he had lost a kidney, Sokolsky succumbed in the study of his home while making a phone call. His daughter, Mrs. Donald Feuerstein, was with him when he was stricken. His wife, Dorothy, was in another room.

A relentless foe of domestic and international communism, the bushy-haired Sokolsky drew from a world of experience in writing his six-day-a-week column, and in a varied career that included stints as a radio commentator and lecturer.

He had been in Russia during

the early struggles for political power that culminated in communism's victory there, and he worked for many years in China.

Columbia Graduate
Graduating from Columbia University in 1917, he went on a globe-trotting tour that took him through revolution-racked Russia and restless China, where he finally settled down in 1920 to a 10-year stint as a political correspondent of the North China Daily News in Shanghai.

It was there that he met and married his first wife, Chinese-born, English-educated Rosalind Phang. She died in 1933 after bearing him a son, Eric.

In the 1930s, Sokolsky wrote a column for the New York Herald Tribune. During this time, he also wrote five books: "Tinderbox of Asia," "Labor's Fight for Freedom," "We Jews," "Labor Crisis in the United States" and "The American Way of Life."

In 1940 he began writing a nationally syndicated column for the New York Sun. Shortly after that paper ceased publication in 1950, his column, "These Days," started in the new York Journal-American.

His column had been distributed

Stevenson's Role in Cuban Crisis Lauded by President

Penalties Set For Sending Goods to Cuba

Vessels Would be Denied Cargoes From the U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has decided to impose penalties on non-Communist shipping engaged in trade with Cuba, chiefly by denying American cargoes to the vessels.

New regulations are expected to be put into effect in about two weeks.

The President's move, disclosed Wednesday at a news conference, involves reviving plans that were shelved when the Cuban crisis broke in October.

Thus, the United States is reverting to its pre-crisis policy of putting an increasingly tight economic squeeze on the Castro regime in Cuba and, at the same time, making the cost of Soviet support for that regime as high as possible.

Other Points
Kennedy also made two other major points about the Cuban situation:

1. He hopes that negotiations going on between U.S. and Soviet representatives in New York "will come to some conclusion in the not too distant future." Meanwhile the United States intends to maintain its vigilance against the introduction of Soviet offensive weapons into the island. This was the substance of the President's reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech in Moscow

U.N. Ambassador's Service 'Distinguished,' Kennedy Says at News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy tried again to close the book on the Adlai Stevenson chapter in the Cuban crisis. He said it should be left to history "when the whole record will be spread out in great detail."

But he said he thought that after having read various statements of the past 10 days "any historians—who walk through this mine field of charges and countercharges, should proceed with some care."

The President in his news conference Wednesday touched on many subjects — including the Mona Lisa and a record spoofing the First Family. But the questions kept returning to Cuba and Stevenson.

The President again endorsed the U.N. ambassador saying: "The fact of the matter is that Gov. Stevenson renders very distinguished service. He has done an excellent job at the United Nations."

Urging Appeasement
But the President left up in the air who in the administration may have given two reporters information that comes before the National Security Council because I think it lessens its effectiveness." The tempest blew up over an article in the Saturday Evening Post, written by Washington newsmen Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, which gave an account of the council's deliberations during the crisis and the positions various members took. Stevenson has denounced the account of his position as untrue.

NATO Told to Take Initiative

Optimistic Report Given to Annual Meeting by Rusk

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today to take the initiative in the cold war and demonstrate that freedom is the wave of the future.

In a cautiously optimistic report to the annual NATO winter ministerial meeting, Rusk said the outcome of the Cuban crisis and weaknesses developing in the Communist bloc offered the West new opportunities.

The world may be arriving, he explained, at a time when the East instead of the West will do a greater part of the worrying.

Assures Allies
Rusk also assured America's NATO allies the United States government is not negotiating with the Soviet Union on any other subject than Cuba.

He proposed wide-ranging Western studies of major diplomatic problems to consolidate advantages now flowing toward the Atlantic community.

And he warned the Soviet Union the United States has given all the concessions it intends to offer in the negotiations for a treaty to ban nuclear tests.

Rusk spoke for nearly an hour at the opening session of a three-day ministerial review of NATO problems in the Paris headquarters of the 15-nation alliance.

He said the Soviet Union is bumping into serious problems, including troubles inside the country itself, within the Communist bloc, and in relations with the rest of the world.

Kennedy Plans Special Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will appear on national television networks Monday night to review his first two years in the White House.

The White House announced today that the hour-long program will be taped in advance and shown at 6:30 p.m. (EST) by ABC and CBS and at 8:30 p.m. by NBC.

The program will be produced by a committee of the three major networks and will be entitled: "After Two Years—A Conversation with the President." Kennedy will be interviewed by Sander Vanocur of NBC, William H. Lawrence of ABC, and George Herman of CBS.

Tito Praises Khrushchev's Handling of Cuban Crisis

Yugoslav Leader's Talk Certain To Increase Red Chinese Anger

BY PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia addressed the Soviet Parliament today and approved Soviet Premier Khrushchev's handling of the Cuban crisis. This seemed certain to increase Communist Chinese anger at the Soviet leadership.

The Yugoslav leader, expelled from the Communist fold as a "deviationist" by Stalin in 1948, told the Supreme Soviet that Kremlin and Yugoslav points of view "on all major international questions coincide or are close to each other."

Tito's appearance followed an address by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in which, echoing Khrushchev's major policy speech, he suggested the U.S.S.R. wanted to negotiate a settlement of the West Berlin issue. He said Moscow is setting no deadline.

4-Day Session
The 1,443-member Supreme Soviet wound up its four-day session today that 35,268 claims for unemployment compensation were filed in Wisconsin in the week ending Saturday. The previous week's U.S.S.R. 86.6-billion-ruble budget total was 32,887.

Women's Peace Group Defies House Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of a women's peace movement have defied investigating congressmen at a House hearing and asked for a chance to talk with President Kennedy.

A House subcommittee on Un-American Activities resumes its inquiry today, with Mrs. Dagmar Wilson, a founder of the Women Strike for Peace, scheduled as a witness. The group is the chief target of the investigation.

Anna MacKenzie of Westport, Conn., a leader of the peace group, risked a contempt of Congress citation Wednesday in refusing to answer questions on whether she had participated in Communist activities.

"These are not questions," she said when the subcommittee accused her of being active in Communist-front organizations as a college student in the 1930s, and of having been a member of the Communist party in 1943.

"I am particularly not invoking the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment," she said in refusing to answer questions. "I'm standing on my rights as an American citizen."

Subcommittee Chairman Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., ordered her to answer and still she refused.

"Are you aware there may be a possible contempt prosecution?" asked Alfred M. Nitte, the subcommittee counsel.

"Yes," said Mrs. MacKenzie. The full committee would have to vote a citation. "Nine times out of ten we avoid contempt," Doyle said after the hearing.

Killing Arctic Cold-Covers Eastern U. S.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A huge mass of arctic air enveloped the entire eastern half of the nation today. The damaging and tragic effects of the prolonged late autumn cold wave and snowstorm mounted.

The unseasonably cold weather persisted from the northern borders deep into the South, causing inconvenience to millions.

Damage to property and to vegetable crops in Florida was estimated in the millions of dollars. The continued cold threatened the multimillion-dollar citrus crop. Temperatures ranged from the teens in northern Florida to the 30s and 40s in southern sections. Deaths in connection with the severe weather in the last week soared to near the 100 mark—with some estimates as high as 150.

The biting cold air dropped temperatures to record low levels for the season and for the date in many areas. The South was especially hard hit by the icy blasts.

The main core of the arctic air was in the northern Gulf states. The mercury plunged to 11 below in Crossville, in eastern Tennessee. Temperatures along the coast dipped to the middle teens. Readings of zero were reported in north Georgia and in mountain areas of Alabama.

Negotiations Quit In Strike Against New York Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations in this city's newspaper strike have been called off until next week by federal mediators in the face of a solid deadlock that caused one negotiator to comment: "We are in a state of siege."

The action late Wednesday meant that eight million persons would have to do without their nine major dailies for at least five more days. Also doing without are the hundreds of businesses that depend on the papers to advertise their wares during the Christmas shopping season.

The strike of printers represented by Local 6 of the International Typographical Union is already in its sixth day. Nearly 20,000 employees of the papers have been idled.

Close Look at Venus Frail 'Mariner II' Approaching Waited 'Magic Moment in Space'

BY JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mariner II now approaches its magic moment in space. The frail, bug-like explorer—scared by the nearness of the sun—is ready for a first, close look at a neighbor planet, earth's cloud-veiled sister Venus.

At 3:10 p.m. (EST) Friday Mariner is to pass some 20,000 miles from Venus—give or take a few thousand miles.

For half an hour its instruments will measure radio and heat radiation from below the dense clouds that hide the planet from sight.

It is an historic moment in man's probing farther and farther into his solar system. Even now a Soviet space probe is pushing toward Mars for a closer look at that planet.

Series of Troubles
Mariner has weathered a series of troubles, but with one of its solar panels out of operation, it is about to complete its mission. Mariner is already holder of all records for long distance radio communication through space. When it reports back from Venus, it will set a new record—radio signals from a man-made device 36 million miles away.

This all began on Aug. 27 when an Atlas-Agena B rocket complex boosted Mariner into space.

Its predecessor Mariner I had failed little more than a month before when the range safety officer destroyed it 290 seconds after blast-off because of an erratic flight path.

Mariner II got off as planned, but when the time came for it to fire its mid-course motor and get a better aim on Venus, the rocket ran into trouble.

Seeing the Moon
Mariner's eyes seemed to get too dim a view of earth. Data radioed back indicated earth was appearing 1-150th as bright as it should have been. Scientists worried that Mariner's eyes were really seeing the moon.

They checked and checked again, finally decided, despite the dim-light report, that Mariner was locked on to the earth. On Sept. 4 they fired the mid-course motor.

On Sept. 8, the gyroscopes went on—indicating that Mariner had lost its view of the earth and sun. Then the gyros went off again. Space technicians creaked it up to mystery, nearly two million miles from earth.

On Sept. 29, the same thing happened. Again no good explanation. Suddenly the eyes of Mariner reported the earth was now as bright as it should have been. This too is unexplained, more than five million miles from earth.

12 Million Miles
On Oct. 31, almost 12 million miles from earth, Mariner radioed that its power production had dropped. Technicians guessed that one of the solar panels, which convert sunlight into electricity, had developed a short circuit.

British Troops Regain Towns In Brunei Area

LABUAN, North Borneo (AP)—British troops pushed out from regained towns in Brunei and northwest Sarawak today chasing rebel bands seeking refuge in dense jungles and swamps.

Local British commanders were concerned that the rebels, whose strength still is unknown, would attempt to organize a long guerrilla war from swampland hide-outs.

Several hundred tribesmen from the interior of Sarawak, responding to an ancient hostility to the rebel coastal dwellers, were reported prowling the Brunei-Sarawak border areas in an effort to cut off rebel bands.

However, Lt. Gen. Sir Nigel Poett, commander of British Far East land forces, declared after a visit to operations areas that the possibility of rebel guerrilla resistance already was remote after only six days of revolt.

Reynolds Says City Property Tax Unfair

New Governor Seeks Other Means to Pay for Education Besides Real Estate Levies

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's situation and still give equal education," Reynolds said. "I don't agree with using real estate values as the sole unit of measuring a locality's worth or ability to pay for education," the Democratic governor-elect said. "I think the ability to pay is based on income."

Reynolds asked William Kahl, the department's assistant superintendent, whether he knew of any state that had devised a formula for aids that used a community's gross income as a standard for distribution.

Income Index

Kahl said that Indiana had experimented with a "personal income index," but had not found the procedure too successful.

Kahl said cities not receiving equalized aid because of present formulas included Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Manitowish, La Crosse, Marshfield, Two Rivers, Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids.

All school districts, under the present formula, receive basic aid of $30 per pupil. This amounts to about 25 per cent of the total that state government distributes in school aid. The remaining 75 per cent is allotted according to a community's ability to raise property taxes for school purposes.

Farm Bureau Convention Ends Today

Expect Passage Of Resolutions With No Trouble

BY OVID A. MARTIN

ATLANTA (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation ends its five-day convention today with directions that its officials renew and redouble efforts to reduce government's role in agriculture.

Indications were that the final session would approve, with little if any significant change, resolutions drafted by a policy committee. Those resolutions struck sharply at federal farm controls, federal spending, and talk of an income tax cut unaccompanied by a corresponding cut in the budget.

In tackling the farm program issue, leaders of the nation's largest farm group will encounter in the coming year, as in the preceding two years, determined opposition from Kennedy administration farm officials and some other farm organizations.

But in 1963, the major battle over the farm control issue may be waged out on the farms rather than in Congress, scene of 1961 and 1962 fights.

Wheat Plan

A nationwide grower referendum on a new wheat control plan of the administration may well determine the future role of government in most of agriculture. Both farm leaders and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman agree on the importance of this farm vote.

If claims of convention leaders are accurate, the farm group should win handily. Bureau President Charles B. Shuman and his associates say that a majority of the nation's farmers want fewer controls.

But this claim has been contested by Freeman and by officials of the National Farmers Union, a staunch supporter of strong farm programs, and the National Grange.

Two Liberated Cubans Ask Return to Jail

Made Promise to Return if Others Were Not Freed

BY CARLOS MARTINEZ
Chicago Daily News Service

MIAMI, Fla. — Two liberated prisoners of the Cuban invasion said Wednesday they want to go back to Castro's prisons.

Felipe Morin Rodriguez and Luis Marinero Figueroa said they had promised to return if those left behind were not freed, and that the time has come to keep that promise.

The two men said they and others were signing an agreement that will be sent to the U.S. government asking they be returned to Cuba.

By Dec. 30

Both men said if negotiations by the private families committee for return of all prisoners are not successful by Dec. 30, all who sign the agreement will voluntarily return to Cuban prisons.

At his press conference Wednesday President Kennedy said he was "very sympathetic" to efforts by the committee to secure release of the prisoners taken by Fidel Castro last year after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

The President noted that such leaders as Gen. Lucius Clay, one of his principal advisers, are active in the negotiations.

"The moral suffering here is harder than the physical suffering in the prison," Morin explained. "We can't stand to see the families of the ones still in jail crying every day."

Leg Amputated

Morin lost one leg below the knee and two fingers in the April, 1961, invasion. Marinero lost an eye. Both returned to Miami with the 60 wounded prisoners released by Fidel Castro last April.

"We promised when we left that if the others were not freed in three months that we would return. Now it has been eight months."

"Negotiations by the families committee are still going on, but we don't see anything happening. We have waited and waited, and now we think morally we should be back with them by New Year's," the men said.

Accreditation Agency Doesn't Approve of UW Teacher Training

MADISON (AP) — A national accreditation agency which does not fully approve of the teacher training program at the University of Wisconsin was the target of additional criticism Wednesday by Lindley J. Stiles, dean of the School of Education.

Stiles said in a statement the university cannot permit an outside agency "to deny us the right to develop the academic structure which we think is best for Wisconsin."

"There is no indication that our graduates are not being sought after just as eagerly as in the past," Stiles said. He also said there was no plan to set up a competing accreditation body.

Ev and Charlie

GOP Plans to Scuttle TV Press Conference

BY CHARLES NICODEMUS
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Agitation for scuttling the "Ev and Charlie" show is now past the talking point and in the planning stage.

Thanks to a recent, little known decision by the GOP National Committee, backers of abolition—led by Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) — are now optimistic that the demise of the show can be gracefully arranged.

The weekly televised press conference featuring Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) and House Minority Leader Charles Halleck has been running two years as the GOP's official Congressional forum.

Fresh optimism by critics that the show can be ended stems from a move that the Republican National Committee is doing it's best to hush up:

At its meeting here last week, the committee decided to reduce or eliminate its $30,000-a-year subsidy that made the show possible.

Committee officials say the cut-back results from a 30 per cent reduction of the National Committee's budget.

No Comment

Sen. Dirksen, reached by telephone at his vacation house in Debary, Fla., declined comment on the Committee decision or its impact on the show's future.

Rep. Ayres' chief complaint — one echoed by other members of Congress — is that the show is not an effective voice or image of the Republican party. Ayres is Public Relations Chairman for the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee and the Republican "image" is one of his chief concerns.

Ayres — a friend and strong supporter of Halleck — would replace the program with individual press conferences by the House and Senate members.

They would be held "not on a timetable, where it looks like you're making up news, but whenever a worthwhile occasion demanded," he said.

And instead of featuring just two spokesmen "the House press conference would be run by Charlie Halleck, but should also draw on other members who have special committee experience or knowledge in certain fields, Ayres suggested.

Thus, with Charlie, you might have Paul Findley (R-Ill.) from the Agriculture Committee on a farm problem, Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.) on education and labor, and so forth.

"This would let the public see what young, articulate competent blood we have in the Republican party, along with our wise elder statesmen."

Halleck is 62 and Dirksen will be 67 on Jan. 4.

"Charlie knows I'm not out to get him," Ayres said. "I'm out to better the image of the Republican party, under his leadership."

Ayres this week wrote Halleck, who is vacationing in Florida, explaining his position and suggesting he and Halleck confer in Washington before the session opens Jan. 9.

When the House convenes, Ayres said he plans to ask the GOP caucus to replace the "Ev & Charlie" show with an individual House conference.

Ayres says he and his supporters not only intend to seek a secret ballot on the matter, but plan to ask "for a secret ballot on the question of a secret ballot."

"That will enable everyone to vote his conscience without fearing that he'll offend Charlie," he said. "If it's handled this way, I don't think there's the slightest doubt but what the motion to abolish the show will carry."

Order Election For Cemetery Association

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — A new election of officers and trustees of Sunrise Memorial Gardens, a cemetery association formerly headed by John Schneider Jr., the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for state treasurer, has been ordered by Manitowish County Judge Harold W. Mueller.

The balloting, expected within the next two months, was agreed upon by both the old and new trustees during a conference in Sheboygan County Court Wednesday. Judge Mueller took over the case after Schneider, 44, filed a writ of prejudice against Sheboygan County Judge J. W. Wilkus.

Schneider, who had been president and general manager of the association, was charged Nov. 2, four days before the state election, with misappropriating about $9,000 in association funds. Trial is pending.

Khrushchev Declares War on Ideological Views of Red China

Diplomat Calls Speech Turning Point in Moscow-Peking Rivalry

BY GEORGE SYVERTSEN
MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has declared war on the ideological views of Communist China and Albania and publicly made his peace with his old enemy in the Communist camp, Yugoslav President Tito.

In his speech to the Supreme Soviet Wednesday Khrushchev outlined to his people for the first time the details of his feud with the dissenting Chinese and Albanians.

A neutralist diplomat called the speech "a historic turning point" in Moscow-Peking rivalry.

Khrushchev declared that dogmatism, a Communist synonym for the extreme views of the Chinese, had become just as dangerous as revisionism, a word applied to such independent Communist thinking such as Yugoslavia's.

Soviet Reds

He swore that, from now on, "Soviet Communists, to whom there is nothing higher than unity of the ranks of the world Communist movement, will fight resolutely against both right-wing and left-wing opportunism, which today is no less dangerous than revisionism."

In an open affront to the anti-Titoist Chinese and Albanians, Khrushchev declared Soviet friendship for the Yugoslav Communists.

This drew an approving nod from Tito, seated behind him on the stage, and loud applause from the deputies of the Supreme Soviet.

Khrushchev blamed Stalin for the differences that led to Yugoslavia's expulsion from the Communist camp in 1948.

"But our Yugoslav comrades were not wholly blameless," he added.

"There are still serious divergencies on a number of ideological questions, he continued, but recent moves in Yugoslav domestic and foreign policy have "eliminated much of what we regarded as erroneous and as prejudicing the cause of building socialism (communism) in Yugoslavia."

He apparently was referring to Tito's recent economic reforms, tightening central controls over decentralized Yugoslav industries, and his close support of Soviet foreign policy stands.

By Name

While never mentioning the Chinese by name, Khrushchev accused them of "sinking deeper and deeper in the quagmire of leftist opportunism, splitting tactics and sectarianism."

"In the crisis over Cuba, Yugoslav Communists took a correct position, whereas dogmatists who pose as true Marxists-Leninists took a provocative position," he said.

"What the crisis in Cuba has shown is that the main danger was represented by those who stood and stand on dogmatic positions."

Charge Man With Watching TV on Florida Turnpike

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A Miami man has been charged with watching television while driving on the Florida Turnpike.

Jack S. Minstzer, 26, was arrested by state trooper Joe Bowen who said he gave chase when Minstzer's car ran off the highway, pulled back on, then continued, astride the center lane.

Bowen said he found a portable television set, in operation, on Minstzer's dashboard. A 1951 law outlaws television which distracts an automobile driver, and carries a possible penalty of six months in jail or a $500 fine.

MADISON (AP)—December is traditionally the most dangerous month for pedestrian accidents, the Wisconsin division of the American Automobile Association reminded today.

Increased hours of darkness, inclement weather and rain and snow that lower visibility are major contributing factors.

Holiday shopping also figures in the picture.

Protesting Too Much?

The continued argument among high government officials and various writers over what United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson did or did not say before the decision was made to blockade Cuba is a little confusing.

The original article which made the headlines charged that Stevenson favored a softer policy toward the Cubans. The President issued a statement of his continued reliance and faith in Stevenson and commented upon Stevenson's value. Stevenson said much of the article was misleading or downright erroneous. Then Life Magazine came out with a new version backing Stevenson and saying that he favored even a tougher line than was taken.

This hassle, rather surprising in the number of denials and righteous indignations, is the direct result of the attempt by the administration to control news and to use it as an instrument of policy itself.

Christmas Present for Shoppers

Westview arrived just in time for Christmas.

We are referring to the city's new parking structure at Washington and Division Streets which was opened to the motoring public for the first time Monday and has been getting good use since.

City officials are to be complimented for their insight in realizing that the City of Appleton as hub of the Fox Cities region needs additional public parking facilities.

Considering the fees charged for parking in some of the state's other metropolitan areas, Appleton and area residents

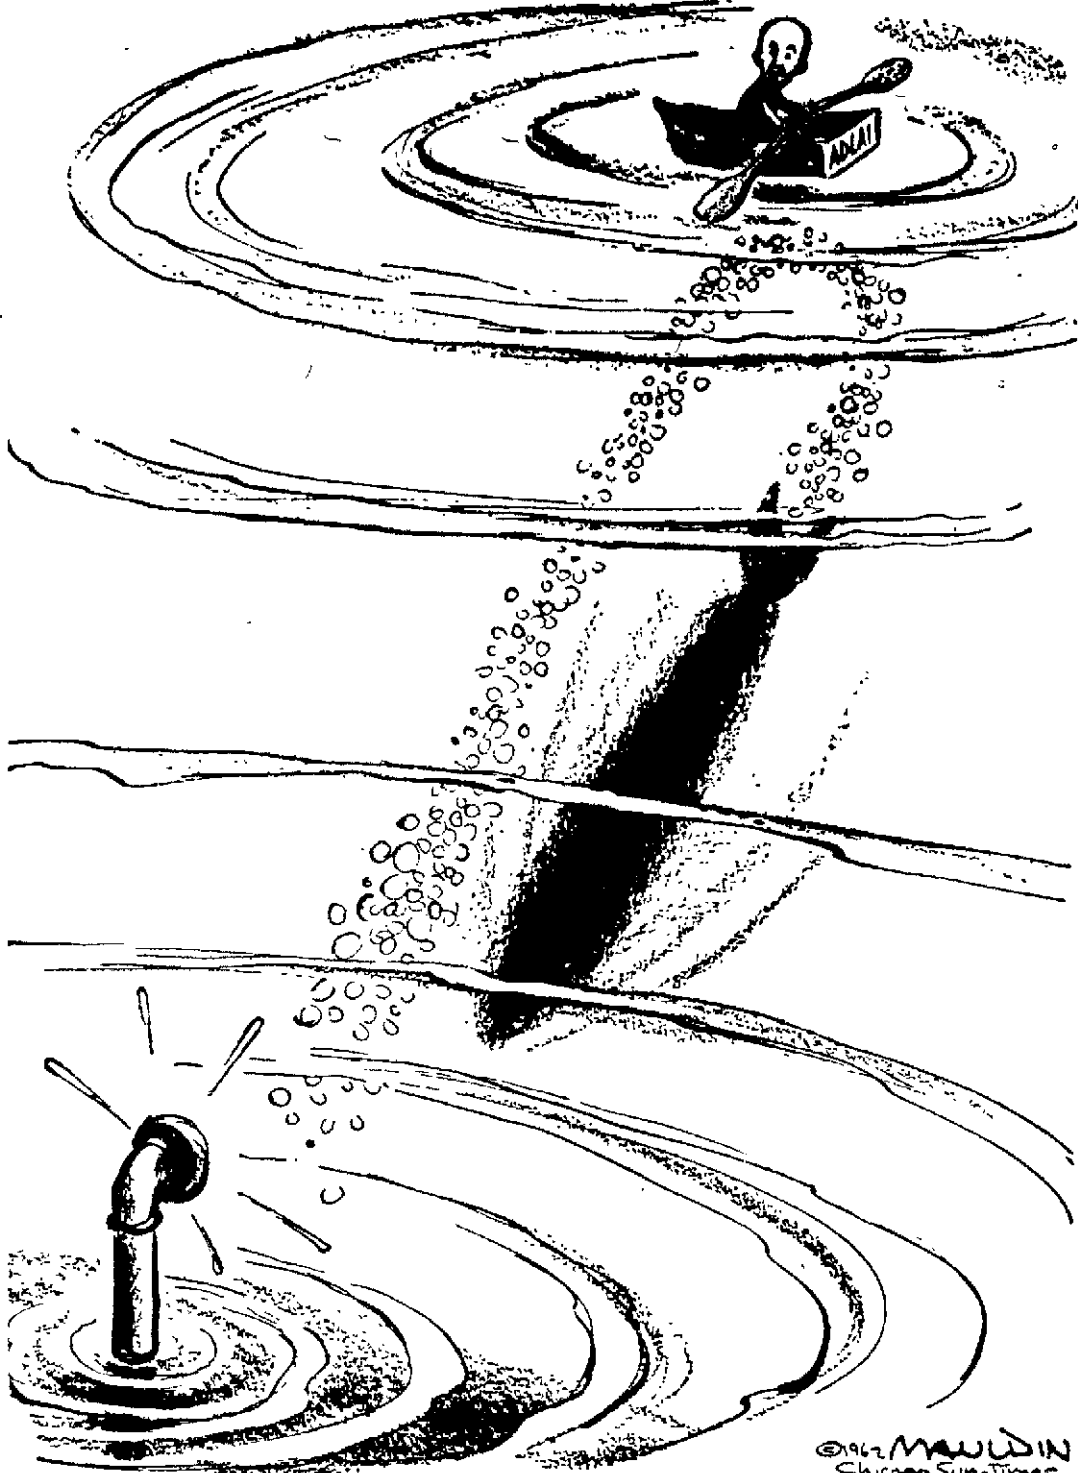

Reporters are supposed to be doubting creatures in any event and when they are informed by the assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, Arthur Sylvester, that the government ought to lie for its own protection, they would be poor newsmen indeed if they didn't start casting around for other sources of information.

Life Magazine claims that the original article "planted the seeds of trouble" which might lead to Stevenson's resignation. But the seeds were planted by President Kennedy in attempting to use reporters, even close friends, to present an "image" of his administration. And if Ambassador Stevenson and President Kennedy are not enough in accord to be able to believe each other no matter what is reported they ought to take a second hard look at their relationship. Merely keeping a speaking acquaintance between two wings of the Democratic party is not enough.

are getting a good deal. You might say the completion and opening of the first floor of the ramp was a pre-Christmas present for motorists as well as merchants.

Providing adequate parking for the people who want to do their shopping in Appleton is a matter of good business and of benefit to the entire community. The structure is being paid for from parking meter revenues so the taxpayer was not directly affected.

This comes under the heading of good planning because the people who are using the public parking facilities are the ones paying for them.

Guilty Party in Stevenson Affair Should be Punished

BY ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — When one or more of the highest officials of the government leak national security confidences to torpedo one of their own colleagues—this is not the kind of scandal which can be brought to an end by one of the participants saying, "Tut, tut, we've heard enough of this."

There is great public anxiety at this breach of security at the highest level and public revulsion at this indecent, McCarthy-like tactic of trying to destroy Ambassador Adlai Stevenson by anonymously calling him "soft" on getting rid of Soviet missiles in Cuba. This anxiety and this revulsion will not go away by just repeating over and over that "the incident is closed."

The blot which this scandal is fastening on the administration will be removed only when President Kennedy himself shows that he is sufficiently disturbed or sufficiently disgusted—or both—by the affair to discover who is guilty and take the necessary action.

The leaking of National Security Council secrets by one or more members of the NSC is a grave crime, and I do not see how the President—or the public—can be comfortable until the guilty have been detected and dealt with.

The attempt by some of his colleagues within the inner circle of Mr. Kennedy's closest advisers to destroy Ambassador Stevenson is an offensive spectacle which has now rebounded against the perpetrator. If Mr. Kennedy had wanted to relieve Mr. Stevenson of his UN post, the "non - admiring official," whom the Saturday Evening Post article quoted as saying that "Adlai wanted a Munich," has made it nearly impossible for him to do so.

The higher echelons of officials know very well that survival in Washington goes to the fittest—and toughest. They are not easily shocked by the political in-fighting which they witness going on around them.

But these strong-fibered public officials can be shocked and horrified by the extremes of unfair and dishonorable tactics. They were shocked and horrified by the meat-axe, guilt-by-association attacks launched by Sen. McCarthy a few years ago. They are shocked and horrified by what they consider the same tactic used against Adlai Stevenson today—the attempt by anonymous innuendo to so undercut Mr. Stevenson that he will be forced out of government.

There are many points on which I would take a view radically different than Mr. Stevenson's, but I do not see how any honorable person can condone this attempt at anonymous assassination. Everybody is hurt. The President is hurt, perhaps more than anyone, Mr. Stevenson is hurt. The otherwise superb handling of the Cuba crisis is partly smeared. And the morale of high-grade public officials is seriously injured.

The latest turn in this NSC leak makes it more imperative that the President determine the responsibility. Life magazine this week published an article reporting, on the basis of its information, that Mr. Kennedy himself provided access to the top-level sources for the two Saturday Evening Post writers, Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, Pierre Salinger, the White House Press Secretary, instantly and flatly denies this suggestion. But it is only candid to say that in Washington, both inside and outside the government, this denial is not universally accepted.

Those who question the denial will be disproved if the President acts with the same decisiveness he did a few months ago when there was a leak of classified information bearing upon the results of recent U. S. nuclear tests. Mr. Kennedy directed the FBI to investigate every person who had access to this information, including the members of the NSC. I understand that the President was satisfied that the leak did not come from the NSC but from a lower level in the government where part of the information had been evaluated. It would be a fair assumption that something was done about it.

Something needs to be done about this latest NSC leak. Only the President can do it. This scandal will continue to harm everybody until the responsibility is fixed.

Budget Hearings Are Propaganda Exercise; Wants Become Needs

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Making a public budget—such as the state budget which is now dominating the political news of this state—is a heller-skelter and highly dubious process, whatever the constituent taxpayer may like to believe, and whatever the office-holders involved like to pretend.

Essentially it is a propaganda exercise, in the way it is typically conducted in state government. The governor and the legislature hold "hearings," so-called. But they are not hearings in the sense that they are close audits, with careful and expert interrogations and challenges. They are "hearings" only in the sense that they give the anxious office-holding head of a service the opportunity to make an appeal to the body politic—far beyond the confines of the nominal hearing chamber, through the devices of publicity.

Sometimes the observer wonders what would happen—and of course it won't happen—if such hearings were closed to the public eye and a governor worried about his financial record could discuss these matters with department heads with some degree of confidentiality.

"Look here, Mr. Jones," he might say, "I can't possibly give you these extra millions you are asking, and you know it as well as I do."

"I'm going to cut your requests. You know best where they can be cut. Let's do this together."

HOW IT MIGHT GO

The department head, given security from the recriminations of his supporting lobbies, and the resentment of his associates and his subordinates who can otherwise make his life miserable and affect his career, might very well respond something like this:

"Okay, Sir, some of these things I had to include because my boys insisted upon them and it was hard to deny them. My private opinion is that Appropriation A is more important than Appropriation B, if you have to get rid of something. Some of these other matters can be postponed, if they must. We're a little heavy on travel, as against some of the other departments, and we're replacing some of our equipment at a more rapid rate than formerly. Yes, we could manage with less."

Any department head with any loyalty to his job and his program would prefer, as the saying in government goes, to trim with a scalpel rather than with an axe. But it is extremely difficult to do in the shining light of publicity that the Wisconsin system requires, and surely will continue to require.

The propaganda characteristic of the proceeding is shown almost daily by the phrasing of the news dispatches. There are repeated references to "needs," when the correct word in almost all instances is "wants."

On a recent budget trip this correspondent asked a minor office-holder why every single typewriter in his place—and there was a generous number—was brand new and electrically powered. The electric machines as any office manager knows are considerably more expensive than the standard models. In the offices of the men covering these hearings for the news media, for example, there is probably not a single electric typewriter—for that reason.

"They can make 12 copies," the civil servant replied, and it apparently had never occurred to him to wonder why so many copies should be made.

COMPARISON

Public budgeting has been liberal for a long time, as most business employees would conclude if they could make comparisons between their facilities and those of governmental agencies.

Some years ago this reporter had a small part, through the solicitation of the bureau of personnel, in recruiting a man for a new and comparatively small job in the state government. His employment in private life was menial, unsatisfying, insecure. He was happy to make the change, to easier working conditions, better pay, virtually guaranteed tenure, and the rest.

A few months later I called upon him and he appeared disgruntled. I wondered why.

"They won't give me a private secretary," replied the man who had never had one in his whole previous professional life, and obviously didn't need one then.

Strictly Personal

Talk About Dark Ages; How Will We Look?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Periods, like people, have their own overweening egos; and whenever we moderns mention the "Dark Ages," we do not include our own—but it is likely a thousand years from now the barbarism of the 20th century will seem not far removed from the barbarism of the 10th.

An expert in any delicate feat never gets as much public applause as the second-rater, because the expert by definition is one who has mastered the art of making the difficult look easy.

The superiority of classical music over the popular kind is not a cultural pretension but an easily demonstrable experience—in that popular music quickly exhausts itself and must be replaced weekly or monthly, whereas one can listen to Mozart for a lifetime and still not exhaust its potentialities for giving pleasure. (It is quite exactly the difference, indeed, between infatuation and genuine love.)

People seem "ungrateful" only when we expect more gratitude than we have any right to: those who bother to keep careful scores of favors and recompenses are always sure to feel themselves on the short end.

Small children prefer adults who are cool, dry, off-hand, humorous and unpatronizing; yet most adults who approach them are warm, moist, intense, ponderous and condescending—and then wonder why the children are "shy" or "unresponsive" with them.

The man who prides himself on being "just" without considering whether he is also kind is deluding himself about his "justice"—for there is no possibility of giving others what is due to them if we are not willing to give them a little more than is their due, if necessary. Justice without kindness soon degenerates into an inhuman equation that contradicts its very intentions.

Of all the millions of words written on the state of marriage, the only sensible ones were penned by Samuel Butler, when he said: "Matrimony and bachelorhood are both of them at once equally wise and equally foolish."

It is the vanity of fearing that others might think one was not invited that prompts many persons to attend parties they might otherwise forego.

More people believe in religion than believe in God; they regard religion as a therapeutic process, and they hypostatize God as a kind of cosmic masseur.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

If you listen to Republican leaders, they want JFK to cut federal spending to the bone — and beat Castro to a pulp with the bone.

What really annoys New Frontiersmen about Adlai Stevenson, he isn't the kind of fellow it would be much fun to push into a swimming pool.

Republicans accuse the Kennedy team of "distorting the truth." You seldom catch Republicans getting close enough to the truth to do a thing like that.

Mound City Fights for Its Life

It is a little difficult for people at this distance to understand the bitter fight the people of Mound City, S.D., are making to retain the records of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service of Campbell County in that town. But the argument is bitter and has been going on for more than two years.

Up until recently the fight has been between the state officials of the ASCS and the county officials of the same organization. Now the federal government has stepped in but its representatives have been moving slowly since the Mound City people have threatened to bring about a "Mississippi" type of showdown if an effort is made to remove the records.

Two earlier attempts to move the records out of Mound City failed. The first time Mound City women sat down on the office desks so movers couldn't get at them. The second time a state ASCS committee sent a truck to Mound City in the morning before the office opened and loaded part of the records. However, before the job could be completed, someone blew the town fire whistle and the truck moved out. Since then the townspeople have sandbagged the front of the ASCS building to prevent anyone from getting in.

The people in Campbell County say the present fight is just an extension of the old battle between Mound City and Herreid, a slightly larger town about nine miles north of Mound City. Herreid, it is said, always coveted the courthouse at Mound City and recently has agreed that Mound City could keep its courthouse if Herreid got the ASCS office. The bitterness of the fight is indicated by the fact that the Mound City people have taken their children out of the Herreid high school and are now taking them about 12 miles farther north to a school at Pollock.

Many Mound City people now do their buying at Pollock instead of at Herreid and it is said that some relatives living in Mound City and Herreid no longer speak. One ample county land owner is reported to have run his son off a farm in the Pollock area because the son wanted to send his children to school in Herreid. Many Mound City people have taken their savings out of the bank in Herreid and deposited the money elsewhere.

It is nearly two years ago since the ASCS committee insisted upon more modern facilities at Mound City for its Campbell County office. The committee signed a lease to set up shop in a new office at Herreid. Mound City people chipped in money to erect a $30,000 office. The county committee then cancelled its Herreid contract but the state committee acquired the county committee. Farmers in Campbell County twice elected new county committees and thus the dispute started and each time the new county committee has favored Mound City which is the county seat.

It is apparent that the people of Mound City feel that they are fighting for their very existence. The location of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service there contributes to the wealth and well being of the city through the fact that it requires many farmers to visit that town. Their plight can be understood through the fact that although Mound City has both the ASCS office and the county courthouse it has only about 150 residents. Quite obviously if they lose this office they will lose a fair share of their business and consequently perhaps an important segment of their population.

It would take no less than a Solomon to settle this problem with justice and that may be why the U. S. Department of Agriculture is hesitating.

Looking Backward

Union Attack at Fredericksburg

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 27, 1862.

Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862. —The occupation of Fredericksburg (Va.) having been successfully accomplished, the next move was to drive the rebels from their strongholds in the rear of the city. The lines of the rebels, which extended in the form of a semi-circle from Port Royal to a point about six miles above Fredericksburg, were strongly fortified and protected by a range of hills.

Stonewall Jackson occupied the right wing, extending from Port Royal to Guinney's station, a station on the Richmond and Fredericksburg Railroad; Gen. Longstreet was in the centre, extending to the telegraph road, and Gens. Lee and Stuart were on the left, west of Massaponax Creek, while Gen. A. P. Hill's Corps acted as a reserve.

Lee's reason for occupying the left was because he could be on his gun against Sigel, who threatened to flank him. The entire rebel force was estimated at 200,000 men and occupied a front of not less than 20 miles. The troops were for the most part veterans who had fought through all the peninsular campaign, while the officers were the ablest that the South could produce. It was no mean enemy we had to contend with, I assure you.

The disposition of the Union forces occupied the whole of Friday night and Saturday morning, and, as Gen. Burnside was anxious to commence the attack at as early an hour as possible, there was not much chance for the troops to rest themselves.

Gen. Burnside was in the city all night, personally inspecting the troops and directing their movements. It was arranged that Gen. Franklin's Corps should cross the river two miles below the city with the view of turning the enemy's position on Massaponax Creek, while Hooker would engage the rebels near the center, and Sumner would turn their right. By this arrangement it will be seen that Franklin was opposed to Stonewall Jackson, while Hooker and Sumner attacked the rebels under Longstreet and Lee.

The eventful morning came and with it a dense fog, which obscured the movements of the enemy. The balloon was sent up just before daylight, but in consequence of the fog no observation could be had. However, the disposition of the forces had been made and Gen. Burnside determined to commence operations, fog or no fog.

Walter E. Sellnow, Neenah High School student, won first place in the Neenah Rotary Club essay contest conducted at the school. Ruth Leonard was awarded second place, Erwin Nault third and Charles Curtis fourth place. The students were guests of the club and they read their essays as part of the program.

People's Forum

Separation of Church, State Not Casual Slogan

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I have just finished reading the letter to the People's Forum by the Reverend Father Feeney of St. Therese Church, and firmly believe his views are biased, and not in the best interest of children everywhere.

I had twelve years of public school instruction, and two wonderful parents who gave their children a Christian education in the church and home. I ask now, can a person ask for any better start in life than this?

named president of the St. Elizabeth Hospital staff. He succeeded Dr. A. M. Bachhuber, Kaukauna, in the office. Other officers elected for the new year included Dr. A. E. Bachhuber, Kaukauna, vice president, and Dr. H. T. Gross, secretary and treasurer.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church Appleton, elected Mrs. Irvin Winterfeldt president, Mrs. Lester Schroeder vice president, Mrs. Evelyn Klarner treasurer and Mrs. Norman Pope secretary.

A. C. Niemeyer was chosen noble grand by members of Konomie Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

I would like to make it clear that I am not opposed to a parochial school of any denomination, if the parents feel they cannot or do not want to give their children a spiritual education in their home and the church of their choice. If they feel their children are getting something special, why ask other parents to help pay for it?

I fail to see the danger of a monopoly in education by the public school, but it certainly would be dangerous in a parochial school. I dread to think of the children of my church having to go to a school where the beliefs of any one religious group is stressed.

I have always been of the opinion that no child was ever denied the chance to get a public school education, so why the cry for public support of a private school? Along with public support, are they willing to accept public control?

I take exception to his saying "no union of church and state" is a casual slogan. I shall always vigorously defend the separation of the two, which I believe is my God-given right.

Sincerely,
Malcolm Larson

Elite Club Has Negro Member

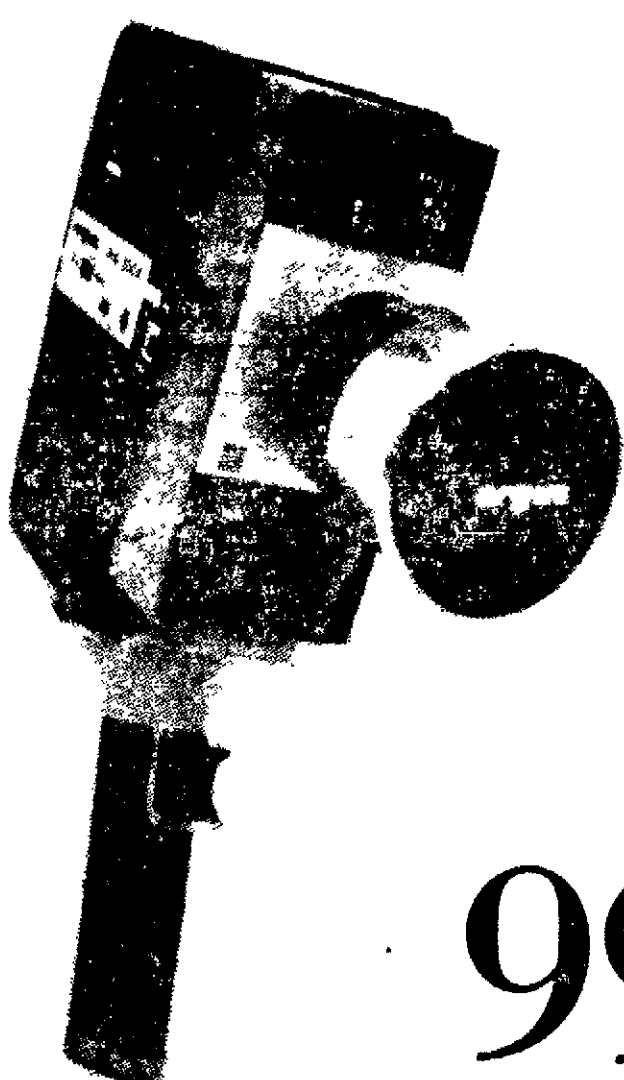

WASHINGTON (AP)—The elite Cosmos Club, whose rejection of a Negro for membership a year ago set off a stir that reached to the White House, has accepted its first Negro member.

Thursday, Dec 13, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A9

White House, has accepted its first Negro member. It brought an outcry of discrimination and several government officials resigned, including John Kennedy Galbraith, ambassador to India, who had proposed President Kennedy for membership. "Being a member or not a science," Galbraith announced. "And mine was best served by resigning."

Wednesday claiming Soviet policy had been victorious in Cuba. It is the "best judgment" of the U.S. government that Soviet nuclear missiles and jet bombers "have been removed from Cuba" but "these things are never 100 per cent" certain. The United States is still insisting on direct verification of the removal of the weapons and on safeguards against their re-introduction.

Khrushchev suggested in his Moscow speech that the conditions exist for clearing up the differences between the United States and the Soviet Union on Cuba. He emphasized that he expects the President to live up to his offer of a no-invasion pledge.

Not Analyzed

The President said he had not analyzed and did not wish to comment specifically on Khrushchev's statements.

As for Cuba, he said, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and his associate in the negotiations, John J. McCloy, had been discussing Cuban problems with Soviet representatives in New York for some weeks, covering such questions as weapons, inspection, aerial observation and invasion.

Lacking an inspection arrangement in Cuba, the United States, Kennedy made clear, will continue its reconnaissance flights over the island and use any other available means to make sure Soviet nuclear weapons do not show up there again. The Soviet Union has pulled out 42 big missiles and 42 jet bombers, stating that those were all of both categories of weapons in Cuba. Thousands of Soviet troops or other military personnel remain on the island.

With respect to shipping, the President said the United States has used its influence with some North Atlantic Treaty allies and with other countries "to discourage shipping" to Cuba. Some countries have responded, he said, and the United States is going ahead with its work on regulations.

U. S. Allies

Several U. S. allies, particularly Britain and Norway, registered strenuous objections to the proposed U. S. regulations when they were first advanced.

A report released by the Maritime Administration of the Commerce Department in early October showed that non-Communist ship operations in the Cuban trade were about double those of the Soviet bloc.

Husband Admits Triple Slaying

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A young husband confessed to police that he shot and killed his estranged wife and her parents in Arizona and then fled to California.

He left his year-old baby alive with the bodies.

"I was going to shoot myself in front of them," Raymond J. Hudgens, 22, recounted slowly after his capture here Wednesday. "Then I thought, 'Why not take them with me?'"

Hudgens unfolded the tale for detectives of how he fired at his wife Grace Mary, 20, and her parents, Myron Young, 67, and Dorothy Young, 55, until his pistol was empty.

"I shot bullets everywhere," he said.

The shooting occurred Monday at the Young home near Kingman, Ariz.

Kennedy Heaps Words Of Praise on Adlai and Kennedy made public a letter expressing his confidence in the U.N. ambassador.

Because Bartlett is an old and close friend of the President, rumors immediately shot through the capital that someone in the administration was "out to get Adlai." Fears were expressed that an attempt was being made to undermine him at the United Nations.

Kennedy said "I am surprised that anyone would possibly think that it would be in the interest of the country, or the administration, or the White House that any lessening of his influence would be provided."

The President assumed full responsibility for decisions of the National Security Council but declined to discuss positions taken by advisers in advance of his decision to wrap an arms blockade around Cuba.

'Mariner II' Near Meeting With Venus

They commanded Mariner to cease its electricity-consuming science experiments while they pondered the problem.

On Nov. 7, they decided to renew the experiments, since they seemed to be getting enough power from the remaining solar panel. Suddenly the short-solar panel began operating again, and technicians decided the short-circuit had corrected itself. The next day they turned the experiments on again.

On Nov. 15, a solar panel went out again. Mariner continues on one solar panel.

Toward the end of November, temperatures on the sunward face of the solar panels were up to 200 degrees Fahrenheit, with spacecraft temperatures 100 degrees on the shady side. By Friday, experts estimate temperatures on the solar panels will reach 250 degrees.

Earned Its Keep

In spite of all the troubles, Mariner has already earned its keep. It has measured the climate of space on its 162-million mile journey.

Instruments showed that there is a continual wind of sparse but fast-moving particles blowing from the sun. Most of the solar particles were traveling between 850,000 and 1,550,000 miles an hour.

A few particles were found to be traveling nearly three million miles an hour.

The solar wind a sort of thin gas by our earth-notation of things, is still dense enough and fast enough to push around the magnetic fields that exist between the planets.

Mariner's trip comes at a time when the sun's activity is low. There are times when the sun's activity rises and great solar hurricanes blow through space. Mariner found out something about this too.

It discovered that some of the magnetic fields in interplanetary space are so arranged that they will act as a fence to retard the solar hurricane winds.

This is all important to the men who will design the craft which one day will carry men between planets.

East Germany if the Western powers refused to come to an agreement.

"But we will not count the pages of the calendar," he said.

Repeats Proposal

Gromyko repeated the proposal by Khrushchev Wednesday to replace the Western Allies' troops in West Berlin with the flag of the United Nations.

He said that after a treaty is signed and the Allied troops are out of West Berlin, the Soviet Union would give guarantees for the city's independence.

Gromyko said Soviet guarantees of West Berlin's independence would be just as dependable as those of the NATO powers.

He underscored Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence theme and repeatedly called for negotiated agreements with the United States.

Without mutual understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union, it would be impossible to settle a single international conflict, Gromyko said.

"Either we must decide controversial questions at the conference table or slide into war—there is no other way out for the Soviet Union or the United States", he declared.

Despite their "ideological differences," Gromyko continued, "the Soviet government does not see any unsurmountable obstacles in the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

"If there is agreement between Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy, there will be a solution of international problems on which the fate of mankind depends."

"The Soviet Union would welcome such agreements."

by Hearst's King Features Syndicate since 1944.

Funeral services for Sokolsky were incomplete.

The columnist was chairman of the board of the American Jewish League Against Communism, and he received numerous awards from such organizations as the American Legion, the Catholic War Veterans and the Freedoms Foundation.

Sokolsky held honorary degrees from Notre Dame University, St. Bonaventure University and the University of Montana School of Mines.

In addition to writing his daily column, he was a director of the Lionel Corp. and of the Tower Universal Corp., an investment firm.

A staunch conservative, Sokolsky nevertheless defended President Kennedy during recent months against attacks from the business world and went so far as to champion the president against the criticism of his fellow Hearst columnist, Walter Winchell.

Sokolsky was born Sept. 5, 1893 in Utica, N. Y., the son of a rabbi. He came to New York City as a boy and was stumping for the Republican Party against Tammany Hall while still in his childhood.

Years later, as a successful columnist, he had a home in Oits, Mass., where he and his second wife, the former Dorothy Fiske, and their two children, George Jr. and Dorothy, spent their summers.

Son in California

George Jr., now 25, is an Air Force first lieutenant in Taranto, Italy. His first son, Eric, 35, lives in Hollywood, Calif.

A conscientious reporter, Sokolsky once said of the profession that he both loved and respected. "The job of a newspaperman is to be a reporter or an editor, is to be a gentleman. His job is to get the facts, to write them and to print them."

There is, of course, the possibility that Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara may reconsider what seems to be the present intention to drop the Skybolt missile instead.

The Hound Dog, now carried by U.S. B52 bombers, has less than the designed range of the Skybolt.

Informants in Britain make the B52 strategic bomber fleet which can be revamped to use the missiles could require a production of about 1,000 missiles.

Talks Set on Fate Of Skybolt Missile

bag. There is talk of a complete reappraisal of British defense commitments to the United States including use of bases in the United Kingdom.

Polaris Bases

The bases include the Holy Loch, Scotland, anchorage for Polaris submarines, a tender ship and a drydock, as well as full or partial use by the U.S. Air Force of 28 facilities in Britain, among them about a dozen air fields.

Kennedy's reference to a "half billion dollars" already put into the Skybolt program may have referred only to actual expenditures to this date. The total amount spent or authorized for nuclear strategy hinged on using the U.S. Skybolt on its own Vulcans.

The missiles are expensive, even by today's high cost for weapons.

Some estimates are that each missile, with its nuclear warhead, may cost from $175 million to $2 million.

To equip even that portion of the B52 strategic bomber fleet the missiles could require a production of about 1,000 missiles.

TV and Radio Business News Inadequate in New York City

Noted Writer Reports on Impact Of Newspapers Being on Strike

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In the early hours of last Saturday morning, the seven metropolitan newspapers of New York City were struck and shut down.

Porter

As a reporter, I therefore spent many hours Saturday and Sunday listening to radio and watching TV news broadcasts. While the difference between the way these mediums and newspapers report news often has been emphasized, I have never heard the contract explained from the viewpoint of a reporter and reader of business news. In this sphere, the gaps in TV and radio coverage are almost as complete as in the spheres of obituaries, marriages (classified) and store ads — ordinarily mentioned as among the "most missed items" when newspapers disappear.

TV and radio do try to broadcast the highlights in the financial-economics field but they pick out only the most obvious and simplest highlights. Frequently these are not nearly as important as the less obvious items.

These mediums do attempt now and then to tell what a business story means and why it means what it means. But their broadcasters are brutally limited by time deadlines, by fear that his teners might not be interested, by eagerness to devote their few minutes to stories of "mass appeal," by their own knowledge. A general news reporter simply cannot explain a complicated financial event on the air in a minute or two.

TV and radio do bring spot news to us on the spot, but as every one knows you have to be where a TV or radio set is turned on at the time of broadcast or you've missed it. At three different times Sunday, I had the frustrating experience of missing a report I particularly wanted to hear because I couldn't stay stuck to a TV or radio set.

To confirm my reactions on this, I phoned several New York City editors Sunday. Asked what would have appeared in their financial sections had the papers been printed, my conversation with one financial editor dramatized my point.

"We had scheduled a half-dozen stories on what's behind the recent stock market rise," he said. "We had good stuff on the activities of mutual funds, banks which invest pension funds, market professionals and technicians."

Note: The stories would have told you that financial institutions have stepped up their buying of stocks and the cumulative impact could be substantial. However, the

Whitewater Students Protest Plans to Hike Housing Rents

WHITWATER (AP) — Some 1,500 students protesting plans to increase the rents next semester in 10 co-operative houses on the Whitewater State College campus, marched on the home of the institution's president Wednesday night.

Walker Wyman, the president, met the students on the lawn. Wyman said the college had no control over the rents charged for the buildings, owned by private firms in Milwaukee. He said, however, that because of the increases the college may seek additional federal assistance to build more dormitories.

The rents of some 500 students living in the 10 houses would be increased from $180 to $224 per person. Also discussed have been rent boosts for seven other co-operative houses owned by various fraternities and sororities. These increases could not be made until next fall because of one-year contracts.

almost perpendicular rise in stock prices since October is making many pros cautious again. Corporation earnings aren't climbing fast enough now to support another wild market upsurge.

"We had an excellent interpretative story on the factors behind the increasing deficit in the U. S. balance of payments."

Note: The deficit in our balance of payments is growing once more because we still are spending far more abroad than we are earning abroad. As a result, foreigners are building their claims against us to enormous totals, our gold reserve is shrinking. To protect the U. S. dollar, the bankers of the free world are cooperating on an unprecedented scale, adopting never-before-tried techniques.

Can you imagine a TV or radio broadcaster explaining this tale in a minute or two? Fat chance!

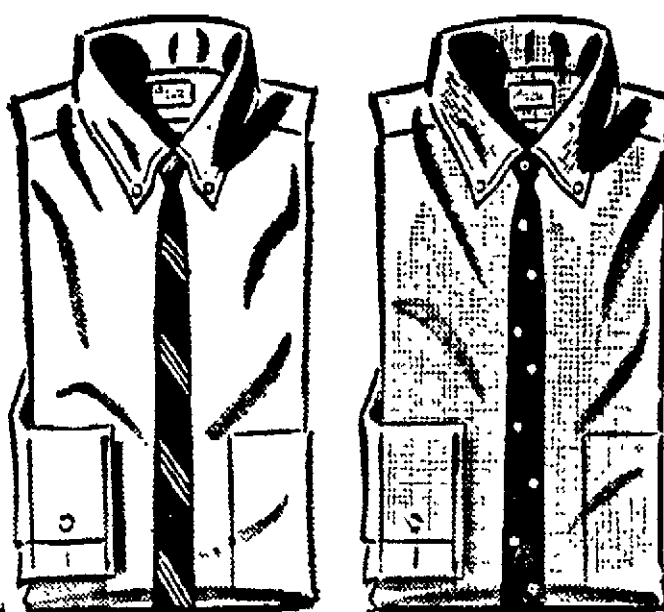

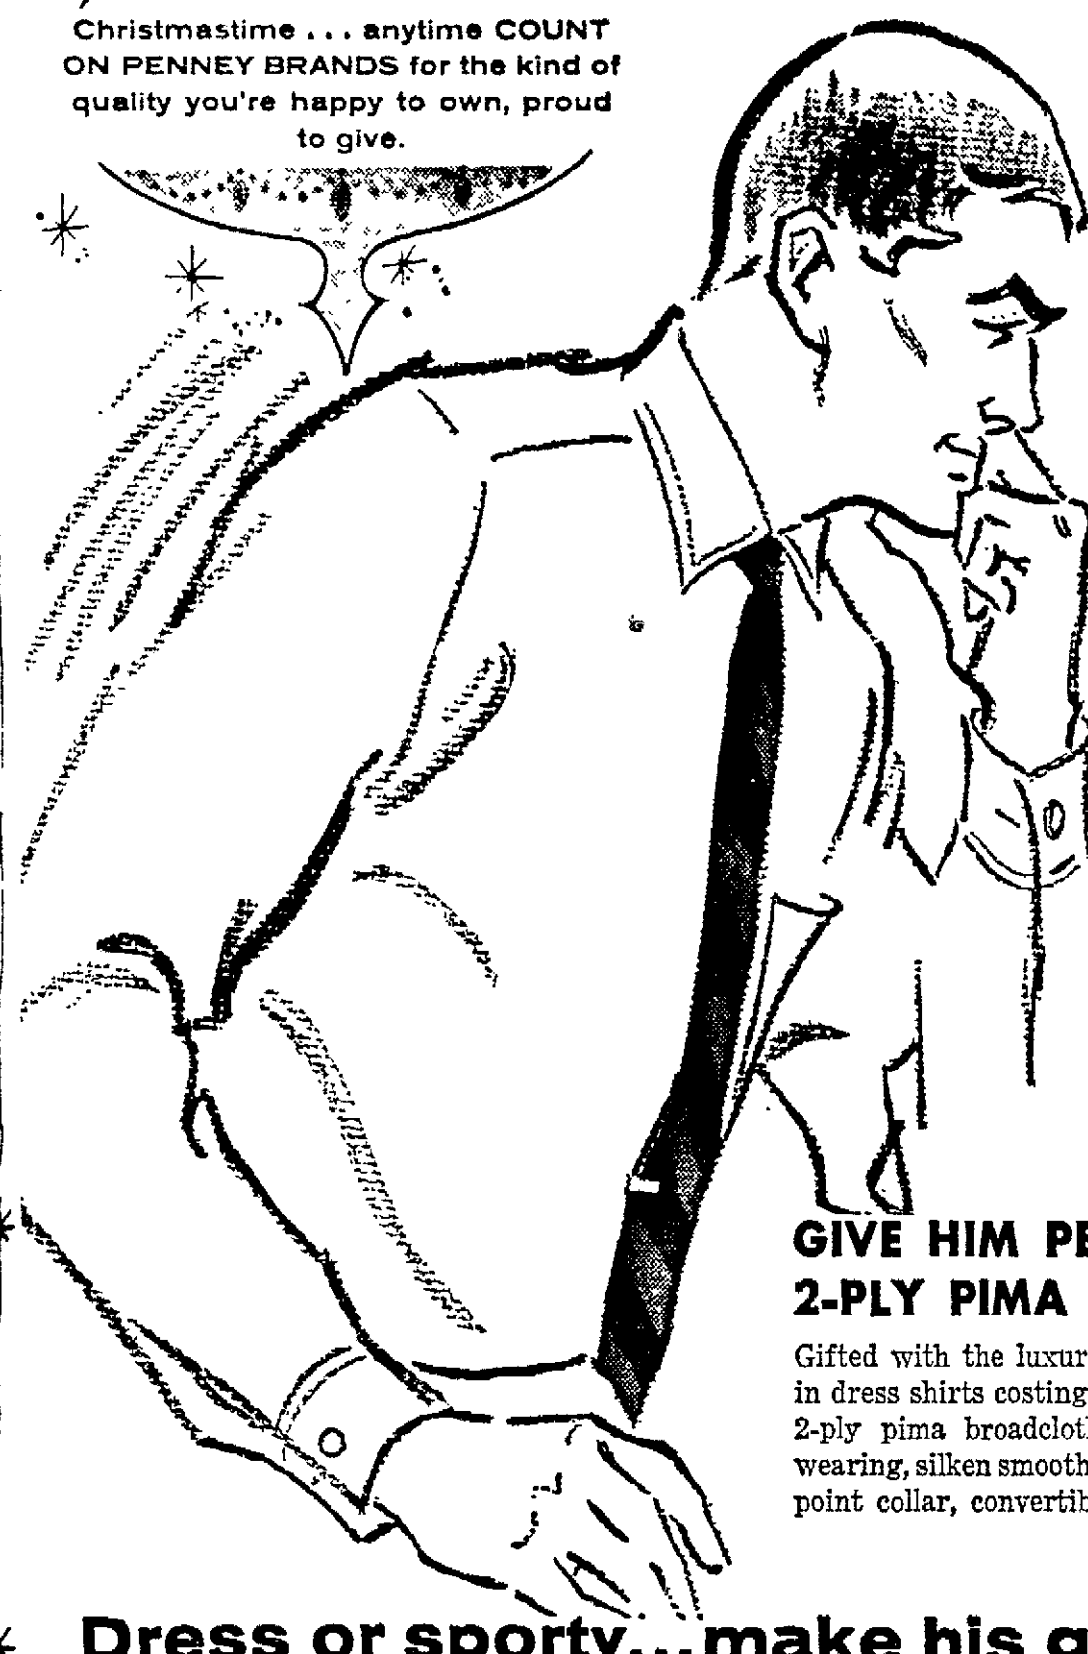

"We had our usual review of the past week and it included several events of major significance. Of course we had all the stock and bond quotations of the week, high price, low and close."

Note: Several developments certainly were significant. For instance, our unemployment rate went up to 5.8 per cent, another warning that our economy's growth is not fast enough to slash our jobless rate. At the Internal Revenue Service's hearings on the new expense account rules, the I.R.S. indicated it would back-track on some of the toughest rules because of our barrage of protests. Britain's struggle to get into the European Common Market on mutually acceptable terms reached a new stage, an event of fundamental importance to the entire free world. These are just a few samples.

Legion Post Thanked for Hospital Aid

State Department Commander Talks to Unit at Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Appreciation of the hospitalized work done by Legion Posts and auxiliary units for veterans hospitals at Wood and Tomah was related to the Little Chute Legion post by Donald Skelly, Wisconsin Department commander Monday night.

He told of Legion programs aims and objectives and asked the cooperation of the local post in making his tenure in office successful.

Members voted to set up a year round fishing contest with $90 appropriated for prizes. Clarence Van Handel will head a committee to work out details for the contest. Prizes were awarded for the first post sponsored deer hunting contest. Winners were Mervin Debus, Richard Kilsdonk and Richard Wippich.

Plans also were announced for a home decorating contest in the village. Three prizes will be awarded for homes judged having the best holiday decorations. The judging will be handled by the police department.

Sponsor Yule Party

The unit will sponsor its annual Christmas party for youngsters of the village at 1 p.m. Dec. 22 at St. John Grade School gym. More than 1,100 bags of treats have been prepared for distribution by Santa Claus. A $5 donation to Boys Town was approved. The post decided to purchase a flag which has been loaned over the nation's capitol for use in the village hall.

Son Suffering From Nostalgia, Says Corps Doctor, Mother Upset

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, says a Marine Corps physician wrote that there was nothing wrong with her boy except "an acute attack of nostalgia."

Young said, "The indignant mother wrote her senator that her boy never had trouble with 'nostalgia' until he enlisted in the Marine Corps, and she wishes her senator to see the Secretary of Defense immediately and do something about it."

Webster says nostalgia means homesickness—and Young wishes Marine Corps doctors would say so, too.

Festive Breads for Christmas Morning

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

On Christmas Day in the morning, most families serve a holiday bread . . . something special that's rich with fruits or nuts and thoroughly delicious and beautiful. Christmas breads are part of the marvelous aroma of Christmas that conjures up the scent of fresh evergreens . . . the spiciness of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg . . . the savory smell of roasting meat with dressing . . . the freshness of bayberry candles.

Christmas bread baking adds its unique magic to this holiday potpourri. Yeast breads waft a superb "nose wrinkling" aroma throughout the entire house, filling it with special warmth and delightful anticipation of Christmas Day itself.

There are all sorts of holiday breads . . . many old and treasured recipes that stem from foreign lands. There are small rolls filled with raisins . . . long ovals of kuchen rich with red cherries and topped with frosting . . . and the more traditional loaves made delectable with chopped black walnuts and chopped maraschino cherries.

The recipes today feature a variety of Christmas breads, chosen to suit the fancy and tastes of every sort of holiday morning dinner at breakfast or late brunch.

Cherry Christmas Bread
1 can (No. 303) tart red cherries
½ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash salt
½ cup raisins
1 tablespoon butter
1-3 cup chopped walnuts

1 pkg. hot roll mix
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar
Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine brown sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and salt. Add drained cherries and raisins. Cook and stir until thick. Add butter, then cool mixture. Add chopped nuts after mixture has cooled.

Soften yeast in three-fourths cup warm water as directed on hot roll mix package. Stir half of roll mix into yeast mixture. Beat in egg, butter and sugar. Stir in remaining roll mix. On lightly floured board, knead dough for two to three minutes. Place in lightly greased bowl, turn dough so greased side is up. Cover and let rise in warm place away from drafts until dough doubles in bulk. This takes about one hour.

Divide dough into two equal parts. Roll each half into 11 by 9-inch rectangle. Place rectangles on cookie sheets. Spread cooled cherry filling down center of each rectangle of dough, spreading lengthwise. With scissors, cut one-inch wide slash strips at sides of dough, cutting toward center and filling. Lace strips over filling to make top of bread. Seal ends carefully. Cover and let rise in Black Walnut Bread Is high and fluffy-light, rich with chopped maraschino cherries and flavorful black walnuts. The nuts are the distinctive ingredient, making the bread a special loaf for Yuletide.

Christmas Sparklers

If you're looking for between-meal pick-ups or an easy party dessert low in calories during the holidays, these recipes are for you.

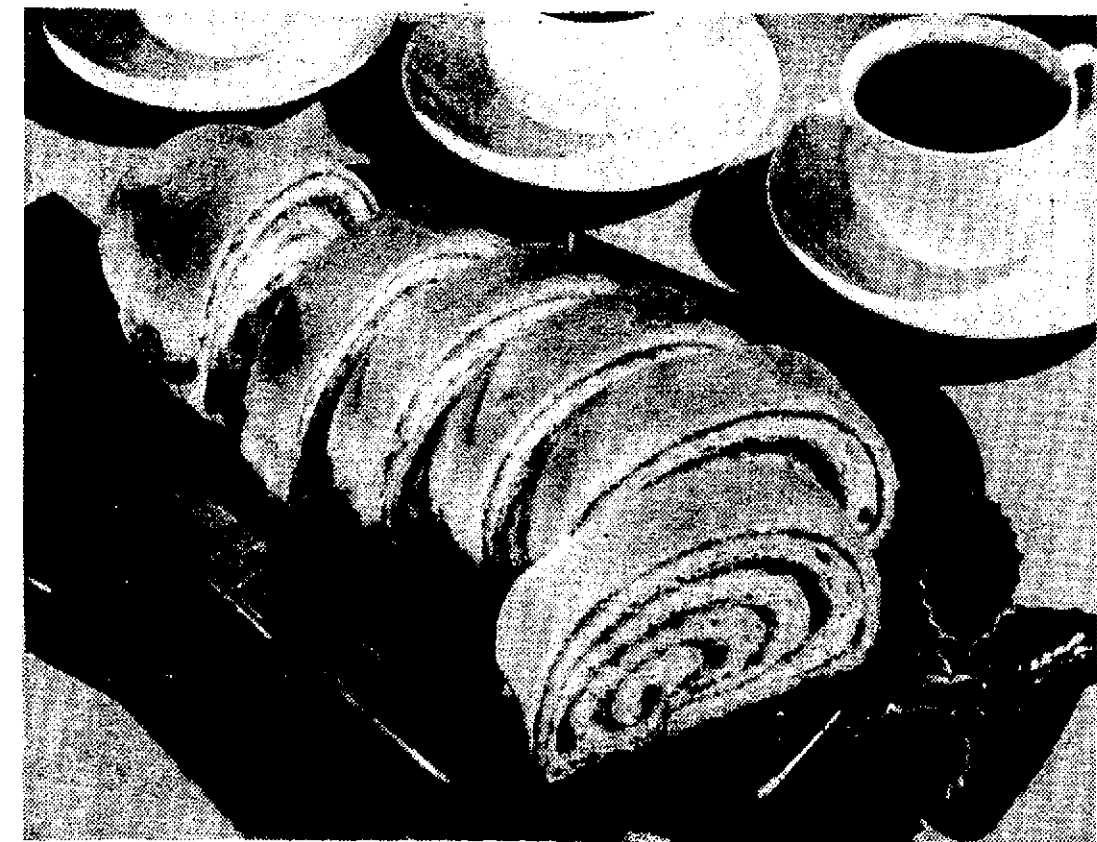

Butterscotch Ice Cream Pie
1 pint softened vanilla ice cream
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk
½ cup ice water
1 pkg. instant butterscotch pudding mix
1 crumb pie shell (8-inch)
Mix together first four ingredients; beat until well blended. Turn into eight-inch crumb pie shell. Freeze four hours or until firm. If pie becomes too firm, let stand 15 minutes at room temperature before serving. This is a low-calorie recipe that is delicious.

Vanilla Maple Malted
1 quart reliquified instant nonfat dry milk
6 tablespoons malted milk powder
2 tablespoons maple extract
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Combine all ingredients. Blend or shake vigorously until mixture is smooth. Recipe makes six servings. This drink makes an excellent pick-up between meals, especially for youngsters home for the holidays. It's also a good night-cup and a mealtime beverage that coaxes young fry into drinking their milk.

Groom Plants

Groom your green plants for the holidays. Wipe dust gently from the leaves with a damp cloth. Snip off any yellowing or drying leaves. If philodendron cordatum vines are too spindly, pinch off the ends of the vines.

This Cheery Cherry Christmas Bread makes a wonderful treat for holiday breakfasts or coffee klatches. The spicy filling of raisins and tart, red cherries and the dough is laced over the filling to make a pretty bread.

A Special Bread From Yugoslavia is Poteca . . . pronounced po-tee'-sa . . . which features spirals of rich, sweet filling of ground walnuts. This traditional holiday bread, baked by the Slavs in the south of Yugoslavia, is featured at all special occasions from Christmas to weddings in that country.

Use Care In Painting Windows

Christmas decorations can add a lot to the color and spirit of the holiday season, but they can also be the cause of needless expense when used unwisely.

Homeowners are continually being cautioned around this time of year to use common sense in decorating their homes to avoid serious fires. Yet, there are many other costly things that can take place because of the improper use of Christmas decorations which go unheeded.

For example, although it's fun to greet guests and passers-by with cheery cut-outs and paintings on the windows, they can cause cracked glass, especially if you exercise your artistic abilities on

Cards Set Record

Santa won't be the only one totting a well stuffed Christmas pack this year. Our postmen will deliver a whopping record 1½ billion cards this Christmas, estimates the Catholic Digest. This averages about 75 cards per American family, says the magazine.

the inviting expanse of a big picture window.

Those colorful decorations cause a build-up of heat from the sun at the area they cover. This area in time gets considerably warmer than the uncovered glass surrounding it and expands, thus causing an additional stress which could cause glass breakage.

To avoid trouble, keep any window decorations back from the glass to allow free air circulation, rather than pasting or painting them right to the glass. Lighter colors are safer, too, as they reflect the heat rather than absorb and concentrate it in one place.

warm place until almost double in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Bake in 375-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Frost with confectioners sugar icing. Recipe makes two loaves.

Black Walnut Bread
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 3 cups sifted flour
 4 teaspoons baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup drained, chopped maraschino cherries
 1 cup chopped black walnuts
 1/4 cup flour
 1/4 cup milk
 Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Dredge cherries and nuts in one-fourth cup flour. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately to the creamed mixture. Stir in cherries and nuts. Turn into a greased loaf pan; bake in 350-degree oven about one hour. Recipe makes one loaf.

Potica
 2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry
 1/4 cup water
 1 cup milk
 1/4 cup shortening
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 teaspoons salt
 5 cups sifted flour (about)
 2 eggs
 Walnut Filling
 Melted butter or margarine
 Soften yeast in water (lukewarm) and add warm water for compressed yeast.

Heat milk and shortening until shortening is melted. Be careful not to boil. Measure sugar and salt into large bowl; add hot milk mixture and stir until dissolved. Cool to lukewarm.

Add about one and one-half cups flour; beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs; beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and satiny, about five to eight minutes. Shape into ball and place in greased bowl. Grease surface of dough lightly. Cover and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk, about one hour and 15 minutes. Punch dough down. Let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into thirds. Roll out each portion into rectangle about 10 by 20 inches. The dough will be very thin. Spread with walnut filling. Roll up like a jelly roll, starting with narrow edge and sealing edges to underside.

Place on greased baking sheets and brush tops lightly with melted butter. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake in 375-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until golden brown. Brush again while warm with melted butter. Recipe makes three coffee cakes.

Walnut Filling
 2 cups ground walnuts
 1/4 cup milk
 1/4 cup honey
 1/3 cup sugar
 Mix ingredients together in large heavy saucepan. Bring to boil and cook about five minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and cool. Spread on dough when thoroughly cool.

Potica Raisin Rolls
 2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry
 1/4 cup very warm water
 1 cup boiling hot milk.
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 2 eggs, beaten
 1/2 cup soft shortening (half butter)
 4 1/4 cups sifted flour (about)
 Raisin Orange Filling
 Melted butter and sugar for top

Sprinkle or crumble yeast over very warm water. Combine hot milk, sugar and salt. When cooled to lukewarm, stir in beaten eggs, shortening and half the flour; beat smooth. Add yeast mixture and enough flour to make moderately stiff dough.

Turn dough out onto floured board; knead gently a few minutes to round up and smooth out dough. Return to bowl; cover and let stand in a warm place until double in bulk, about one to one and one-half hours. Punch down and turn out again onto floured board.

Divide into quarters. Roll each quarter to a rectangle about six by 14 inches. Spread Raisin Orange Filling over dough to within half-inch of long side. Roll up like jelly roll, starting from long side; pinch lengthwise seam together to seal.

Cut rolls into slices about three-fourths inch thick. Place each slice in tiny greased muffin pans or place slices barely touching each other in greased shallow pans. Cover with dampened cloth and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 20 to 30 minutes.

Brush with melted butter and sprinkle tops with sugar. Bake in 400-degree oven about 15 minutes or until a rich golden brown. Serve hot. Recipe makes about six dozen tiny rolls.

Note: The dough may be punched down after the first rising, covered closely, then refrigerated overnight if desired. Let dough stand at room temperature 30 to 40 minutes before rolling out after refrigeration.

Raisin Orange Filling
 1 cup dark or golden raisins
 1 cup orange juice
 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 Stir all ingredients together, blending well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and becomes clear. Remove from heat and cool before using.

Chocolate and Vanilla Doughs are swirled together to form these festive pinwheels. For variation, leftover ends of the dough can be made into decorative marble cookies.

Whirl Cookies Make Festive Holiday Treats

Whirl cookies, more easily prepared than they look with their attractive light and dark swirl design, make an excellent holiday treat.

Half the dough is blended with melted chocolate and the other half is left plain. When both doughs are rolled together, jelly roll fashion, they make a pretty pinwheel effect.

Here's the recipe which comes from the home economics department of a milling firm that makes presifted flour.

Whirl Cookies
 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 cup other shortening
 1 egg
 1 tablespoon vanilla
 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons warm water
 Melt chocolate over boiling water. Set aside until ready to use.

Cream sugar, butter, shortening, egg and vanilla thoroughly. Spoon flour into dry measuring cup if presifted; level off and pour measured flour onto square of waxed paper. Add baking powder and salt to flour and stir to blend. Add these dry ingredients to creamed mixture; blend well. Sprinkle warm water over combined ingredients; stir to blend.

Divide dough into two equal parts. Add melted chocolate to one portion, mixing well. Roll out both portions of dough between sheets of waxed paper into two four by six-inch rectangles.

Remove top sheets of waxed paper and place chocolate dough on top of light dough. Then, covering top with waxed paper again, roll dough out with rolling pin to a rectangle about one-fourth inch thick. Take top paper off and, leaving bottom sheet of paper on board, roll combined doughs up lengthwise as with a jelly roll. Chill rolled dough until firm, between one and a half and two hours.

Slice with a sharp knife into one-eighth-inch slices. Place slices on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated, 400-degree oven for eight to 10 minutes. Recipe makes between eight and nine dozen cookies.

The ends of each roll may be cut off if imperfect swirls are formed. They may be rolled out together to form a marbled effect. Refrigerate marbled dough. Slice and bake as for Whirl cookies.

Upside Down Play Counts Up

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Certain hands are difficult because you have to play them upside down.

When this hand came along in the recent regional tournament in Springfield, Ill., most players lost a diamond and two trump tricks, scoring only 620 points for the game in spades. The upside down play brought in an extra trick, worth its weight in blood to a tournament player.

At one table, Art Seltzer, young St. Louis expert, produced the right line of play and earned a top score. See if you can find the way to limit West to a single trump trick.

To get you started, here are the first two tricks. West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with a diamond to dummy's king.

Saw No Danger

Seltzer couldn't see the East-West hands so didn't know that the trumps were stacked. Still, he saw no harm in guarding against a horrible trump break.

After winning the second trick in dummy with the king of diamonds Seltzer made the key play. He led a low club from dummy and ruffed it.

This is just what you're told not to do when you begin to play bridge. Don't weaken your trump suit by ruffing unnecessarily. In the exceptional hand, however, liberately to guard against a bad ment.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold S A 2 H Q J 6 2 D K 5 C Q 10 8 6 3. What do you say?

Answer. Pass or bid one club. This is a borderline decision. You have 12 points in high cards and of diamonds, hoping to steal the trick.

West ruffed, and dummy over-ruffed. Seltzer ruffed a third club and cashed the ace of hearts. This reduced West to three trumps.

When Seltzer led the queen of diamonds, West was forced to ruff and lead trumps to declare's EMBARRASS — The Embarrass PTA will sponsor a bake sale at Heuer's Furniture Store, 38 S. St. Clintonville, beginning unless he ruffs three clubs, and Main St. Clintonville, beginning for this purpose he must start to at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Frenchman Loves His Onion Soup

BY MALCOLM R. HEBERT
Chicago Daily News Service

No matter where you go in France, the large cities with famous restaurants or the small countryside towns with pleasant inns, onion soup will probably be on the menu.

Hebert

The Frenchman loves his onion soup. He eats it in the morning, afternoon, late dinner, anytime and anywhere it is available. It is part and parcel of his way of life.

In America, onion soup takes on a special flavor.

Some versions have beans, leeks, potatoes, nutmeg, generous amounts of grated cheese, and, yes, some even have onions.

One of the basic ingredients of good French Onion Soup is beef stock. This is an eight-hour cooking chore and, unless your kitchen is equipped for this type of thing, you are better off using good beef bouillon right out of the can. As for the onions in the soup, you can use the big white Bermudas or the small lumpy red Italian onions found in the specialty shops. Either onion make a hearty soup.

French Onion Soup

3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon cooking oil
3 cups thinly sliced onions
3 cans (No. 10) beef bouillon
3 cans (No. 10) water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
6 medium slices French bread.
Heat butter and oil in saucepan. Add sliced onions and saute for 15 minutes. Transfer to three-quart pot. Add bouillon, water, salt and sugar. Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer for 40 minutes. Ten minutes before soup is ready, place French bread under broiler and toast on both sides. Ladle soup into soup bowl, place French bread slices on top. Recipe makes six servings.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

THOUGHTLESS GUEST

Dear Louise: Some friends recently had a little dinner party of five couples. While sipping demitasse in the living room after dinner, one of the guests said (so that we all heard it), "Bill and I have been talking about giving a party too." Turning to her hostess, she said, "It will be a week from Saturday. Will you and Jack join us?" A couple of days later, she phoned me and the other two wives and invited us all too. We accepted, but I am a bit irked at the way she did it. Don't you think she was rude?

Louise Davis Answers: Yes, Bill's wife shouldn't have singled out any one person with her audible invitation without including the other three couples at the same time. When the invitation did come later, it might have smacked of an afterthought. Bill's wife realized too late what she had done.

ADDRESSING CARDS

Dear Louise: When a wife is a physician and her husband isn't, do I address their Christmas card as Mr. and Dr.? And how do I address a card to a Catholic priest?

Louise Davis Answers: Your Christmas card to the physician and her husband is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith. The wife plays two roles and is two people with two names. Professionally she is Dr. Anna Brown Smith. Socially and in relation to her husband, she is Mrs. The card to the priest would be addressed to the Rev. Joseph Brown or The Rev. Fr. (for Father) Joseph Brown.

Let Us Know

Do you have special Christmas plans? If you're expecting guests, planning a neighborhood ceremony, a family reunion, a club party, a visit from Santa Claus or any festive event during the holiday season, please inform the Post-Crescent of your schedule. Holiday affairs will be announced in a Dec. 23 calendar. Information should be addressed to Women's Editor, Appleton Post-Crescent, and should be received before Dec. 18.

The Ailing House

Replacing Linoleum

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We are planning to replace our kitchen inlaid linoleum with tile linoleum. We get conflicting opinions about removing the present linoleum first or to put the tiles over the present linoleum. The present linoleum is still holding on very tightly all over. The floor is squeaking and we plan on nailing the floor before we do any tile applying. What do you advise?

A: If the present linoleum is smooth and adhering tightly all over, tile can usually be put directly on top. The floor surface must be absolutely clean and free of any trace of wax, grease, grime, etc., before installing the tile. Detained installation instructions are usually available at the tile dealer, or from the tile manufacturer; follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

You are correct in nailing loose boards (which cause the squeaking) down before doing any tiling. Use longer finishing nails for tighter grip; the spiral or ring-type nail has excellent holding power.

Pine Paneling

Q: I plan to put knotty pine paneling on our dining room walls during the Christmas vacation. Is there any special treatment necessary to insure the panels' proper fit after installing?

A: It's a good idea to have the lumber delivered at least a week before you plan to do the work, if possible. Have it stacked horizontally in the dining room, with sticks between the layers of boards to allow air circulation between boards. This gives the wood time to adjust to the climatic conditions of the room before being installed in place. Protect the panels from dust, fingerprints, etc., which are often hard to remove.

Q: Is there a paint or some other similar product that can be used on the inside of stationary laundry tubs? We have been unable to find anything that we can use to give the interior of our laundry tubs a neat appearance and which will hold up with the constant use of water.

A: There is an epoxy tub and tile finish that is new on the market. It is available at some large paint and housewares dealers in a variety of colors. It is brushed or sprayed on and is soap and detergent-resistant.

Your Problems

Philandering Gentlemen Don't Necessarily Prefer Blondes

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You usually give good advice but I am annoyed at something you keep saying in your column. I decided if I saw it again I would write to you. Well, I saw it again—yesterday so I am writing. It was that letter about the husband who always leaned on the walls and made grease spots all over the house. You said, "Be thankful he's at home, and not out leaning on some blonde."

Why must it always be a blonde? Who ever invented the idea that blondes are sexier, or racier, or bigger trouble-makers than other women?

I had a perfectly grand marriage, or at least I thought I did until two years ago when I caught my husband in his own office, behind the file cabinet, with a stenographer. And her hair was jet black. Like yours, kiddo. — For The Record

Dear For The Record: Touché! And now if we can somehow dispose of the idea that Gentlemen Prefer Blondes you girls with the flaxen tresses would be less vulnerable to the verbal harpoons.

DEAR ANN: Can it be that some people are incapable of falling madly in love? Believe me, I've tried, but somehow I can't seem to make the grade.

I am a bachelor, 31, well situated in business and want very much to have a home and family. Whenever I meet a girl I think I can fall in love with, I start picking her to pieces, and the romance falls apart.

I've made up my mind I'm going to marry before my next birthday. The girl I have my eye on is sensible, intelligent, loves children and will make a good wife and mother. I've told her I am not goofy in love, and she says, it's all right with her because she is goofy in love enough for both of us.

Could this be a good marriage? Am I being fair to her? Please answer in the paper, omitting initials, city, etc. If my friends knew I wrote this letter I'd take the gas-pipe. — Mr. Anonymous

Dear Mr.: Lasting love must be developed — one day at a time. The fact that a sensible girl appeals to you proves you have some sense yourself.

Since you've been honest with the girl about your feelings and she is eager to marry you, I say go ahead. The qualities you seem to be looking for indicate a good level of maturity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When "From Missouri" wrote and said psychiatry was a lot of bunk, and challenged you to show her one person who had been helped by it, I was pleased to see you take a strong hand.

If you should need another letter supporting your position, here it is: I underwent psycho-therapeutic treatment two years ago and have been standing on my own two feet for over a year.

'Night Before Christmas' Sets Mood for Stardusters Dance

"Twas the Night Before Christmas" was the theme of the Stardusters annual Christmas dance Saturday evening at the American Legion Hall.

Pre-dance parties were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Kurath. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Reinke and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heykes.

Officers for 1963 were introduced. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Demis will serve as presidents. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bahr, vice-presidents. Mr. and Mrs. Heykes, secretaries, and Mr. and Mrs. John Dietz, treasurers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meloy, Mr. and Mrs. George Washechek and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Anderson will serve on the board.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bauknecht were co-chairmen, assisted by Messrs. and Mmes. Kenneth Lang, Jack Young, Louis Schulze, Ted Schuh and Allan Bleser.

Children's Party

The children's Christmas party can be as merry and gay as it is practical. Start with brightly toned, unbreakable melamine plates and cups, and repeat the seasonal colors in amusing window shade decorations. Christmas stockings, jolly Santas, or grinning, top-hatted snowmen can be cut from felt, cloth, even paper, and pasted to plain cloth window shades as a decorative border. A new adhesive makes child's play of this do-it-yourself affair and assures a lasting bond. If you wish, the stockings or snowmen can be personalized by writing in names with permanent colored inks.

"Stockings Were Hung by the chimney with care" . . . to spell out the theme of the Stardusters Christmas dance Saturday evening. Brightly wrapped packages, candy canes and toys decorated the tables. Above, Mrs. Harold P. Krueger, Allen Bleser, Mr. Krueger and Mrs. Bleser gathered in front of the fireplace between dance sets. (Post-Crescent Photos)

"Twas the Night Before Christmas" . . . and all through the hall, Stardusters dancers were enjoying the ball. At left, Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schulze, Mrs. T. J. Schuh and Mr. Schuh shared in the conversation Saturday evening at the American Legion Hall. Below, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bauknecht, chairmen, admire the decorated tree and toys that illustrated the theme of the dance. The event was the Stardusters annual Christmas dance.

Deck the Halls

With a little ingenuity, it is possible to fashion extra warm and witty Christmas decorations. And they are all the more prized by your family and guests for the bit of yourself that's in them. As a springboard for your own ideas, these suggestions.

For a welcoming note in the entrance hall, spray branches of balsam with gilt; arrange in a milk-white vase and trim with white bells, lightly-flecked in gold sparkles.

To adorn the living room coffee table, encircle the base of two squat green candles in small, lacy wreaths of silver-dusted lemon leaves. The wreaths are easily made by wiring fronds of the leaves together and dipping in metallic dust.

Flanked with candles and festooned with holly, a pyramid of shimmering tree balls makes a gala centerpiece for the dining room table. The arrangement is tape built on a round tray or compote.

As a final touch, bedeck your velvet or traditional tree-trim house plants. Wrap the pots in gleaming foil and intersperse miniature ornaments among the en, often neglected and yet so leaves. If the trimmed plants can worthy of a holiday touch. The job be displayed together—on a wide for instance—the effect is especially festive.

Beauty of Housework

If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, Beauty of Housework. It explains how to keep home and spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of your newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ladies Aid Has Christmas Fete

BRILLION—The annual Christmas party of the Lutheran Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church was Thursday at the church.

The Rev. Arden Stuebs continued his explanation of the 10 Commandments.

The Ladies Aid has decided to buy lights and ornaments for a Christmas tree for the church parlor in addition to the one in the sanctuary. Mrs. Delbert Lau and Mrs. Rudy Bessert are in charge.

Mrs. Arno Scharf and Mrs. Edgar Mueller were appointed to audit the treasurer's books. Mrs. Clarence Haase and Mrs. Robert Steinbach will act on the nominating committee. The group will elect a new president in January.

In charge of the program was Mrs. Wilburn Biedenbender. She was assisted by Mrs. John Draheim, Mrs. Henry Bleichweil, Mrs. Richard Bucholtz, Mrs. Alfred Engel, Mrs. Theodore Eichhorst and Mrs. Isadore Endries.

A reading, "The Road to Bethlehem," was presented by Mrs. Bucholtz. Names for secret friends for next year were drawn.

Yule Spirit Fostered By Artist

The spirit of the Christmas sea- son once flowed throughout the world from the home of a slight, shy English woman who has been all but forgotten by the world to which she gave so much.

Her name was Kate Greenaway, a noted artist of another century whose works inspired the habits, clothing and feeling of her day, not only in England but in America and on the Continent as well.

Miss Greenaway, born in 1846, began imitating the works of her father a wood engraver, early in life. By the time she was 17 she had won her first art prize—a bronze medal for six ceramic tile designs. Soon to follow were magazine sketches, children's books with both verses and sketches by Miss Greenaway, almanacs and, for six or seven years, a multitude of Christmas cards that vaulted her into great popularity.

Children and their clothing were Miss Greenaway's favorite art subjects. By 1883, when a "Kate Greenaway Boom" was in full swing, children on both sides of the Atlantic were dressed in styles inspired by her designs, which included ruffles, frills and laces for little girls; and rougher-hewn knickers, jackets and suits for boys.

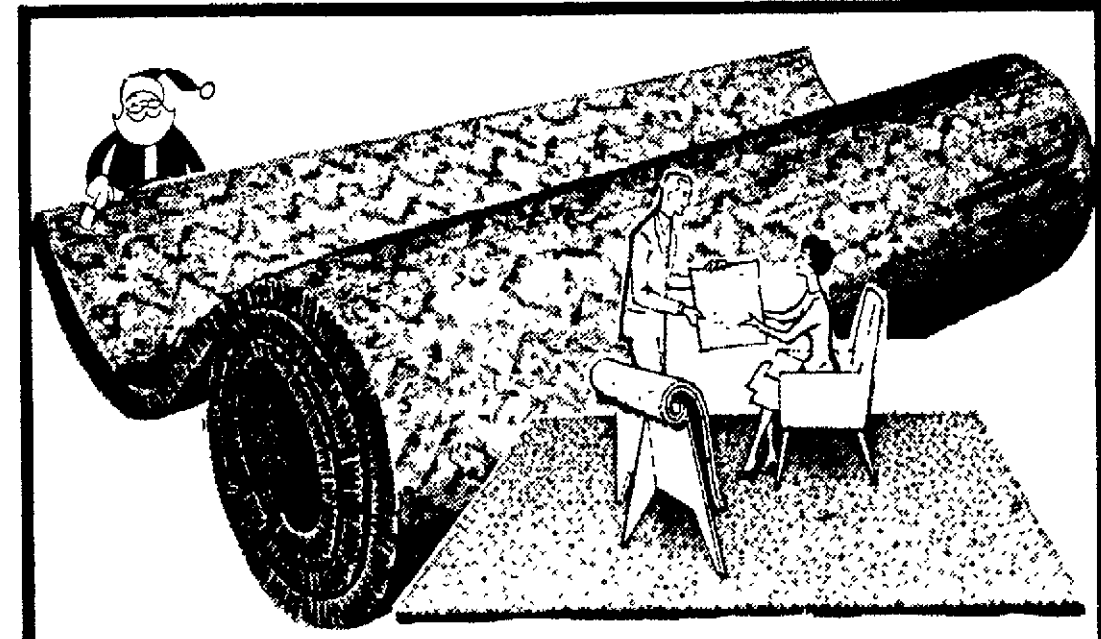

The designs were so popular that they were reproduced in books and on many items including calendars, carols and decorative ceramic tiles that were used to surface the facings and mantels of large English fireplaces, much as decorated American tiles are used on fireplaces today.

Miss Greenaway died in November, 1901, still a quiet and unassuming woman who nevertheless had become England's most famous woman artist. Today there are occasional mentions of her in but a New York dress shop that sells children's clothing patterned after her designs is the lone "living" reminder of her great talents.

Laird Objects To Plans to Cut National Guard

Wants Defense Department to Reconsider Ruling

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Present defense department plans for reorganization of the National Guard on a country-wide basis would result in the decrease of nearly 3,000 guard personnel in Wisconsin, but would provide additional troops in other states, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R., Marshfield, reported today.

The congressman, who conferred at length with Pentagon officials Tuesday, was told that the proposed cut would eliminate 10 of the 101 National Guard companies now in existence in the state, and would result in reduction in troop strength of the 32nd Division.

"I urged the defense department people to reconsider their formula for reorganization in Wisconsin in view of the fact that the 32nd Division is in combat readiness and is the best in the country," Laird said, adding that he had protested against their "across the board" formula.

Promised Recovery
"This formula gives no consideration for the efficiency of the guard units," he declared, adding that the department representatives had promised to "resurvey" the situation.

He said the defense department, in arriving at its figures for troop strength in the individual states for the fiscal year which commenced on July first of this year, made the comparison of the authorized strength for the previous year with the actual strength in the fiscal year 1961, which commenced July 1, 1960.

"Wisconsin's actual National Guard strength was above that of most states in fiscal 1961 and below that of the 1962 period, so came in for a loss of 2,766, in men," he explained. "The ratio in Minnesota, for instance, was exactly opposite, so Minnesota will gain 1,021 men under the reorganization plan."

Only Recourse
If the state governors turn down the defense department plan, the only recourse the defense department has is to turn to congress, he explained, for authority to put the plan in effect.

Laird said the defense department also has another survey in mind — that of training facilities, with the end in view of consolidating National Guard and army reserve facilities.

"I urged the officials to give proper consideration to Wisconsin in their consolidation plans, since Camp McCoy is the finest training facility available in the United States," he said.

He pointed out that the federal government had spent $120 million to put the 32nd Division in combat readiness and to buy its equipment, and this factor should be taken into consideration when making unit or troop reductions.

At the time he talked to defense officials Tuesday morning they had not yet received any comments from Gov. Gaylord Nelson on the proposed reorganization plan.

Young Business Man: YOUR CARRIER

Post-Crescent news carrier James Van Handel, 5107 Ballard Rd., Appleton, is a convincing example that consistent sales effort pays off. In the comparatively short time that James has had his own route business, he has added more than 15 new customers to his list.

Van Handel's route covers Ballard and French Roads, and includes U. S. Highway 41 and County Highway JJ as well as Evergreen Drive.

Jim has one brother and two sisters, is a freshman student at Xavier High School and attends St. Therese Church. He enjoys and participates in baseball, basketball, football, hunting, swimming and fishing, and is an industrious worker in 4-H projects. Leathercraft, woodwork and electronics have been some of his 4-H projects, but his chief endeavor in this field is the raising of sheep. The young businessman has been awarded numerous prizes and ribbons at the county fair ranging from a majority of firsts to second, third and fourth place awards. He is justly proud of his Grand Champion sheep ribbon.

His route is one of the main sources of income that finances his projects and he has purchased seven pure-bred sheep in supplementing his 4-H activities. With the remainder of his profits, he purchases clothes, portions out enough spending money for himself and maintains a savings account.

C of C Heads Discuss Port At Oshkosh

Research Worker
Talks to Merchants
From Fox Cities

OSHKOSH — Chamber of Commerce directors from Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac met Tuesday afternoon with Gilbert Bates, representative of Systems Analysis and Research Corp., to review the air transportation questionnaire to be used in gathering information from area industry for the Winnebago County Airport survey.

Mr. Edward Kelly, executive vice president of the Oshkosh chamber, said Bates suggested several improvements in the questionnaire, which is to cover points requested by the Neenah-Menasha Citizens Aviation Committee.

Kelly said the mechanics of mailing and handling of the questionnaire have not been decided. Another meeting probably will be held next week, he said.

Each chamber is to make a list of principle users in their city of Winnebago County Airport. Kelly said a plan would be worked out so industry from one city would not overbalance another city.

Co-Author of Book

Bates is co-author of "Airline Competition," a textbook used by the Harvard School of Business, where he was a research fellow for two years. For the last four years he has been an aviation consultant and for two years prior to that was director of economic planning for Air Transport Association.

He had been legal adviser for the vice chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board for four years and had been associated with Capitol Airlines prior to his Harvard Business School fellowship.

Bates said he plans to meet with State Highway Department State Aeronautics Commission and State Department of Resource Development officials in connection with the airport survey.

Morton May Succeed Goldwater as Head of GOP Campaign Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some significant changes in the political activities of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee may be in order if Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., takes over direction of the group from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Although Goldwater's successor will not be chosen officially until Senate GOP members caucus early next month, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said in an interview he thinks there is general agreement on Morton. Goldwater is stepping out because he is a potential candidate for re-election in 1964.

"Sen. Morton is well qualified for the job and I think all factions could agree on him," Scott said.

The major objective of the committee and its chairman is to try to win back Senate control from the Democrats.

Morton is understood to be willing to take it if that step would avert a fight between the party's conservatives and liberals.

Belgian May Head NATO Tactical Unit

PARIS (AP) — Allied military officials say Belgian Maj. Gen. Alfred Burniaux, now stationed in Washington, will become commander of NATO's 2nd Tactical Air Force in March or April. He will replace Air Marshal Sir John Grandy of Britain.

Yule Brings Hike in Price Of Produce

Florida Cold
Snap Blamed for Higher Costs

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
That sharp nip in the air means quickened Christmas shopping heartier season cheer and alas higher produce prices

Housewives may not see too many signs of change at super-markets this weekend, but there are several indications of sea-onal jumps.

An unusual cold snap in Florida this week damaged thousands of acres of peppers, celery, egg plant, tomatoes, beans and sweet corn. This may well be translated later into higher prices in stores over the nation.

The heavy budget items of meats and poultry, however, have not risen and many good bargains are available

Pork is especially attractive in many stores. Loin roasts, chops, smoked picnics, smoked butts and bacon are special attractions

Beef bargains include chuck roasts, sirloin and round steaks, ground beef, stew beef, and short ribs.

Turkeys are flowing into the market from cold storage and many markets reported lower prices. Broiler-fryers continue a good buy.

At vegetable counters currently, best buys are in cabbage, car-rots, sweet potatoes, squash, po-tatoes, onions and lettuce. Region-al attractions include broccoli, kale, mushrooms, spinach, col-lards, radishes, eggplant and ru-tubagas.

Fruit features include apples, avocados, grapefruit, oranges, ba-nanas, tangerines and tangelos.

FWD Having Sales Meeting

District, Division
Managers to Attend
From Across Country

CLINTONVILLE — An FWD sales managers' meeting is being held today and Friday at the Clintonville FWD office. It is being attended by district sales managers from across the country and sales division sales managers.

The meeting is being conducted by Wesley H. Peters, general sales manager, who will discuss the general sales program for the corporation's new fiscal year, and Lloyd J. Pernot, domestic sales manager, who will discuss the domestic sales program for the new year.

L. A. DePolis, FWD president, will outline FWD Corporation and subsidiaries' plans and goals for the new year. Philip Larnino, vice president and general manager, will outline the company's over-all objectives for the new year.

Those Taking Part
Various department heads of the sales, engineering and manufacturing divisions will participate in the program.

District sales managers attending are J. Ross Anderson, Harrisburg, Pa.; Roy E. Barker, Pom-pano Beach, Fla.; Arthur L. Brehmer, St. Paul, Minn.; Wil-lam Hurley, Stoughton, Mass.; Virgil Phelps, Columbus, Ohio; and Arthur J. Sturwald, Chicago.

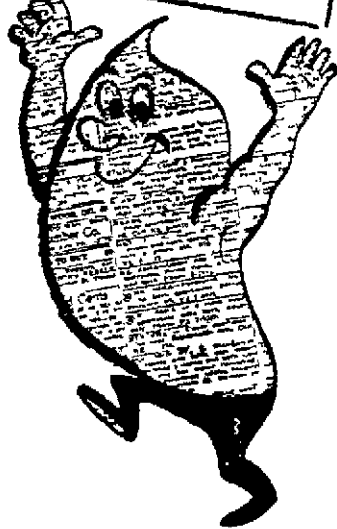

Ralph Luebke, newly appointed sales representative for the Okla-homa-Texas area, and Keith Liesch, oil field sales division manager and manager of the com-pany's Duncan, Okla., branch will attend also.

Attending from FWD's plant at Kitchener, Ontario, Canada, will be Roy E. Brown, president, and Charles A. Blue, Canadian sales manager.

School Auction Being Planned For Dec. 22

Superintendent Gives Authorization to Go Ahead With Sale

The on-again, off-again auction of the Speel School building and contents is on again, at least for the time being. It now is set for Dec. 22.

Appleton Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz, acting as agent for the apportionment board of the four districts among which the Speel District was divided July 1 (Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna and Wrightstown), has given written authority to the auctioneers Long-Wieckert and Karel Agency, to go ahead with the sale.

The auction was set once before in September, but was called off because of legal complications resulting from a reversionary clause in the deed for the one-acre school site.

received notification from attorney Edgar Becker that his client, John Welhouse Sr., Kimberly, will take possession of the property because of the clause which says the land reverts back to the owner if it ceases to be used for school purposes.

Note Sent For Action

The board agreed to send this notification to City Attorney Frederick Froehlich for appropriate action.

One-half acre of the school site reverted to the owner following attachment, and the apportionment board sold the other half-acre of land to Welhouse for $50. The owner claims the building (but not its contents) should go with the land. The board disagrees, but anticipates further court action may be needed to settle the question.

Kurtz was authorized by the apportionment board to handle the sale of the school building and contents. Estimates of the value of the building and contents have ranged from $200 to $1,000.

Sea Going Showboat

Friday Night's Games: Oshkosh at Appleton. Manitowoc at Fond du Lac. North at East. West at South.

BY JIM HARP Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Despite recording their initial victory of the season in their last outing, the Appleton High School cagers have not been able to sit back on their laurels as Coach Dick Emanuel has been drilling the Terrors hard in preparation for Friday night's invasion by Oshkosh.

What has Emanuel most apprehensive is Oshkosh's 0-2 league record. The Indians, who were selected for a first division finish in a pre-season poll, have been defeated by Green Bay West and powerful Sheboygan South.

Emanuel feels the Indians, who feature all - conference returnee Roger Beck, a 6-3 pivot man, and Tom Stroede, another high scorer last year, are due to explode sooner or later. The Terror mentor hopes it will be later but is taking no chances and is stressing defensive work this week.

Other Fox River Valley Conference games Friday night will have co-leading Sheboygan North at Green Bay East, co-leading South will entertain Green Bay West and Manitowoc travels to Fond du Lac.

Of the four teams tied for third place, the Terrors have the best offensive mark, 111 points in two games, but they also have allowed the most points to the opposition, 115. After a narrow 57-52 loss to North the Terrors came back last week to nip East in an overtime thriller, 59-58.

One of the most encouraging notes to come out of the victory over East was the 21-point scoring performance of senior Mike Woehler. Woehler hit five field goals and bagged 11 charity tosses for his highest output of the season. Woehler's previous high was six markers against North. Woehler's point total pushed him

Allie Sherman Named NFL's Coach of Year

Bill McPeak of Washington Is Runnerup in Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Sherman, winner of a second term as Coach of the Year in the National Football League, rates his 1962 New York Giants a better club than last year's Eastern Conference champs.

Sherman outpointed four contenders in the voting of an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities today.

The committee gave Sherman 13 votes to 10 for Bill McPeak of Washington, seven each for Vince Lombardi of Green Bay and Tom Landry of Dallas and four for George Wilson of Detroit. One member of the 42-man panel did not vote in this category.

Know One Another

"I am grateful for this honor," said Sherman in his office at Yankee Stadium, where he is preparing the Giants for Sunday's game with Dallas. "I didn't know anybody ever repeated I want to thank all the players and my staff."

Sherman said one big reason for the club's improvement was the Athletic Commission To Conduct Hearing Into Pro Fight Card

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The State Athletic Commission said Wednesday it will hold a hearing at which the Veterans of Foreign Wars post at Hudson will be ordered to show why its license to conduct boxing shows should not be revoked.

Frank Falduto said that Richard Barrett, an assistant attorney general, has ordered the district attorney of St. Croix County to investigate a professional boxing show staged by the post last Friday night.

Falduto said the bouts were staged without the approval of and in defiance of the commission. He said a hearing on the revocation move will be held as soon as the district attorney's report is received.

All of the boxers on the card and the officials were from out of state.

Lombardi Has Covetous Eyes Being Cast Upon Him by Other NFL Clubs

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service

LONG BEACH — Vince Lombardi can have the moon for managing and coaching a professional team... if he wants.

The Packers' head coach and general manager is unquestionably the top man in his field in the country. Nobody can touch him.

In his first job as head coach above the high school level, Lombardi took over a Packer team that had won only one game in 1958 and produced a 7-5 record as a rookie coach in '59. His team won the western title in 1960, the world championship in '61 and a win Sunday over the Rams will give the Packers the '62 Western crown.

What's more, Vince's record as a general manager has been spotless. Just take a look at the Bays' profit-and-loss sheets.

Thus, it comes as no surprise that other clubs in the National Football League are casting covetous eyes at Lombardi. They would like him to perform the same kind of miracle for them.

When Vince arrived here a week ago Tuesday he was greeted and taken to a San Francisco Chronicle story that the Rams had made a fantastic offer, informally, of course, as follows: (1) $100,000 in cash, or to be spread over two years; (2) A home in Los Angeles, fully paid; (3) A $100,000 life insurance policy paid up for the duration of the original contract; — to be extended when the football contract is renewed; (4) A piece of an oil well.

The Rams presently are a split group and the ownership is being fought over by Dan Reeves, Edwin W. Pauley, Fred Levy Jr., and James H. Seley. The owner fight is in the hands of the courts and a decision should be made by the end of the year said Elroy Hirsch, general manager of the Rams.

Hirsch said that if an offer was made, it was made by a faction of the owners.

Lombardi would not say that the Rams made such an offer but added: "How can you turn something like that down."

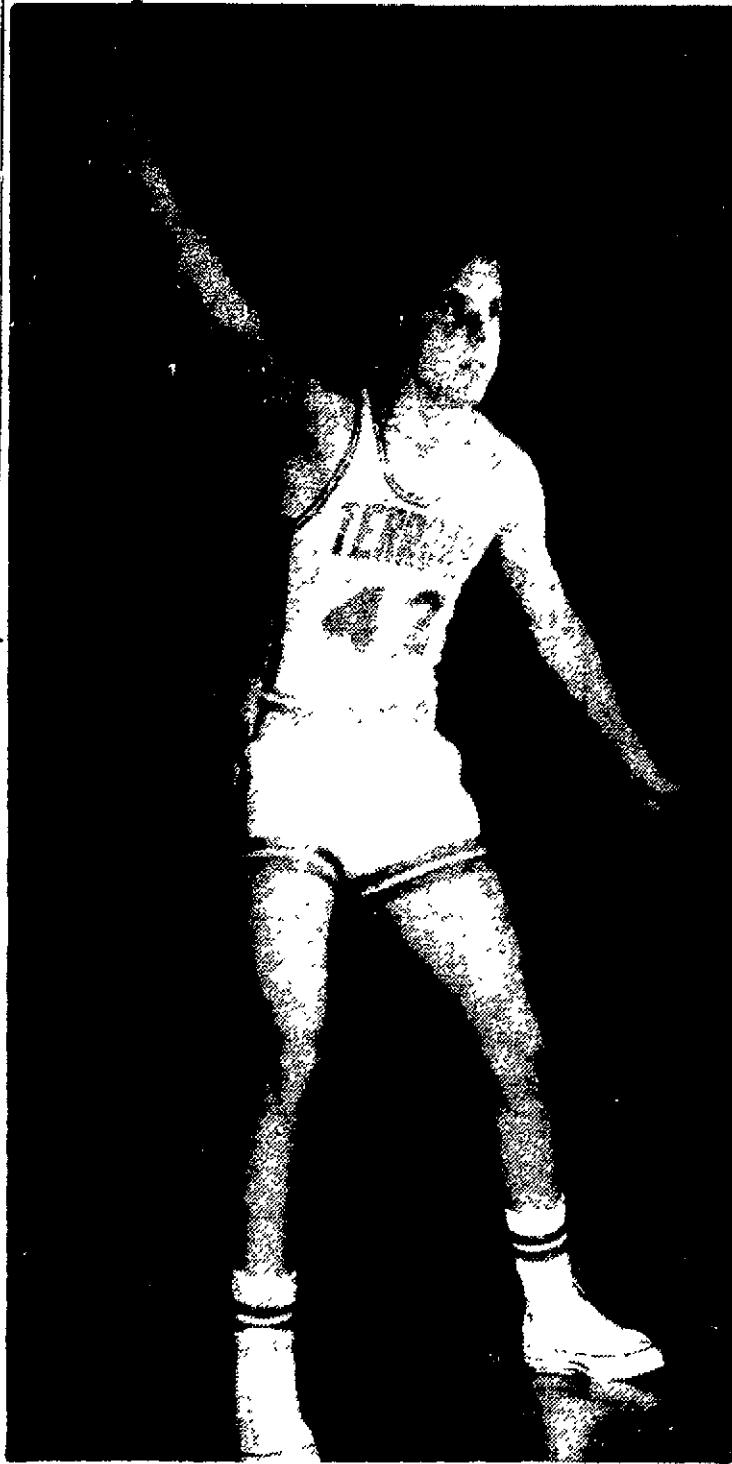

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was in San Francisco for last Sunday's game, explained — as he had for the Chronicle: "Yes, Lombardi has been approached by a number of clubs. Oil wells are among the lures. But these conversations usually

Enquirer Reports Skowron to Quit Baseball to Coach

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Enquirer said Wednesday night that first baseman Moose Skowron, traded recently by the New York Yankees to the Los Angeles Dodgers for pitcher Stan Williams, plans to quit baseball and take a 10-year contract to coach baseball at Purdue University.

The story, written by Enquirer Sports Editor Lou Smith, quotes an "authoritative source" and says Skowron is unhappy over the manner in which Yankee Manager Roy Hamey informed him of the trade.

Skowron is a Purdue graduate and was a football and baseball star at the Lafayette, Ind., school. The Enquirer said it also learned from another source that Purdue has been talking with Skowron about the baseball coaching job but that nothing has been settled yet.

FVL's Dobberstein Will Have Surgery

Knee Operation Expected to Sideline Star for Six Weeks

BY RALPH MUELLER Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran's basketball hopes suffered a severe jolt this morning when it was announced that guard Verlyn Dobberstein will undergo surgery to correct a chronic knee ailment.

The announcement came on the heels of a shuffle in the Foxes' varsity roster, which included the release of four varsity players. Coach Gerry Kanless' squad now includes 10 players, including sophomore LeRoy Kiepkie who is being elevated from the junior varsity.

The "new look" lineup will be unveiled Friday night when the Foxes play host to Central Wisconsin Conference's Manawa Wolves. Varsity game time is slated for 8:15 p.m. (The junior varsity contest is scheduled to start at 6:45.)

The operation is expected to sideline Dobberstein for at least six weeks. His absence will definitely hurt the Foxes' efforts in moving above the .500 mark. Their current record is 2-3.

The versatile cager averaged 16 points per game last year but never attained full strength this season due to the injured left knee. The injury occurred early in the grid season and curtailed much of his play throughout the schedule.

It is hoped that Kiepkie can take up the slack resulting from Dobberstein's loss. He has been doing an outstanding job as a floor general with Coach Dave Ummus' junior varsity. He played in the Fox Valley Freshmen League with Roosevelt last year.

The other members of the varsity are seniors John Koschmann, Dennis Tiedt, Ken Neubert, and Royal Uhlenbrauck, juniors Wayne Koenig, Bob Krueger, Don Arps, Barry Wierschke and Larry Kahler.

Manawa's varsity features a player that inch-for-inch is probably one of the best in the state. He is 5-8 guard Bill Rhode, an intelligent floor general who is a slick ball-handler. Rhode is currently leading the Central Wisconsin circuit in scoring with 93 points in four games.

Don Thiel is the next highest point-maker with John Hoffman, Jim Buschke, and Cal Pruess, all experienced personnel. A sophomore, Bill Tessen, is also coming along well for coach Stu Courchaine's unit.

The Wolves are in sixth place in the Central Wisconsin with a 2-3 record. This will be their first venture into non-conference play.

Packers' Jim Taylor Named NFL Player of the Year

Y. A. Tittle of Giants Is Runnerup in Balloting, Bobby Mitchell Gets 4 Votes

BY JACK HAND NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay's crashing fullback who is noted for his great second effort, was voted Player of the Year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Taylor, a 27-year-old former Louisiana State ace in his fifth year of pro ball, grabbed the award won last year by Paul Hornung, the Packers' glamorous triple threat halfback who has been crippled by a knee injury this season.

With one more game to play, Taylor already has tied the NFL record by scoring 18 touchdowns, all on the ground, and leads the league in scoring with 108 points.

Packer fans have been insisting that Taylor deserved to be named the All-Star fullback over Cleveland's Jimmy Brown. They finally got their wish this season. Brown's fabulous five-year reign as rushing champion is sure to end and Taylor appears sure to succeed him. Taylor has gained 1,318 yards in 249 carries, 206 yards more than John Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh, his closest competitor. Brown is fourth with 861 yards.

Finishes Second

Y. A. Tittle, the old "bald eagle" who has thrown 27 touchdown passes for the New York Giants, finished a strong second to Taylor in the voting. Taylor drew 19 ballots, Tittle had 13 and

Baseball Outlook Bright for 1963 Fox Cities Foxes

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Fox Cities Baseball Club's outlook for 1963 is rosier than it has been for several years, and it's not because the '62 financial report is slightly tinged in red ink.

Foxes stockholders learned Wednesday night, during the club's annual meeting, that the new major-minor player development plan will take some of the financial pressure off farm teams.

"If we can carry on as we have in the past," said General Manager Bob Willis, "I'm enthusiastic about our chances of printing next year's report in black ink."

The Foxes showed an operational deficit of $2,233.72 for 1962. However, since the indicated depreciation of $1,205.99 is a "book" figure, the actual cash loss was only $1,028. (This compares to a cash loss of $2,000 for 1961 — the first time the Foxes had shown a deficit).

Healthy Situation

Secretary S. M. Timmers reported that the club's financial situation is healthy: it has no unpaid bills and has cash in the

Howard Williams Running Again After Slipped Disc

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Halfback Paul Hornung was on the sidelines with the flu as the Green Bay Packers returned to drills Wednesday for their National Football League game with the Rams in Los Angeles Sunday.

Hornung, the NFL scoring leader and most valuable player last season, has seen only limited and brief service since twisting a knee in mid-October.

Rookie defensive back Howard Williams was running for the first time Wednesday since he slipped a disc in his back last week.

The game with the Rams will close out the regular season. The Packers, with a victory, will take their third straight Western Division title and then begin getting ready for their third championship playoff game in a row.

Should the Packers, with a 12 and 1 record, lose, and the Detroit Lions win, the Western Division race would be forced into a playoff at Detroit on Dec. 23, a week before the title game.

With the divisional race still not decided, the possibility exists that the Packers could finish second and thereby qualify for the runner-up bowl game at Miami Beach, Fla., in January.

The prospects of a January trip to Florida leave the Packers totally unexcited. As Back Coach Red Cochran said, "Going to the runnerup bowl with Vince Lombardi would be like going to a wake."

UW's Hohman To Miss Out on Bowl Game

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin football team had another session on fundamentals Wednesday as it continued preparations for its Rose Bowl date with Southern California on New Year's Day.

Coach Milt Bruhn said he was pleased by the physical condition of the squad, which renewed workouts Tuesday after a layoff of more than two weeks.

Missing from Wednesday's session was first string guard Dion Kempthorne who has been a patient in the university infirmary since Monday night with what is believed to be the flu. He's not expected to rejoin the team for the weekend.

Also missing from the drills is Jon Hohman, a onetime starting guard, who has been sidelined since mid-season with a knee injury. He will miss the Rose Bowl game and will not workout.

Reserve fullback Stan Andrews drilled Wednesday despite a possible broken finger received while tossing the ball after the close of Tuesday's regular workout.

The session Wednesday included more activity with the tackling dummies and blocking sleds. Quarterbacks Ron VanderKelen and Harold Brandt began to sharpen their passing techniques.

2 Unbeaten Quints Clash In Little Nine

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Denmark	2	0	Hortonville
Hilbert	2	0	Freedom
Reedsville	2	0	Wrightstown
Winnecoonne	2	0	Omro
Bear Creek	1	1	Shiocton

The number of unbeaten teams in the Little Nine Conference will be reduced by at least one Friday night as Winnecoonne and Hilbert, both with 2-0 marks, will clash at Hilbert.

In other games, Reedsville will be host to Omro, Denmark is at Shiocton, Hortonville travels to Wrightstown and Bear Creek is at Freedom.

Both Hilbert and Winnecoonne have posted their victories in convincing fashion. Hilbert downed Wrightstown and Shiocton by margins of 27 and 17 points, respectively. Winnecoonne topped Omro by 20 and Freedom by 14.

Offensive Punch
Reedsville has showed the best offensive punch in the league with 70 points against Freedom and 71 against Hortonville. Gene Klann has counted 41 points in two games for the Panthers while Dick Diener and Ray Lopp now have hit for 31 and 30 marks, respectively.

Denmark has proved to be one of the surprises as the Vikings have recorded high scoring wins over Bear Creek and Omro. Leon Rassmussen poured in 11 field goals against Omro and at least seven players have scored in each of the wins.

Bear Creek and Hortonville, both 1-1, will be aiming to stay in the first division. Freedom has just to Winnecoonne and Reedsville while Bear Creek lost to Denmark and tipped Wrightstown. Hortonville is hoping to get back on the win trail after bumping into Reedsville last week.

Steeler Ground Attack Second Only to Bays

Pittsburgh Has Clinched Runnerup Playoff Position

NEW YORK (AP)—The crunching running attack of the Pittsburgh Steelers looms as the key reason for the club's second place finish in the National Football League's Eastern Conference in 1962.

Boasting an 8-5 won-lost record with one game remaining, Coach Buddy Parker's charges have amassed 2,216 yards rushing, tops in the East. Only the Green Bay Packers, the Western Division leader with 2,279 yards on the ground, have surpassed the Steelers.

Two of the reasons for making the Pittsburgh ground machine function effectively are a pair of massive offensive tackles, 260-pound Dan James and 255-pound Charley Bradshaw.

Parker took stock of his behemoths last summer and pointed out, "There are two kinds of offensive tackles. Some are quick, agile, the ballet-dancer type that shift around and do an excellent job of blocking for the passer. The others, like James and Bradshaw, are the kind with belf and strength to tear into an opposing line and move those defensive men right out of there. We knew they could do that kind of job. That's why we had to go with the running game."

As a result of their successful ground operation, the Steelers will represent the Eastern Conference in the Playoff Bowl game at Miami Jan. 6 against either Detroit or Green Bay.

4.2 Average
League statistics showed Wednesday that Pittsburgh has gained 2,216 yards on 531 rushes for a 4.2 yards per carry average. After 13 games of the 1961 season, the Steelers showed just 1,678 yards rushing in 502 carries for a 3.3 yards average.

Fullback John Henry Johnson, who has set a Pittsburgh one season individual rushing record with 1,102 yards, said, "I can figure out why we are going to Miami. The blocking's been real good. I'm not running harder than I ever ran, but I see the holes are a little bigger."

The Steelers have scored 16 touchdowns on the ground as compared to only 10 rushing last season when they posted a fifth-place 8-8 mark.

In other team categories, the Eastern Division champion New York Giants have replaced the Dallas Cowboys as the total offense leader by one yard—4,534 to 4,533. The Giants also are tops in passing yardage with 2,989 yards.

Defensively, the Detroit Lions, ML or if it would drop out of continue to show the way, having allowed the opposition 2,809 yards. The Lions also have been the toughest team to pass against, giving up 1,095 yards via the air.

Green Bay's defense against a running game is the best with 1,050 yards yielded on the ground.

Bishop's Game Raises $42,300 For Charity

GREEN BAY (AP)—The second annual Bishop's charities football game raised $42,300 for charity, according to a final accounting announced today by the Rev. William Spalding, game chairman.

Father Spalding said a $42,300 check presented last week the Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, Bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Green Bay, completed financial details of the game in which the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers defeated the New York Giants 20-17 in an exhibition here Sept. 3.

The diocese, the Packers and the Giants each received $35,145 from receipts and the diocese received another $9,300 from advertising and the sale of programs. From its share, the diocese deducted $2,145 spent on promotion, leaving a balance of $42,300.

bank ($2,178.68). The club's total assets are $6,109.60.

Club President Ray McClone said the major leagues have finally realized what the minors needed and came through with something that should have been done long ago. "They came up with a program that will be an asset to the minors," he declared.

The new working agreements will mean an annual gain of from $5,000 to $7,000 to a club like the Foxes, according to Willis.

The short, confidence - accentuated meeting reflected the new stability of the Foxes. It was in contract to the uncertainty of last year's meeting when the club didn't know whether it would remain in the fast - fading Three-I League, if it would join the ML or if it would drop out of baseball completely.

The Foxes, in '63 are sure of playing in the ML, which will be strengthened by the addition of another Wisconsin franchise, Wisconsin Rapids. The 18 minor leagues still in business have been reclassified and bolstered by the new financial arrangements. The ML is now a Class A circuit.

Willis pointed out that the Foxes have one of the 102 minor league franchises in the country. Fox Cities will again affiliate with Baltimore in '63, Willis announced. He reported that Cal Ripken will not be back as Foxes manager but could not announce the new pilot as yet.

Stockholders reelected six members of the board and picked one new director, Dr. Lawrence Keller. Those reelected are Ray McClone, John Wissman, Art Benson, Ralph McClone, Joe Schouten and Art Jones.

The Foxes' total income for 1962 was $58,935.76. The total expenses, including depreciation, were $61,169.48.

Rozelle, in his reference to "other clubs," indicated that more than the Rams are interested in the Bay coach.

Lombardi actually is limited in Green Bay since the corporation can offer him nothing more than a salary and bonuses. These, of course, are tapped heavily by the time the Packer game starts.

become a part-owner of a major league team and the rewards wouldn't all go for taxes.

It's all very interesting but the big job at hand is winning the Western Division championship of the year. "Really?" he asked. Lombardi sent the Bays through a sharp session on offense today in preparation for the big "title" game in the Coliseum.

The Packers are heavy favorites, over 20 points, but you'd never know it the way they're working. They can win the title without lifting a finger, providing the Bears beat the Lions, but the Packers aren't counting on it. That game should be over about the time the Packer game starts.

Rozelle pointed out that other clubs can offer him part owner-ment on kickoffs. He even had Jim Ringo boot a few.

Jim Taylor was highly pleased with his elections as the player of the year. "Really?" he asked. Taylor, who quickly lauded "the players up there blocking for me," gives the Packers the award the second straight year. Hornung won it last year.

Among the visitors at the closed practice was Rocky Bridges, third base coach for the LA Angels.

CHEVROLET...on the road every day!

ITS RELIABILITY COMES FROM ITS QUALITY

A nutshell description of Chevrolet trucks could be "Trucks That Work". It's not exactly earthshaking but it says a mouthful. It's what Chevrolet trucks are best known for—their reliability. Ready to work, day after day, whenever you are.

You can't build trucks that perform like this if you don't put quality into engine, chassis and body. Chevrolet does: double-wall construction, insulated cab, select-wood body floor, chain-supported tailgate, ladder-type frame, the careful attention to upholstery and finish. It's this kind of quality that makes any Chevrolet truck—from pickup to heavyweight tandem—worth more on the average at trade-in!

Old Pair of Glasses Are Key to Temple's Win Over Bucknell

Kentucky Wins After Rupp Tongue-Lashing

BY MIKE RATHET

Bad eyesight, good insight and a pair of heat up junior high school bifocals were the main topics of discussion today as Temple's Owls focused their attention on the strange events of victory No. 3.

Things went wrong for Temple at the start against Bucknell Wednesday night when Bob Harrington lost one of his contact lenses early in the first quarter.

Cleveland Browns Change Plans Due To Drifting Snow

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns changed their travel plans Wednesday night because of drifting snow hampering operations at Cleveland Hopkins Airport throughout the day.

The football team had planned to fly to the West Coast Thursday for its nationally televised game with the San Francisco 49ers Saturday.

A Browns' spokesman said efforts were being made to round up the 56 players, many of whom missed practice in the afternoon due to bad driving conditions.

The team is to board an overnight train for Chicago, where players hope to get a plane Thursday for San Francisco.

Heavy snow last weekend caused the Browns to take a train to New York for their game with the Giants instead of flying.

A spokesman at Hopkins Airport said one of five runways was reopened at 5 o'clock, but he didn't know for how long. Mounting drifts had closed down the airport at 3 p.m. and also from 4 a.m. to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Business Split on Value of Tax Cut

How Will U. S. Get More Money With Reduction, Asks Executive

BY DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting America going again, say many businessmen, is not nearly so easy a matter as merely cutting taxes.

Some, while they feel it must be done, doubt that it would pep things up much.

Others, while they feel it would indeed pep things up, question whether current budgets could stand it.

Interviews with businessmen and business economists across the nation found little agreement on the administration's reported plans to try to reduce taxes on personal and corporate incomes by $10 billion in 1963.

The Kennedy administration thesis is that cutting taxes will generate enough additional business activity to produce enough new tax revenue to replace cuts. "I can't get it through my head," said H. O. Bercher, president of International Harvester in Chicago, "how you can get more money by cutting revenue."

There's general agreement in principle, however, that taxes are too high in relation to business activity.

Harvard economist John Lintner says, "present tax rates were fine for the days of the immediate post-war era when pent-up demand threatened to overheat the economy. Then, restraint was needed."

Economy Today
"The economy today," he adds, "is not characterized by excess money."

The case for cutting taxes in the lower brackets is less a matter of incentives and more a matter of expanding basic purchasing power. This is the area cited by the administration and most economists as offering the best lever for moving the economy.

"The great bulk of the people," said Howard M. Packard of A. C. Johnson and Co. of Racine, Wis., "have to scramble to make ends meet."

A Dallas banker said there is little doubt in his mind but that these people would spend almost every additional cent they would retain through tax reductions.

Double Impact
Du Pont economist William H. Shaw estimates, however, that only about half the money freed would be spent in 1963. Also, he said, higher social security taxes taking effect Jan. 1 would tend to mask much of the increase in available spending money. Thus, he doubts there would be a big immediate impact on the economy.

On the issue of cutting corporate income taxes, there is broad agreement how the extra money would be spread among dividends to stockholders, salaries, plant expansion, modernization and reserves.

New plans will be built only if the company can expect to earn more profit by doing so, some businessmen say.

Many executives say that there is so much overcapacity today that most additional money would go into cost-cutting and modernization.

An official of Dresser Industries in Dallas comments also that business investment may already be stunted by individual industries worrying that they may get stuck with additional taxes to make up revenue lost in tax cuts.

Implicit in this is the attitude expressed by International Harvester's Bercher, who said: "We may get a reduction in tax rates but not a reduction in taxes. They'll just put the monkey on a different back."

Nuclear Ship Finally in Port

Savannah Idled Since Nov. 30 by Engineers Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The nuclear-powered Savannah, proudest member of the U. S. Merchant Marine, has finally reached Los Angeles harbor — backward, and pushed by tugs.

She got as far as nearby Long Beach on a maiden voyage and was idled there Nov. 30 by a strike by engineers.

Tugs pushed her across the harbor backwards, to save a time-consuming turnaround to the berth where she is to go on view for visitors through Sunday.

Engineers were reported to be planning to cool off the Savannah's reactor. No progress was reported in wage talks.

The maritime editor of the Baltimore Sun, Helen Delich Bentley, said that members of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, AFL-CIO, said they would start shutting the reactor down Friday. The process takes 72 hours.

The ship's 29 engineers and trainees resigned because they said their pay was pegged to that of other ship's officers—and should be higher, because of the specialized tasks involved.

Barking Dog Saves 3 Pennsylvania Families

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—A barking dog was credited with probably saving the lives of nine members of three Butler families Tuesday after carbon monoxide fumes seeped through their apartment building.

The dog's barking aroused its owners in a third-floor apartment. Firemen were summoned and awakened two other families on the second floor.

Mrs. Florence Bobbert, 46, was admitted to a hospital in fair condition. Her husband and a daughter were treated at the scene. They own the dog.

SECRET REVEALED: WHAT MAKES ADVERTISING PAY

DEAR CY: Your recent column on the reason why continuous advertising is important should have mentioned the confidence advertising builds. For 20 years, our dairy did not advertise, except through our packages and the smiles of our employees. Last fall, we began a campaign featuring our large curd cottage cheese. We ran a lot of ads, including some outside boards. Soon we began to be talked about, and got some accounts from people moving here that would have gone to competitors. We sold cottage cheese, but the big return was in customer confidence. Now, we are expanding our program to other products.

DEAR STANDISH: In the pioneer days of advertising, the phrase, "pre-sold," was used as much as today's overworked "merchandising," "marketing," and "image." One of the first realizations of manufacturers was the confidence produced by pre-selling with advertising. 3 Sentenced to Reformatory for Assaulting Girl

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three men whom he called "maniacs" and "wildmen" were sentenced to long reformatory terms by Circuit Judge John L. Coffey Thursday. They were charged with sexually assaulting a 14-year-old crippled girl they accosted in a park. The judge sentenced Thomas J. Garella, 19, of Racine, and Thomas C. Waggener, 26, of Milwaukee, to 10 years each in the Green Bay Reformatory, and Jack B. Jurkiewicz, Milwaukee, to five years in the reformatory. They pleaded guilty to a charge of sexual intercourse with a child. The girl took the witness stand and testified that she went to a birthday party at Grant Park beach in South Milwaukee Sept. 1 and found that a "motorcycle bunch" which included the three defendants, also was present. She said "a whole bunch of boys" ripped off her clothes, held her down by the arms and wrists slugged her and abused her sexually.

Nellie Fox Top Fielder

3 Other Chisox Honored for Defensive Work

BOSTON (AP) — Although Nellie Fox is supposed to have slowed down a step or two, the official 1962 American League averages serve as testimony that the veteran Chicago White Sox second baseman can still do more than an adequate job in the field.

The fielding statistics released Wednesday showed that Fox made only eight errors in 812 chances for a .990 average and topped the second basemen for the fifth time. He also led in 1952, 1954, 1956 and '59.

Three other White Sox players took defensive honors. They were first baseman Joe Cunningham, who fielded .9942 to edge Kansas City's Norm Siebern at .9935, shortstop Luis Aparicio .973 and pitcher Ray Herbert, who handled 71 chances flawlessly. It was the fourth straight time that Aparicio paced the shortstops.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson headed the third basemen for the third consecutive year. He fielded .972. Jimmy Piersall of Washington topped the outfielders with .997 and Elston Howard of the Yankees had the highest average among the catchers, .995.

Piersall, another three-time defensive leader, made only one error in 314 chances for a .997 average. He played in 132 games. Lenny Green of Minnesota tied an American League record for the fewest errors by an outfielder in 150 or more games. Green erred twice and was the runner-up in average with .995.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

November 26, 1962
The second regular meeting of November of the Board of Education was held in the Superintendent's Office on Monday, November 26, 1962 at 7:15 p.m.
Present: Messrs. Hurd and Hall, Messrs. Buchanan, Nehs, Summicht and Whitney. Absent: Mr. Schneider.
Motion was made by Mr. Nehs, seconded by Mr. Summicht, approving the minutes of Nov. 26, 1962. Carried.
Mr. Kurtz presented the Superintendent's Report as follows:
I. Personnel:
A. Resignations: Effective Date
Mrs. Susan Ramsey, English December 21, 1962
Mrs. Rhonda Murphy, Elementary January 25, 1963
Mrs. Perry Lou Stolla, Elementary January 25, 1963
Mrs. Gloria Carter, Elementary December 21, 1962
B. New contracts:
Mrs. Gene Nierow, English - Senior High School Degree - BS Experience - 23 years Salary - $7,050.00 Replaces Mrs. Susan Ramsey (Temporary contract until June 7, 1963)
Mrs. Lois Holmberg, Elementary Degree - BS Salary - $4,700.60 (Replaces Mrs. Gloria Carter - McKinley)
H. Curriculum
Report by Mr. William Spears, Director of Instruction on the proposed seven-period day at the Junior High School level.
Consideration should be given to the following:
A. All pupils will be required to take a full year of study in each of the following content areas:
1. Communicative Arts
2. Social Studies
3. Mathematics
a. Algebra-8th grade
b. Geometry-9th grade
4. Science
a. Biology-9th grade
b. Earth Science-9th grade
B. Home Arts (Industrial Arts and Home Economics)
Consideration should be given to this as a requirement for one semester in 7th grade and one semester in 8th grade, and as an elective in 9th grade; or combining the two one-semester classes and offering one full year in either 7th or 8th grade, retaining this area as an elective in 9th grade.
C. Arts and Crafts
The time allotment for this subject could be similar to that in the Home Arts area described above, with a similar recommendation of combining the two semesters into a one full year presentation in grades 7 and 8, maintaining a full year as an elective in grade 9.
D. Modern Foreign Language
Consideration should be given to offering both Spanish and French beginning at the 7th grade level for a full period, five days a week throughout the school year, and continuing through grades 8 and 9.
E. Physical Education
Required of all pupils 1 or 3 days a week, through grades 7, 8 and 9. The health and safety classes, taught by physical education instructors in the past will be incorporated into the full year science program. Certain aspects of personal hygiene will still remain the responsibility of the physical education instructor.
F. General Music
This content area will be required of all pupils in grades 7 and 8, 2 or 3 times a week, as it dovetails around the physical education assignment.
G. Instrumental Music
Instrumental music pupils will be scheduled out of general music classes and study halls.
Music-Large Performing Groups
Pupils desiring to elect choir, band or orchestra will be selected from general music classes and study hall. It may be possible to schedule these large group programs within the 7-period day, allowing most pupils desiring to do so to participate.
H. Study Halls
There will be study halls only for pupils at the 9th grade levels. 7th and 8th grade pupils will be scheduled into instructional classrooms throughout the school day.
I. Block-Time Planning
Consideration should be given to block time planning at the 7th and 8th grade levels in the areas listed above, such as in Communicative Arts Social Studies and in Math Science.
J. Grouping
Grouping has become a standard operating procedure at the Junior High level in Appleton. It would seem that we need to concern ourselves with scheduling in terms of establishing a program for the extremely dull normal, and remedial classes at the bottom of the normal curve, and for the unusually bright pupils who cluster at the extreme right or top of any grade group. The large group in the middle should not be considered as average name selected, but recognized as having a great range of intellectual potential from low average to superior.
K. Electives
In general there will be no electives in grades 7 and 8. Selected pupils may be allowed to attempt first-year Algebra at the 8th grade level. In grade 9 pupils may choose to elect two of the following subjects, in addition to the required basic program:
1. Latin
2. Modern Foreign Language (Spanish or French)
3. Arts and Crafts
4. Home Economics
5. Industrial Arts
6. Choir, Orchestra, or Band
7. Study Hall
Pupils who took first-year Algebra in 8th grade and successfully completed the course will be programmed into first-year Plane Geometry at the 9th grade level.
L. Instructional Materials
Since grouping is an established practice at the Junior High School level, instructional materials of varying degrees of difficulty will be needed in the classroom to aid the teacher in structuring his/her daily program or differentiating levels of instruction. Your attention is called to the fact that some pupils in grades 7 and 8 will need to be programmed into an extended block of time of 2 or 3 periods in the Communicative Arts area in order to completely fill out a 7-period day. Depending on the group's intellectual potential this block of time would cut across a number of content areas, such as: English, grammar, literature, composition, creative writing, basic reading, handwriting, spelling, etc.
M. Home Room
N. General Reports
A. Physical examination for members of staff.
Our medical advisor, Dr. J. B. MacLaren, advises that the Board provide $7.00 for the physical examination and $1.25 for the interpretation and follow-up. This constitutes a total of $8.25 compared to $6.00 at the present time.
B. Meeting of Park Board, Board of Education and City Planning Commission on November 29 at 4:00 p.m. in the Mayor's Office.
C. Reports from the Public School Health Department
D. Survey report from the Appleton Senior High School concerning the class of 1962.
Section I - Personnel
Motion for approval of Items A and B of Section I, of the Superintendent's Report was made by Mr. Summicht and seconded by Mrs. Hall. Carried on a roll call vote.
Section III - General Reports, Item A
Mr. Hurd moved that the Board accept the recommendation of the school medical advisor, Dr. J. B. MacLaren, and operating procedure at the Junior High level in Appleton. It was suggested by one Board member that the Junior High School students submit suitable names for a group. The large group in the middle should not be considered as average name selected, but recognized as having a great range of intellectual potential from low average to superior.
Under old business, giving credit for consumable supplies of school supplies, July 1, 1962 was discussed. It was reported that this task of evaluating and estimating these stocks of supplies had always been the care of the Business Office in an equitable manner. The following communications were read by Mr. Summicht, Secretary:
1. From Mr. E. A. Mayhew, requesting that wrestling be included in the 1963 sports program for Appleton Senior High School.
2. Letter from Elden J. Broehm, City Clerk, confirming the appointment of Dr. Roy P. Whitney to fill the unexpired term of Dr. A. Nelson, who resigned from the Board of Education.
Under new business, revision of the 1962 budget was discussed. It was suggested that the administration submit a list of recommendations on the budget decrease.
The request was made that all members bring their budget books to the next Board meeting.
It was also announced that the Clinton picture will be taken at the first meeting in December.
A report was given on division of assets and liabilities of the Appleton School District among the five districts.
Your attention is called to the fact

The Golden Years

A Retired Man's Wife Asks Boss for Advice

BY THOMAS COLLINS

Dear Mr. Boss:
It was nice of you to send my 65-year-old husband home last month with his pension. That's what a wife is supposed to say, isn't it?
Anyway, I've got him now and you haven't. Or you're rid of him and I'm not. Whichever way you want to look at it. And the purpose of this letter is to give you some helpful hints in exchange for some helpful hints I need from you.

Collins

First, I want you to tell me how you kept my husband from taking a nap every day right after lunch. You didn't let him take a nap at the company, did you? Well, he is now taking a nap right after lunch and it is disorganizing my whole routine. Please tell me how you kept him awake without making him mad.

Helpful Hint

Now for a helpful hint for you. You know about the fancy Golden Years stuff your Personnel Department is feeding men like my husband before they retire. Well, it's a lot of pea shells. My husband, like most husbands, is not going off to a mountain top in retirement. He's coming home to stay, which means he's going to help me with the housework which means the dishes.
But you sent him home with no skill in this chore and with no conditioning to do it. Tell your Personnel experts to start putting men at the sink in the company cafeteria about three months before they retire, so they can get used to the life that's in front of them.

The next thing I need to know from you is how you handled my husband's drinking. This business of his keeping beer in the refrigerator and starting to drink it before lunch every day is shocking. And I'm surprised that you let employees get into this habit. How much beer did you serve employees on the job, and how did you keep my husband from drinking all afternoon?

I guess you don't have bedrooms down at the company, so it wouldn't be fair to suggest that you teach retiring employees how to make beds, sweep and such, also in their future when they come home. You don't have any bedrooms down there, do you?

Best Help

The best helpful hint I can give you, I think, is to stop retiring your employee's loyalty whenever you retire the employee. My husband came home riding a rah-rah bronco for the company and he would have punched anybody who said anything bad about it. Why didn't you train him to be a part-time commission salesman for the company's products after he retired? He could have sold on enthusiasm and devotion alone. You didn't follow through. You sent him home with a party and a bang. Then what did you do? You sent him the house organ. You big fellows don't follow through. And do you know where all that company loyalty goes after a man retires? It goes to the Social Security office and to the insurance company that sends him his pension. Your company makes appliances. Why didn't you train him to repair them in his retirement if you couldn't make him a salesman? He would have made housewives in this neighborhood think those appliances are the greatest thing since flush toilets. Because he'd BELIEVE it. But you didn't follow through and now, just one month out, he's beginning to think Social Security and Medicare have prettier legs than you do.

I need to know one more thing from you. What did you do to my husband to get him out of his pouts? He's a good pouter. He'll get mad at me for something and sit looking at daytime television all morning and not say a word to me. What did you do with him when he pouted at the company? Pet him? Kick him? What?
I think you owe me some serious consideration of these issues I have raised. I married my husband for 16 hours out of the 24, and for better or worse. Now you come along when he's not as much fun as he once was and give him to me for 24 hours out of the 24. And that is not necessarily for the better.

Please answer

Two Cars Catch Fire on Street

Minor fires which started in the engines of two cars Tuesday were reported to the Appleton Fire Department.

Louis Vanderhoof, 207 S. Walnut St., reported his car caught fire about 1:30 p.m. at Badger Avenue and Memorial Drive. Earl A. Breitenfeldt, 227 E. Winnebago St., reported his car caught fire at Durkee Street and Wisconsin Avenue about 4 p.m. Fires in both vehicles were confined to the engine area. The fire in the Breitenfeldt vehicle was extinguished by Appleton police.

The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Heuer and Stevens Funeral home. Friends may call until the time of services.

Paper Firm Plans Changes

Consolidated Will Install High Speed Blade Coating Unit

Plans for a major improvement program at the Wisconsin Rapids Division of Consolidated Papers, Inc. have been announced by Stanton W. Mead, company president.

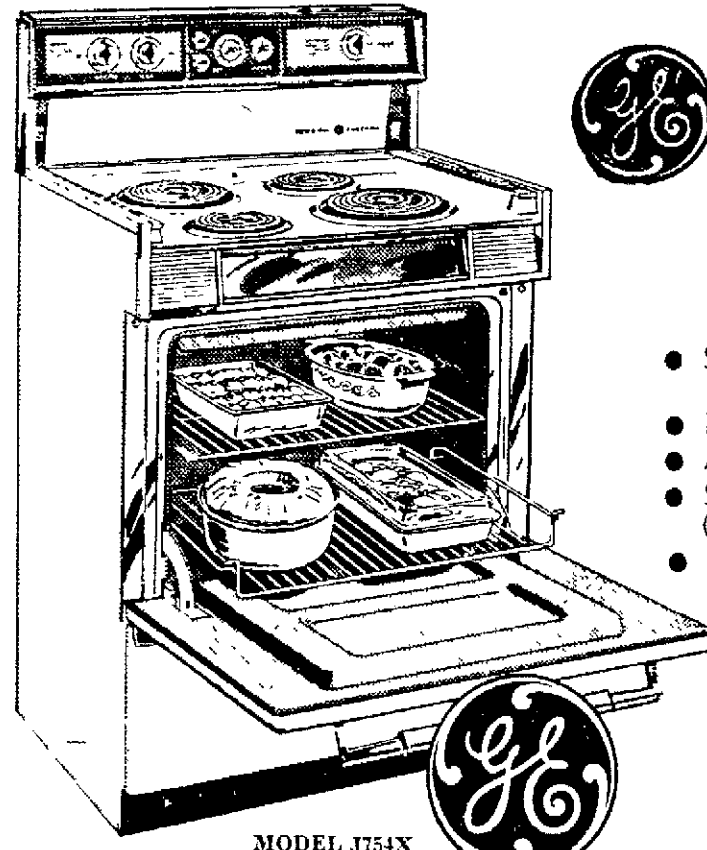

A high speed blade coater will be installed to further process enamel printing papers. A building addition to house the new machine modification, building add-on will be erected on piers over the Wisconsin River on the auxiliary equipment will exceed southeast corner of the division, $3,000,000.

"When this unit is completed next fall," Mead said, "we will be capable of blade-coating production from eight of our paper machines to meet continued demand for this type of paper."

The improvement program also will include the modification of another enamel paper machine to increase operating efficiency and productive capacity. Cost of the entire project including the paper supplied by Beloit Corporation.

Legendary Battleground

Road Now Travels Noted Khyber Pass

BY DAVID LANCASHIRE

KHYBER PASS, Pakistan (AP)—The clang of ancient battle seems to echo still from the limestone cliffs of this historic invasion route where Alexander the Great's soldiers marched into India and generations of British troops fought the Pathan tribesmen.

But now you can drive comfortably through Khyber Pass in a taxi and buy a porcelain bust of Abraham Lincoln or a bag of fresh popcorn on the way.

Silence hangs over the great mud fort of Janrud. The stone picket forts guarding the hillsides are empty of riflemen.

Tribesmen, with guns slung in their hands and chests latched with bandoliers of cartridges, smile and pose for pictures. The road that twists along 21 miles of Khyber Pass is a tourist route.

Under the colorful calm exterior, however, tribal passions still boil and the pass is once again a point of tension. American aid which poured through the famous mountain valley until last year is affected.

Cut through great brown shale and limestone walls, Khyber Pass joins West Pakistan and Afghanistan. Over the centuries foreign invaders have used it to conquer India—Greeks, Tartars, Moguls and Persians.

Jackie Visited There
Mrs. John F. Kennedy made a one-woman invasion of it this year, and villagers reminisce hungrily about the feast given in her honor.

British soldiers of the Indian army used to lead expedition after expedition through it for wars against Afghanistan and to subdue rifle-wielding tribesmen who created havoc on the frontier. In nearby Jagdalk Pass the Pathans wiped out a retreating British army of 16,000 men in 1841.

The Khyber is a restricted and loosely administered tribal area still. Visitors need a special entry pass from the Pakistan government. Tribal justice rules and shooting feuds are common.

Garishly colored buses and bulging with passengers, baggage, geese and chickens grind up the pass road. Hooded women in baggy trousers trek to their fortified mud villages with bundles of firewood on their heads.

Alongside runs a railway built with many tunnels in 1925. The tribesmen ride it free. A few years ago they shot a conductor who insisted on collecting fares.

In the nearby hamlet of Dera, villagers do a thriving business in tribal handicrafts—such as a hand-made rifle tool from torn-up railway tracks.

Tribal Affair
The political trouble that swirls around the pass today is another tribal affair. Pakistan and Afghanistan broke off diplomatic relations 15 months ago when Afghan diplomats were accused of fomenting strife and subversion among tribesmen in the frontier area.

Like most inhabitants along the Afghanistan border, the tribes speak the Pushtoo language. King Zahir's all-family government at Kabul claims the entire frontier area is "Free Pushtoonistan."

More than that, Kabul claims most of West Pakistan is "occupied Pushtoonistan."

Kabul traditionally has brought its imports through Pakistan—many of them through Khyber Pass. It stopped when the dispute arose. Pakistan lost a lucrative transport business, but Afghanistan may have cut off its nose to spite its face.

Now the country has no practical way of importing anything. Some goods still come in through the Soviet Union or follow an almost prohibitively expensive roundabout route through Iran.

The United States has virtually suspended aid since materials cannot be brought in. The dispute has not had much effect on life along the pass, except to cut down traffic.

The railway ends at the village of Landi Kotal, a smugglers' paradise. In the crowded bazaar, richly fragrant from bright mounds of curry and spices, illicit transistor radios blare oriental music.

Vendors sell popcorn, sugar cane and birds in wooden cages—or Japanese fountain pens, Swiss watches and English brushes.

Pakistan ends at Torkham, a few miles farther on with snow-wrapped peaks thrusting up in the distance.

Next to a shop that sells brassware and little heads of Buddha—and Abraham Lincoln—troops from the Khyber Rifles guard a gate heaving the green and white crescent of Pakistan.

From public loudspeakers both sides send propaganda blaring across the border and echoing up the pass.

ALL CHICKEN—just like people enjoy!

"We all like Mrs. Grass Soup BETTER..."

...except Jerry, he fights everything"

YOU KNOW how persnickety kids are about foods. Before each of 1,000 we set two bowls of noodle soup... Mrs. Grass and another famous brand. 3 out of 4 preferred Mrs. Grass. Number 4 probably hated soup, anyway.

THE "ALL-AMERICAN" KID GOES FOR MRS. GRASS SOUP BECAUSE:
It tastes home-made—mild, pleasing seasoning.
It has more flavor—chicken-y rich, because it has the exclusive Golden Nugget with its sealed-in chicken-y flavor.
It has more noodles—50% more than any other mix and it's so economical—25% more soup than other mixes.

Why not let Mrs. Grass make the soup in your house?

FRUIT JUICY

Here's a real 'dressed-up' cookie...

Chocolate MINT BARS

BIG JO CHOCOLATE MINT BARS
(This is a Big Jo Pre-sifted Flour recipe)
1/2 cup shortening 1 tsp vanilla
4 squares (4 oz) unsweetened chocolate 1 1/2 cups BIG JO All-Purpose Flour
2 cups brown sugar 1 tsp baking powder
3 eggs 1 tsp salt
MELT... shortening and chocolate together in top of double boiler. remove from heat
ADD... sugar, eggs and vanilla blend well
SPOON... flour (not sifted) into dry measuring cup. Level off and pour measured flour onto a square of waxed paper
ADD... baking powder and salt to flour (not sifted) and stir to blend
ADD... blended ingredients to chocolate mixture and mix well.
SPREAD... evenly in greased 9 x 13 inch oblong pan
BAKE... at 350° for 25-30 minutes. Cool thoroughly.
TOP... with Mint Frosting (below). Chill and glaze.
YIELD... 48 bars.
MINT FROSTING
2 cups powdered sugar 2 tbsp milk or cream
1/2 cup soft butter 1/2 tsp peppermint extract
COMBINE... all ingredients and mix until smooth. Tint with food coloring, if desired
SPREAD... on cooled chocolate base
REFRIGERATE... while preparing (Chocolate Glaze below).
CHOCOLATE GLAZE
2 squares (2 oz) unsweetened chocolate 2 tsp butter
MELT... chocolate and butter together over not a water. Remove from heat
DRIBBLE... over cooled, firm filling. Spread gently with spatula until surface is covered. Let cool until firm. Cut into bars.

It's an outstanding chocolate bar cookie... with a delicious mint frosting... and a dark chocolate glaze. Here's a cookie that's out of this world when made with Big Jo Flour.

For over 75 years Midwest homemakers have praised Big Jo as their secret of better baking. You will, too, once you've tried it. Big Jo Flour is pre-sifted, so you need never sift again for anything you bake. Buy Big Jo at your grocer's now!

13-Year-Old Doesn't Know 'Facts of Life'

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. don't want to bore my own Dear Dr. Molner When should youngsters (Actually, mine are parents tell their daughters the now well beyond their teens.) But "facts of life"? I'm 13 and have I do want them to know anything not been told yet What should I can tell them, any time they I do?—M.C.

Dr. Molner

Good question, M.C. And a good terse, sensible note

By the age of 13, girls (or boys) have acquired some knowledge of the "facts of life." If they happen to live on a farm they know a lot of them

However the youngsters in cities (as in the majority, don't have that advantage. On the other hand, maybe they hear more both correct and incorrect from their schoolmates.

Now parents are sometimes quite a bit in the dark. (Believe me, I know what I'm talking about I'm a parent, too!) We're never quite sure what our children know or don't know. Nor do we know what they are curious about, unless they ask us

Some Too Shy

There are all kinds of parents. Some are too shy to talk much, some are too intent on telling their children everything they can think of, regardless of whether the youngsters are ready for such information. And nearly all of us are afraid, frankly that if we start talking about some of these things, our children will say "Aw Pop, (or, Gee, Mother) I already knew THAT!" So we tend to put off our discussions. Not that we are unwilling, but we don't want to sound like dopes.

We'd rather I think this is true of most of us have our youngsters ask specific questions whenever they are puzzled or curious "What's venereal disease?" "Why is petting dangerous?" "What's wrong with going steady?" How long does it take for the baby to grow before it is born?"

I recall, from some years back, a nice lady explaining (in the manner of her day) that "The stork is going to bring you a baby brother." And I remember, with satisfaction, that the little girl, then about 3, tactfully whispered to her mother "Shouldn't you tell Auntie that babies really grow in mamas' stomachs?"

If I were 13, I'd wait until one of my parents had a bit of spare time, and then ask something that I really wanted to know. I wouldn't say, "I'm old enough to learn the facts of life," or anything like that. I'd ask some specific question, and the form of the question itself would be a pretty good indication of what I did and what I didn't know already.

Get it started, and from then on, it's easy. At least, that's the way I hope I'd do it—if I were 13. I know for sure that that's the way I'd like the question to be brought to me. I

Caesarean Section
Dear Dr. Molner Is it true that three is the maximum number of children a woman should have by Caesarean? Should they be spaced at least two years apart?—W. G.

There's no set rule about the "maximum" number or frequency. A couple of years between pregnancies is a good thing, but if a Caesarean is required, there is little choice.

Dear Dr. Molner What is Tietze's syndrome?—Mrs H A It's a disorder of the joint where one of the upper ribs joins the breast bone. It can become sore and swollen. The cause is not known. It may subside by itself otherwise injection of hydrocortisone may hasten healing. It is uncomfortable but not serious.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Thieves Order Victim to Write Check

CHICAGO (AP)—A manager of a loan company played an unwilling Santa Claus for two robbers Tuesday after they grumbled that the $60 they took from him was not enough for Christmas shopping.

The gunmen told Donald McCarthy, manager of a loan company in suburban Oak Lawn, "Write out a check for $800."

McCarthy wrote out a check to "Joe Orland" as he was directed. The robber leader, who had a 38-caliber revolver, then told his companion to take the check to a nearby currency exchange and cash it.

At the currency exchange a clerk asked for identification and the robber said: "Call McCarthy at the Mid-Chicago Loan Company. He'll tell you the check is O.K."

The clerk telephoned the company and McCarthy answered. "The check is O.K.," McCarthy told the currency exchange clerk.

But McCarthy didn't tell the caller that a robber had a revolver against McCarthy's head.

When the check passer returned, I'd do it—if I were 13. I know for sure that that's the way I'd like the question to be brought to me. I

Work Encouraged by Change of Atmosphere, Publisher Declares

The Project 70 committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce has created an atmosphere among business people and merchants that is very different from a year ago, V. I. Minahan, publisher of the Appleton Post-Crescent, told the committee today.

The very fact that the Project 70 committee exists and people know community leaders are concerned about city planning and improvement has encouraged work in these areas, he said.

Project 70 helped prepare the public mind for the formation of a city planning department and a comprehensive city plan, now being worked on by the city council, he said. Definite progress has been made in creation of this atmosphere and in publicizing the need for planning and improvement, he added.

Present Program

"Project 70 has accomplished something very definite in its year and a quarter of existence," Minahan said. "Perhaps this has been more psychological than anything else, but that is one of the most important things a group like this can do."

The committee passed a motion to recommend that the Chamber of Commerce board plan a meeting soon with members of the city council at which the Project 70 committee will present a program on its work.

Harold Adams, president of the First National Bank, said Project 70 must keep an eye on two things at the same time — the city as a whole, and the downtown area. "We must try to keep two balls in the air at the same time," he said.

He proposed that the committee develop a written statement of its purposes, goals and methods and refer to it frequently.

Minahan noted that Project 70 had started with the downtown area and then its interest became city-wide. "I think Project 70 should concern itself somewhat with the whole region because the welfare and progress of Appleton is inextricably mixed with the welfare and progress of the Fox Cities region," he said.

Dependent on Area

Appleton is very dependent on the area around it, he said. For example, a regional thoroughfare authority would be of tremendous importance to Appleton, he pointed out.

W. T. Bernhard, committee chairman, agreed, but asked, "How thin can you spread yourself?"

City planner Walter C. Rasmussen suggested that Project 70 might play an important role as a communications center for the three regional planning commissions in this area — Fox Valley, Wolf River and Brown County. In 10, 20 or 50 years their work will be interrelated, and the basis for communication must be laid now, he said.

Rasmussen said the Project 70 committee had made "admirable progress," and listed accomplishments in which it had had a part as the new parking ramp, the second ramp being planned, the introduction of greenery in the downtown area with the drive-in bank, the fact that the three banks are building, and the coming Public Service Commission hearing on the Washington and Franklin street crossings.

It's Important

It is important now that Appleton get a comprehensive city plan of its own to "help preserve the integrity of the regional plan," he said. Appleton has a responsibility as a leader because of its central city character, and is being watched by other communities in the area, he said.

Other related needs are a land use inventory to see the trends, and a continuation of the traffic study in conjunction with the state highway department, he said.

Walter Johnson, state planning director with the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development, spoke briefly to the committee and answered questions. The comprehensive city plan must take up where the regional plan leaves off, he said.

Troop 2 Honors Scoutmaster Who Is Retiring After 38 Years in Job

Harold H. Brown of Appleton, who will retire Jan. 1 after 38 years as scoutmaster of Troop 2, was honored at a Court of Honor dinner at the First Methodist Church.

Richard Neider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Neider, received an Eagle Scout award at the Court of Honor ceremony, as the 54th scout to receive the Eagle award under Brown's leadership.

About 125 persons attended the dinner, including many of the Eagle scouts and others who "graduated" from Troop 2. Some traveled a considerable distance to attend.

Howard Bandy, Marinette, president of the Nicolet Council of the Boy Scouts and one of "Brownie's" Eagle Scouts from Troop 2, was toastmaster.

Brown will continue to be active in scouting through work in the Valley Council.

Richard Boardman was introduced as the new scoutmaster of Troop 2 by Charles Scribner, institutional representative of the First Methodist Church to Troop 2. Boardman has been in scouting for many years as an assistant scoutmaster, and was scoutmaster of a troop in Beloit.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Thode were in charge of organizing the potluck supper for parents and guests of Troop 2 and Explorer Post 2. Scribner and Dexter Wolfe were chairmen of the recognition program for Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

A plaque designed and made by troop committee members was presented to Brown, and a corsage was presented for Mrs. Brown.

The "assistant scoutmaster" of the troop, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Ray Renier, council advisor for the Order of the Arrow, an honorary camping order to which Brown belongs, spoke on behalf of the order.

Eagles Attend

Eagle Scouts from Troop 2 who attended the dinner were: Dexter Wolfe, Dr. Fred Marshall, Robert Van Dyke, Gordon Neider, John Mumme, Ward Meythaler, Edward Sager, David Polard and Ralph Hayden. Guests included Valley Council executives.

After Boardman was introduced as the future scoutmaster of Troop 2, he and committee members conducted a Court of Honor for the troop and post advancement. Explorer scouts led an opening ceremony, followed by presentation of awards to 31 boys.

The Rev. Marvin Schilling, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and the Rev. James Vahey conducted the Eagle award ceremony. Mrs. Neider presented the badge to her son, Richard. His brother, Gordon, received the Eagle award last year, and his younger brother John is a scout in Troop 2.

29 Merit Badges

Awards presented included 29 merit badge awards to 11 scouts. E. Peter Reynolds is chairman of Troop 2. Philip Ottman and Don Henderson, advisors to Explorer Post 2, were present.

Troop 2 was organized in 1919 and is the oldest Boy Scout troop in the Valley Council. Dr. Guy Carlson, one of its first scoutmasters, attended the dinner.

James Reaves, life scout, presented a gift from the scouts of Troop 2 to Brown Dwight Donelson, Valley Council scout executive, addressed the group.

More than 530 scouts have passed through Troop 2 under Brown's leadership. Bandy read letters and telegrams from many scouts and adults unable to attend the dinner.

Moroccan King Will Visit U. S. in March

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II said Wednesday he will visit the United States during the last two weeks of March. The young king, at the first news conference he has ever held, also said he would visit France soon but no date had been set.

Mail 4,787 Vote Notices In Appleton

The Appleton city clerk's office has mailed notices to 4,787 local residents who have not voted during the last two years.

"The figure might reach the 5,000 mark," City Clerk Elden Broehm said today, adding that registration lists of the final three wards have yet to be checked.

Persons who were registered but did not vote in any election during the past two years must be reinstated as eligible voters.

In recent weeks they have been sent notices which must be filled out and returned to the city clerk's office within 30 days to have their registrations reinstated, otherwise registrations will be cancelled as per the state law.

Notice Returned

"Approximately 50 per cent of the people have returned the notice cards evidencing reinstatement of registrations," Broehm reported.

Broehm said the 4,787 figure represented "an unusually high number," and that in the past totals ranged from 1,500 to 2,000.

In Week to 10 Days

Appleton Will Have 17 Ice Skating Rinks

Within the next week or 10 days, the City of Appleton will have 17 ice rinks ready.

Elmer W. Grover, city recreation director, said today construction of rinks at Jones and Mead parks, and McKinley School, started earlier in the week. "There isn't too much frost in the ground so it will take about a week to get those rinks in shape," Grover said.

The work is being done by crews of the Appleton Park Board. Grover said he had no idea when all the rinks would be finished and open to the public.

For the first time this year a neighborhood rink is being built at St. Pius School, and there will be a hockey rink at Erb Park.

Supervised Rinks

Only two rinks — Jones and Mead Parks — will have adult supervision and warming facilities for youngsters.

Jones Park will have two rinks, one for general skating and the other hockey.

Other skating centers will be at Huntley, Columbus, Lincoln, Edison, Foster, McKinley and Xavier High schools, in addition to Pierce, Alicia, Arbutus and Linwood parks and Goodland Field and Memorial Drive.

Skating hours at Jones and Mead will be from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and Sunday, and on Saturday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Grover said parents should warn their children that no neighborhood skating will be permitted at Erb Park because it will be strictly a hockey rink.

In keeping with past policy, Grover said, there will be no warming facilities at the parks and schools. He said there would be some benches for people to sit down.

Proxmire Speaks Against Present Federal Tax Cut

Senator Favors Balanced Budget, Economy in Government Outlay

KAUKAUNA — Sen. William Proxmire advised Rotarians to protest a federal tax cut when he spoke at a luncheon at the Elks Club Wednesday. The Senator, at the present time, favors a balanced budget and more economy in government.

Voicing objection to the proposed tax cut, Proxmire warned of a national debt which would eventually become overly burdensome for the public. He termed this a period of relative prosperity and felt budgets must be balanced at times like these.

A reduction in spending as the economy grows and tax revenues increase is one way of balancing the budget, said the speaker. He advocated reducing spending in all phases of government and deplored the national defense space budgets, two areas in which it is deemed the most difficult areas to cut spending, as examples of waste in government.

Continued production of B-52 bombers and RS-70 reconnaissance planes were two examples of needless defense expenditures given by Sen. Proxmire. Production of the bombers call for an expenditure of $520 million, stated Proxmire, and planes coming off assembly lines are going into mothballs.

Meanwhile defense experts agree these bombers will soon be obsolete, being replaced by missiles. The RS-70 plane is not adaptable to the missile age, yet government continues to purchase these planes from the national defense budget, stated the senator. "Too often we are purchasing obsolete weapons merely to maintain the economy of a community or state in which these weapons are being manufactured," he continued.

Space Program
Pointing to the space program budget which has increased from $530 million in 1960 to $3.7 billion in 1963, Sen. Proxmire called the program "the biggest publicity snow job in this generation and one program which the budget bureau is afraid to cut."

"Scientists maintain the space program is not utilizing research equipment to capacity now, yet in purchase of duplicate equipment continues," he said. He termed waste in the space program "fantastic" and used as an example a space station in Houston which originally was estimated at $60,000,000 for construction, but which has already passed the $200,000,000 mark.

An example of waste in the farm program was the Glen Elgin dam being constructed in Kansas to make useable 21,000 acres of land on which feed grain will be produced. This occurs despite a fantastic surplus of feed space in this country, and is opposed by 90 per cent of Kansas farmers, stated Proxmire.

In objecting to a $10,000,000 aquarium being built in Washington, D. C., the senator stated, "people coming to Washington do not come to see fish, at least not those found in an aquarium." He also spoke against a mass transition program being studied by congress, one which will cost hundreds of millions of dollars to benefit large cities.

Lack of Discipline
He deplored the "lack of discipline in the federal government" and advocated a firm policy of "cut in spending before advocating a cut in taxes." He advised that foreign aid be reduced.

The senator felt the Cuban situation was encouraging, but could not be considered solved until ground inspection is secured. He advocated bringing Castro to his knees through economic pressures.

Sen. Proxmire was introduced by Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon and appeared at the meeting through the efforts of C. L. Dostal, program chairman.

Harbaugh Wednesday night denied cost figures other than those appearing in Post-Crescent stories. His best recollection, he said, was a possible Lake Michigan water pipeline to serve the Fox Cities, a figure of about $10 million for Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

Harbaugh, when questioned by councilman John Fitzgerald, said his remarks to an Appleton Post-Crescent reporter were misinterpreted in an editorial in the Sunday Post-Crescent.

The editorial stated that with Fond du Lac and Oshkosh out of the picture, the study of the proposal could be confined to the Fox Cities area.

Harbaugh said Oshkosh is committed to expansion of its present water plant and treatment basin, but denied saying the city would never be interested in the Lake Michigan proposal. Plans call for doubling the treatment capacity of the Oshkosh water plant to serve projected population needs to 1985. The city gets all of its water from Lake Winnebago.

Harbaugh said the council has never taken any action on such a proposed pipeline, one way or the other.

Council President Robert Stauffer said he has never seen any cost figures other than those appearing in Post-Crescent stories. His best recollection, he said, was a possible Lake Michigan water pipeline to serve the Fox Cities, a figure of about $10 million for Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

AAL Makes 2 Appointments

William A. Selle Named Director of Fraternal Affairs

Two appointments to the home office staff of Aid Association for Lutherans have been announced by Walter L. Rugland, president.

William A. Selle, 821 North Appleton St., has accepted the newly created position of Staff Assistant to the director of fraternal affairs.

E. James Dreyer, Wheeling, Ill., has been appointed to the new position of assistant to the superintendent of agents. Both appointments are effective Jan. 1, 1963.

Selle has been employed at George Walter Brewing Co. for the past 22 years, where he last served as office manager. He has been secretary of the Wisconsin Federation of AAL Branches for the past five years, and has served as secretary of the AAL local branch at Mt. Olive Lutheran Church for 11 years. In his new position, Selle will assist Gerald C. Herzfeldt, director of fraternal affairs, in an expanded program of local branch and federation activities.

Selle is vice president of the Appleton Downtown Kiwanis Club and a member of the executive board of the Outagamie County chapter of the American Red Cross. Selle has served as president of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, vice president of district five of the Wisconsin Jaycees, and in 1959 was named Mr. Badger Jaycee of the Year.

In 1955, the Appleton Jaycees named Selle Appleton Young Man of the Year.

Dreyer has been an AAL district representative in the Chicago area for six years. He is a graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and Washburn College, Chicago. He is a member of the National Association of Life Underwriters. In his new position at the Appleton home office, Dreyer will assist Edward A. Merten, assistant vice president and superintendent of agents, in field supervision functions and activities.

Oshkosh Man Denies
Drunken Driving Charge

OSHKOSH — Jack Paulsen, 32, 268 W. Wind Rd., Oshkosh, Wednesday denied a drunken driving charge and further proceedings were set for Dec. 21. He was released without bond.

Paulsen was arrested by state police Tuesday afternoon on W. Wind Road, near U. S. 41.

Two Ex-Aldermen, Tax Group Head Oppose Parts of '63 Budget

Neenah Okays Expenditures Of $6,122,179

NEENAH — More than a half dozen Neenah residents became involved in a three-hour discussion of the merits of the city's record budget Wednesday night during a public hearing at the Neenah Junior High School.

The city adopted a record budget of $6,122,179.44 with an accompanying gross tax rate of $22.30 per $1,000 valuation.

Said Gilbert Krueger, 418 Park Drive, a former alderman, in a prepared four-page statement:

"My concern at this time is not primarily for myself but for the many thousands of individuals who before have felt the sting of a tremendous upsurge in property taxes brought about to a great degree by the reappraisal program which facts point out was neither necessary at this time, or was it carried out with the accuracy one should expect from a project costing $54,000."

Protests Reevaluation

"I protest payment already made to this firm (United Appraisal Co.) and if any balance of payment is due, ask that it be withheld until they audit the work they have already done. We should not expect the personnel in our assessor's department to spend time and additional taxpayer money detecting and correcting the mistakes."

Krueger also protested payments to the regional planning program for which he said the city already has paid out $19,000 and has another $4,114 budgeted. The Neenah Board of Education became involved in the public hearing when Leonard Hedberg, 615 Monroe St., also a former alderman, said:

"Much has been cut from outlay for city expenditures but litigation who neglected to pay 18 over-rides with respect to curtailing night parking tickets in February and March was fined a total of $60 Wednesday by Judge James V. Sitter.

Judge Sitter fined Carol Mathewson, 2120 Minnesota St., $2 each for the first five tickets, $3 each for the second five, $4 each for the third five, and $5 each for the last three.

To which Paul Groth, president of the Neenah School Board, reacted: "With our present summer school program, some of the city's school facilities are already being used for a longer period of time — 190 days per year to be exact. Groth emphasized some school systems which used school facilities for longer periods reversion back to regular schedules. Some dissension was also reflected by Neenah aldermen as three cast negative votes when the budget ordinance was put to a vote. Voting in the negative were Aldermen Anton E. Dix, Fifth Ward; Carl B. Coenen, Sixth Ward; and Kenneth Parman, Seventh.

"As long as we're on the subject of education," Henry Young, Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers Association President, hastened to interject. "I should like to know if an athletic aristocracy is being developed by our present approach to athletics. Does our present athletic program and policies, for example, work as a detriment as far as the other 80 or 90 per cent of the student body is concerned?"

"No I don't believe that our present athletic program, especially at Neenah High, creates an athletic aristocracy," Groth retorted. "Especially when you consider how well rounded the program is and how it is supplemented by intramural sports."

Approximately 100 Neenah residents braved frigid weather Wednesday night to hear three hours of dissenting opinion concerning Neenah's record 1963 budget of $6,122,179.44.

Neglects 18 Parking Tickets; Woman Fined

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh woman who neglected to pay 18 over-rides with respect to curtailing night parking tickets in February and March was fined a total of $60 Wednesday by Judge James V. Sitter.

Judge Sitter fined Carol Mathewson, 2120 Minnesota St., $2 each for the first five tickets, $3 each for the second five, $4 each for the third five, and $5 each for the last three.

Test Borings Started at Site Of New YWCA in Twin Cities

NEENAH — Test borings are the kind of footings to support a new building made at the Neenah building. Six borings were to be made at the Neenah building. Six borings were to be made at the Neenah building.

The organization last week announced plans for a building survey and work on the site location. The YWCA owns the property at the corner and the ledge or boulders. The test borings being made work will extend over several days.

The test borings will be made to determine the bearing value of the soil and subsequently to know YWCA staff and survey committee are studying potential location in relation to parking facilities, walking distance for Y-Teens from both cities and proximity to businessmen and others who might use facilities of a new building during lunch hours and after work.

Building 85 Years Old

The Neenah - Menasha YWCA moved into its present location in 1929. The remodeled former residence, more than 85 years old, has housed the varied activities of the Y and has served as a meeting place for many other organizations for many years. The building, however, is proving to be inadequate because of overcrowding and a potential new building would allow for expanded program in many directions.

Man Pleads Guilty To Morals Charge

OSHKOSH — Arthur C. Grahn, 831 Oneida St., Oshkosh, was found guilty Wednesday by Judge James V. Sitter of taking indecent liberties with a 9-year old girl near the Municipal Golf Course Sept. 1.

Grahn was ordered committed to the sex deviate center at Central State Hospital for examination before sentencing.

3 Per Cent City Wage Hike Voted

Kaukauna Group Will Suggest Boost To Common Council

KAUKAUNA — The finance committee of the common council voted to recommend to the council a general 3 per cent increase for workers not previously granted pay hikes effective Jan. 1 along with salary adjustments for several officials.

Salary adjustments range from $98 to $204 per year above the 3 per cent raise. Not affected by raises are aldermen, the mayor, school board members, utility commission members and fire and police commission members.

Recommended for flat percent age increases are deputy clerk, civil defense director, city nurse, treasurer, sealer of weights and measure, assessor health officer and assistant, treatment plant operator, and bridge tenders.

The committee recommended a $7,100 per year salary for the city clerk raising him from $6,695 which would represent a $204 adjustment above 3 per cent. Director of public works was changed from $8,071 to $8,500, an adjustment of $186 over the per cent. The city attorney was changed from $4,500 to $4,800, an adjustment of $165 and the fire and police chief salaries were increased from $6,293 to $6,680, an increase of $176 above the 3 per cent.

Adjustments also were made for the police lieutenant municipal justice and city stenographer. Other changes recommended to the council include establishment of two captains on the fire department with a $15 per month Schmidt, Dave Koerner and Ira Collins.

Book Store Owner Fined, Told To Stop 'Under-Counter' Sales

Mrs. Gerald Schleis, owner and operator of Jerry's Pipe Shop, 304 E. College Ave., charged with selling lewd and obscene magazines, changed her innocent plea to one of no contest Wednesday and was fined $200 in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

County Judge Gustave Keller also ordered that 332 magazines confiscated by Appleton police who entered her store with a search warrant Nov. 15, were to be destroyed by noon today.

Mrs. Schleis pleaded innocent of the charge Nov. 23 and was to stand trial Jan. 23. Her attorney said she made her change of plea "because she could not stand the strain of a trial."

Mrs. Schleis was told by the court to discontinue the practice in her store of selling under-the-counter books. She said her clerks sold the books only to persons over 21 years of age and were kept under the counters so minors would not see them.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer told the court "the misfortune in the case is that, in spite of restrictions on the sale of magazines, they do find themselves into the hands of the very young."

The magazines were brought to the attention of the Appleton police by the Kaukauna Police Department, which had been called in to investigate several of the magazines which were found at the Kaukauna High School among several students.

The magazines were sold to the students by a Kaukauna man who has been sent to the Central State Hospital for an examination after he pleaded guilty to morals offenses involving the boys.

Delivery of 600 Dolls to Get Underway

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer, 169 Gruenwald Ave., will begin delivery this weekend of the more than 600 dolls they have refurbished this year to be given to needy and handicapped children. On Sunday, the couple will deliver dolls and toys to children in the University and Wisconsin General Hospitals in Madison and to crippled children in Watertown.

The couple travels from 600 to 800 miles each year delivering the toys to children.

Among those who assisted the Neenah pair with the refurbishing of dolls were Mrs. Gertrude Mielke, Mrs. Arthur Lornson, Miss Margaret Schindler, Mrs. Myra Angell, Mrs. May Ries, Dillon, and Mrs. Lillian Kulisek and Mrs. Mary Bednarik, both of Cleveland, Ohio. The Montana and Ohio women sewed clothes for the dolls, mailing them to Mrs. Meyer. Numerous area individuals contributed dolls and toys for boys to the couple.

Menashan Gets Term in Waupun

OSHKOSH — Raymond Butelewski, 45, 366 Ahnap St., Menasha, was sentenced to consecutive terms of up to five years at Waupun State Prison by Judge James V. Sitter for check forgery.

Butelewski had previously pleaded guilty of stealing two checks from the mail, one in April and the other in June, and forging the endorsements.

Lindbergh Doesn't Follow Father's Steps

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A new business called Explosive Engineering Corp. has been started by Jon Lindbergh, son of Charles Lindbergh, the famous trans-Atlantic flier.

Jon Lindbergh has engaged in undersea surveys since a hitch in the Navy here following graduation from Stanford University. His new company will handle underwater explosive jobs.

New Art Studies Avoiding Taxes

Firm Calls Method a Response To Today's Crushing Burdens

BY EDWIN A. LAHEY

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—Now we have a fine art called "taxmanship." It is devoted to the study of avoidance (as distinguished from evasion) of taxes.

The monthly survey of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York describes this art as follows: "Taxmanship, a term sometimes applied to avoidance in its more intricate forms, might be called the active response to today's crushing tax burdens."

The bank estimates that there are at least 100,000 people in the United States, mostly lawyers and accountants, who make their full time living in "taxmanship." This estimate does not include thousands of employees and executives of business firms who spend all or part of their working time on tax matters.

These experts in "taxmanship" have a busy season ahead of them.

Shift Burden

The internal revenue service has begun public hearings to discuss the proposed revisions covering the deductibility of certain entertainment, gift, and travel expenses for business men. These hearings will bring out the best in these experts on "taxmanship." Their interpretive skills will at-so get a challenge from changes pending in the federal tax structure. There is talk of a reduction in federal taxes, also of a reform in the revenue code. The word "reform" actually means a shift in the burden, when taxes are involved.

The specialists in "taxmanship" will have a great new field for interpretation in 1963, whether we have tax reduction, tax reform, or both.

There's a lot of talent going down the drain in the pursuit of "taxmanship," the Morgan Guaranty Trust editors believe.

They put the matter this way: "The degree to which present taxation forces the defensive deployment of time and talent represents a deplorable waste."

The bank report offers many examples of "taxmanship," including the practice of giving non-taxable compensation to valued executives through deferred payments, living quarters, etc.

Because of the thought patterns of "taxmanship," many business decisions are made with too much preoccupation with tax consequences, the Morgan Guaranty report suggests.

Minor Savings

For example, minor savings in cost seem less worth the effort if someone points out that the executive actually is only saving 48 cents out of every dollar saved, in view of the 52 per cent profit tax.

Conversely, expenditures can be made to look less formidable when it is pointed out that the dollars being spent are really worth only 48 cents each.

The thought pattern of "taxmanship" may well have influenced the wage-price spiral of the last 15 years, the bank editors suggest.

"It is possible to conjecture that postwar cost increases in the U.S. would have been less sharp if industry's wage negotiators had not been operating in the knowledge that about half the cost of increases would go to taxes if it didn't go to payroll expense."

The editors at Morgan Guaranty express the belief that if tax rates "were pitched at more moderate levels," the game of hide-and-seek between the Internal Revenue Service and the experts in "taxmanship" might slow down a little.

"Much of the energy and effort now devoted to avoidance could be saved," they conclude.

Leadership of NFO President Being Challenged

BY RON SPEER

DES MOINES (AP)—Oren Lee Staley's leadership of the National Farmers Organization is being challenged for the first time since the Midwest farm group was formed seven years ago.

But the 39-year-old farmer from Rea, Mo., expressed confidence today he will survive the bids of two NFO officials to unseat him as president, a post he has won without opposition since he became the NFO's first national president in 1955.

"I am sure the delegates will give support to the advances the NFO has made since I have been president," Staley said at the start of a two-day convention. Staley defended the NFO's 32-day holding action on livestock and grain last fall by pointing to several long-term contracts the NFO secured to keep grain warehouses filled with members' grain, and also claimed several processors of dairy products have agreed to contracts. However, Harold Woodward, 39, today he will survive the bids of two NFO officials to unseat him as president, a post he has won without opposition since he became the NFO's first national president in 1955.

Kennedy Will Take Part in Ground Breaking

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will take part in ground-breaking ceremonies at the site of the 1964 New York World's Fair on Friday, the White House announced today.

Kennedy will speak briefly at the event after landing early Friday afternoon in New York, where he will address the Economic Club that night.

Kennedy expects to return to Washington sometime Saturday.

Mrs. Kennedy and their two children plan to fly from the capital Friday to Palm Beach, Fla., to begin an extended Christmas vacation. The President will join them on Dec. 20 after his conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan near Nassau in the Bahamas.

Drop Appeal in Stevens Point Murder Verdict

Circuit Judge Denies Motion to Take Case To Supreme Court

STEVENS POINT — The planned appeal of the verdict of the Majid Amini murder trial was dropped Monday after Circuit Judge Herbert A. Bunde denied the prosecution's motion to take the case to the State Supreme Court.

Amini was found innocent of the slaying of Richard Dombrowski, 28, route 2, Amherst, by reason of insanity in Circuit Court Nov. 30, the time.

The 27-year-old former Stevens

Point State College student from there was one iota of doubt that the issue of insanity should be submitted," said Judge Bunde. Tuesday morning by Portage County sheriff's authorities.

He may apply at any time for review of his mental condition. When an application is filed, Circuit Court must appoint two medical authorities to determine whether he is sane and mentally responsible and whether he is likely to have a recurrence of insanity.

He will be released or recommended, dependent upon their findings. Hospital commitment is required by law after this verdict.

Motion for Appeal

The prosecution motioned for appeal because it said Judge Bunde erred when he permitted the jury to decide on the issue of insanity. Judge Bunde said, "If I had any doubts in my mind as to whether the issue of insanity should have been submitted to the jury, I'd have questioned it at the time."

Appleton High Yule Concert to be Sunday

More than 200 Appleton High School students in the orchestra, band and chorus will present the annual Christmas concert at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The program will feature Christmas music and other appropriate selections. During the interludes between the three groups, a brass choir will perform Christmas carols.

For the first time in recent years there will be no admission charge to the concert, which is open to the public.

Appleton Man Pleads No Contest To Theft Charge

Allen Hohn, 24, 2004 W. Second St., pleaded no contest to a charge of theft from his employer Wednesday when arraigned before County Judge Gustave Keller in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2. He was found guilty.

Judge Keller ordered a presentence investigation and continued the case until Dec. 26. Hohn is being held in jail in lieu of a $500 bond.

The Appleton Police Department was asked by the Fleet Wholesale Supply Co., 1700 W. Wisconsin Ave., to conduct an investigation when the manager noted cash and items missing.

Hohn admitted to police in a statement he took items valued at about $81 and cash totaling about $150. A detective said Hohn.

Seeks Tough Steps Against Katanga

Thant Bolstered By Support of Debt Appeal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Heartened by strong support for his appeal to U.N. members to pay their share of the Congo debt, Secretary-General U. Thant summoned his advisory committee today to consider tough new steps against Katanga.

The 110-nation budgetary committee voted 75-17 with 14 abstentions to accept a World Court opinion that U.N. members are legally bound to pay assessments for such special peacekeeping operations as the U.N. Congo force.

The committee's action assured approval by the General Assembly. That will provide a legal basis for moves to suspend voting rights of nations that are two years behind in their assessments. However, both the Soviet Union and France have said they will ignore the assembly action, and it seemed most unlikely the assembly would ever take the vote away from two of the five permanent members of the organization.

The committee vote was seen as a victory for Thant, who declared that the United Nations cannot survive as an effective instrument unless members help pay off the $130-million Congo debt.

It was also a triumph for the United States and Britain, who sponsored the resolution with 17 other nations. Both powers warned that defeat of the measure might force them to reconsider their positions as major financial contributors to the United Nations.

Adlai Thanks African For Introductory Luncheon Remarks

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was introduced at a luncheon in New York and said he was so flattered by the introductory remarks that "I almost wish I were running for office."

Chief S. O. Adebore, Nigerian ambassador to the world body, said in a speech at the luncheon "that I was secretly praying that Stevenson would become the president of the United States." At that, Stevenson stood up, shook hands with the ambassador and thanked him. "Of course," said the chief, "these things are not always done logically."

Cuba Regulates Shoe Distribution in '63

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Laborers and students will be given priority in the distribution of shoe rations next year, Havana radio said Wednesday.

The Ministry of Internal Commerce will regulate the shoe ration under a scheme requiring all buyers to have a special card for the purpose, said a broadcast monitored here.

Havana radio said the 1963 shoe production goal had been fixed at 16 million pairs. The same station announced a few days ago a goal of 17 million pairs, allowing each person two pairs a year.

Can't Dial Direct—Yet

Kennedy Writes Letter to Nikita But He Doesn't Send It by Mail

BY PHILIP MEYER

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — When President Kennedy sends a message to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, he does not paste on an 11-cent stamp and drop it in the corner mail box.

On the other hand, he can't pick up a waiting phone and say, "Hello, Nik, this is Jack," although this has been suggested.

Diplomatic communications travel at a speed somewhere between that of surface mail and a direct telephone line. In an emergency, such as the recent Cuban crisis, we get our messages to the Kremlin in about two hours.

The President and the premier exchange their notes at 12½ cents a word through the standard commercial carriers: Western Union, Radio Corp. of America, and American Cable and Radio Corp.

All three can send words across the Atlantic as fast as a competent typist can turn them out. Most of the two hours is taken up by diplomatic procedures.

State Department spokesman Joseph Reap says it works like this:

Mr. Kennedy writes his letter at the White House. A messenger trots out of the west wing and hand carries it six blocks to the State Department.

Put in Code

There it is transcribed into code. A teletype operator punches the coded version into a machine. It emerges as a strip of perforated tape in a commercial cable office nearby.

An operator there feeds the tape into another transmitter that relays the message to the company's communications center in New York. Here, an RCA official says, it is simply a matter of taking the tape out of one machine and feeding it into another which is connected to Moscow-beamed radio transmitter on Long Island.

A receiver at the Ministry of Communications in Moscow sorts out subtle shifts in frequency and translates them into electronic impulses to produce a printed message on a teletype.

The Ministry of Communications delivers this to the American Embassy. It is decoded there and taken to the Soviet Foreign Office—the equivalent of our State Department.

The Foreign Office delivers it to Khrushchev.

Coding and decoding take the most time and, according to REAP, can sometimes be skipped. When coding isn't necessary messages are sometimes delivered to the Soviet embassy here which then takes the responsibility for passing them on to Khrushchev.

It was the fast commercial service that made it possible for the President to send a proposal to Khrushchev and get an acceptance back in a matter of hours at the height of the Cuban crisis. The diplomatic codes insured the privacy of both message and answer.

Since then there has been a continuing series of Kennedy-Khrushchev exchanges, very little of which has been made public.

It is possible, of course, that a crisis might develop that would make this means of communication too slow. If it should happen between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., the chances are that the President could get through to Moscow in a matter of minutes by picking up the nearest telephone.

American Telephone and Telegraph maintains direct radio circuits to Moscow during those hours, which in Moscow time are 3:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Any other time, the call would go to some point in Western Europe and be relayed by land line.

The phone company is working at improving this service.

Eventually, possibly in the next decade, the President or anybody else will be able to dial the Kremlin directly.

Century-Old Woman Dies, Swore by Spicy Food, Rum

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Josefina Encarnacion, a tiny woman who loved cigars and children almost equally is dead.

She was 112, 114 or 115 years old, no one knew for sure, not even Mrs. Encarnacion.

"Too many years have gone by for me to remember," she once said.

Mrs. Encarnacion was a small woman—about 4-feet-10 and 80 pounds. In her native Puerto Rico she reared about 30 adopted children, swearing by "spicy food, a good cigar and a good drink of strong rum" as the sustaining forces in her incredibly healthy life.

She died in a nursing home where she had lived since April. "Probably pneumonia," her doctor said.

No Doubt

The doctor said he had no doubt she was more than 100 years old.

Until she stopped eating and took to her bed about 10 days ago, Mrs. Encarnacion was agile and spry.

"She always wanted to help," said Miss Mary Patricia McMullen, day supervisor at the nursing home. "She spoke no English, but no one could have been more polite and lovable."

Mrs. Encarnacion lived most of her life in Mameyes, a little Puerto Rican town no longer on the map.

Many Children

"Ever since I opened my eyes, she was old," said Mrs. Encarnacion's 49-year-old son, Joseph Encarnacion.

Mrs. Encarnacion was married once.

"She had one child," said a woman who knew her. "The child fell down a stairway and was killed."

A small white bandana was always on her head, rosary beads always around her neck, she was the delight of the nursing home.

"Until the day she went to bed sick, she smoked cigars—big coronas," said Miss McMullen.

"Her relatives would bring her rum and she would sip that."

Janesville Man Appointed to Tourist Body

MADISON (AP) — Arthur MacArthur of Janesville has been appointed chairman of the Tourist and Vacation Committee of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Tuesday.

MacArthur is a former chairman of the State Conservation Commission.

The chamber announced at the same time the appointment of Nicholas J. Lesselyoung, an official of the Milwaukee Gas Light Co., as head of the Public Affairs Committee.

ASTRO-SONIC Stereo High Fidelity

This astounding development exceeds all previous accomplishments in the perfect recreation of music—Stereophones from FM radio as well as records with incredible fidelity, to give you the greatest musical entertainment you have ever experienced—and all this without a single tube!

The Astro-Sonic has such great tonal dimension it can fill a concert hall like a full symphony orchestra—and in your home can "whisper" the full beauty of music, or shake the walls with the crescendo of a great symphony.

Vacuum tubes and components damaging heat—the source of most service troubles—are eliminated. The Astro-Sonic is so reliable that the parts are guaranteed for five years—twenty times as long as the standard industry guarantee for tube sets.

The Modern Classic, model 667 in sable or natural walnut, $550

The French Provincial, model 662 in your choice of fruitwood or antique ivory, $595

The Italian Provincial, model 640 in your choice of mahogany, natural or French walnut, $595

Now solid state circuitry—a by-product of the billion dollar space age—gives ten times the efficiency of a comparable tube set—uses but one-tenth the power—no more than a small light bulb.

Now, large exponential treble horns—ten times as efficient as conventional cone speakers—reproduce treble tones without a bluish distortion.

High efficiency 15" bass woofers give you bass definition you have never heard before.

A new "Micromatic 60" record player completely eliminates pitch distortion—for the turntable speed is as accurate as your electric clock! The new pickup plays at only 1/10 ounce touch, banishing record and stylus wear—therefore the diamond stylus is guaranteed for ten years and your records can last a lifetime.

Come in for a thrilling demonstration of this Stereo marvel. Choose from a variety of styles and finishes. Other Stereo consoles as low as $149.90

Cite Knowledge As Aid to Health Rule

Dairymen Note Effect Of Economic, Social Aspects of Problem

Complete understanding of the problems of farms and plants by the milk inspection agency would increase the speed at which compliance with health rules could be reached, two Appleton dairymen told the Board of Health Wednesday.

Rudy Cherkasky, vice president of Quaker Dairy Co., and Matt M. Schaefer, manager of Schaefer Dairy Products Co., said this understanding of the various problems should be in relation to the economic and social aspects as well as the health aspect.

State and local officials reviewed the milk inspection program at the board of health meeting. Dr. George M. Shinnors, Green Bay, sixth district health officer, Glenn Drake of the State Board of Health, Stanley B. Wittwer of Dairilab Service, Magitowoc, and Donald Day, new city sanitarian, discussed their roles in the program.

Results Hoped For
Cherkasky, heading a statement prepared by him and Schaefer, said the results they hope to achieve are complete compliance with the law. To reach the goals set forth by the law, cooperation and a good attitude are necessary on the part of both the industry and the inspection agency, he said.

He set forth six points by which the agency can help insure this: 1. a principle of helpfulness rather than policing; 2. a knowledge of plant operations, equipment and labor atmosphere and the changing conditions in these areas; 3. proper explanation of certain requirements and how they affect the operation of each plant; 4. equality of inspections for farms and plants; 5. an understanding of the idea of local industry being important to the locality; and 6. understanding of the effect on local processors of public relations between the health department and the citizens.

He noted that over the past 20 years Appleton has lost more than 15 milk processing plants and three times that number of farm producers.

Chicago Producers
He said that Chicago food producers are not always treated the same as Wisconsin or Appleton producers even though they may be near or directly across the river from one another.

Wittwer said that in some cases local inspectors are more rigid in inspection and supervision, and in some cases Chicago inspectors are more rigid, but "we are getting closer all the time to equalization of Chicago inspection and our inspection." Both use the same code but have different interpretations, he noted.

He said the Chicago agency has started "milking time inspection," and that this will eventually be started here too.

Dr. Shinnors called Cherkasky's statement an "excellent analysis." The industry should look on the health department as a place to go for help and information when problems arise, he said.

Its work should be 95 per cent education and 5 per cent police power, Dr. Shinnors said. "If the health department has to use police power it actually is admitting failure on its part," he said.

Problem Cause
Cherkasky noted that an acute problem can develop if one city sets its standards much higher or lower than others.

Any city can upgrade its standards above the standard milk ordinance and code if the new standards are reasonable and not used as a trade barrier, Wittwer said.

Upgrading should be done through cooperation of city officials and the industry, Dr. Shinnors noted.

The prime objective of any health department is to insure safe and wholesome products to the community, Day said, and to see that products are processed and produced under the best sanitary conditions. The methods used are consultation, education and enforcement, he said.

The health department wants to serve as consultant to the milk industry, he said, and legal or coercive action is taken only as a last resort. It is seldom needed because of the good cooperation from the industry, he said.

Nina II Sighted Northeast of Isle

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Nina II, the elusive reproduction of Columbus' third ship which is attempting to duplicate the original voyage, was spotted by search planes again Wednesday about 300 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

Winds were strong and the sea was rough, but the Nina said it would continue on toward its destination, San Salvador, the Bahamas. The Coast Guard estimated it might arrive there Christmas Eve.

The Nina's crew again refused food but asked for water and cigarettes.

Seymour Man in Serious Condition At Green Bay

Darwin Abel, 30, route 2, Seymour, was seriously hurt and three other persons were injured near Seymour on State 55.

Six others received minor injuries in three other accidents reported Wednesday and today to Appleton and Outagamie County police.

Injured and taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Green Bay besides Abel were Rhinold Krause, 41, and Kathleen Munder, 20, both of Seymour. They are listed in good condition.

A third person, Joyce Siebert, 22, also of Seymour, was treated and released after treatment for her injuries.

According to witnesses, the two cars were heading in the same direction toward Seymour on 55 when the accident occurred. Abel was alone in his car. Hospital authorities said Abel received severe head injuries.

Treated, Released
Three youths who were involved in a one-car accident Wednesday morning on Mayflower Drive, drove themselves to the Appleton Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released.

Dennis L. Miller, 18, 621 N. Morrison St., the driver of the car, Richard Roland, 18, route 2, Menasha, and Jan Riadel, 1341 W. Wisconsin Ave., received face cuts.

Miller told Outagamie County police he lost control of his vehicle and it went into a ditch about 4 a.m.

Mrs. Ora Rohde, 820 Bayview Ave., Neenah, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 8 a.m. today after she was involved in a two-car collision at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., parking lot on S. Oneida Street. She was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service.

According to Appleton police, Mrs. Rohde let her husband out of the car, then pulled away from the curb and was involved in a collision with a car driven by Robert L. Jacobs, 30, 144 George Court. Jacobs was not injured. Mrs. Rohde is being treated for face and leg cuts.

Car Hits Pole

Earl Bentle, 50, 2101 N. Division St., was injured but was not hospitalized when his car struck a power pole and street sign about 5 a.m. today at Harriman and Marquette streets.

Bentle was making a turn onto Marquette when his car skidded on the snow and hit the pole, police said. He was injured in the stomach, mouth, nose and head.

Mrs. Salvina S. Verhagen, 715 E. Eighth St., Kaukauna, received the community. Day said, and to see that products are processed and produced under the best sanitary conditions. The methods used are consultation, education and enforcement, he said.

The health department wants to serve as consultant to the milk industry, he said, and legal or coercive action is taken only as a last resort. It is seldom needed because of the good cooperation from the industry, he said.

Plan Commission Will Discuss Its Future in January

The future operation of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission will be discussed at a special meeting of its executive committee Jan. 4, 1963, at 2:30 p.m.

The meeting will be in the commission's new quarters in the Home Mutual Insurance Co. office at 228 W. College Ave., Appleton. It is expected the commission will have moved into the new quarters by the end of this month.

Probably the biggest item of business to be discussed will be whether the commission should recruit its own staff or sign a new contract with a consultant.

The three-year contract with Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates, Indianapolis, expires at the end of this month.

The commission's 1963 budget lists $8,500 for a planning director and $7,000 for an assistant.

Firm Says Motorists Use Ramp at Own Risk

Builder Disclaims Responsibility for Mishaps in Letter to Appleton Mayor

Notice has been given the City lower level of the structure for of Appleton that motorists using parking, starting Dec. 10, 1962, the new municipal parking structure are doing so at their own risk as far as the general contractor is concerned.

However, spokesmen for the city's insurance carriers said the public must use caution and new contract with a consultant.

Weather Is Possible Factor in Launch of 'Switchboard in Space'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Keeping a weather eye on the winds six to eight miles above the earth, the space agency today prepared to install an intercontinental switchboard out in space.

Barring trouble from high winds above or the unseasonably cold weather down here below, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will send the Relay communications satellite aloft sometime between 6:30 and 8:18 EST tonight.

Relay, a more sophisticated brother of the highly successful Telstar, was designed as another step in the process of developing a spatial communications network to take the load off overtaxed land lines and ocean cables.

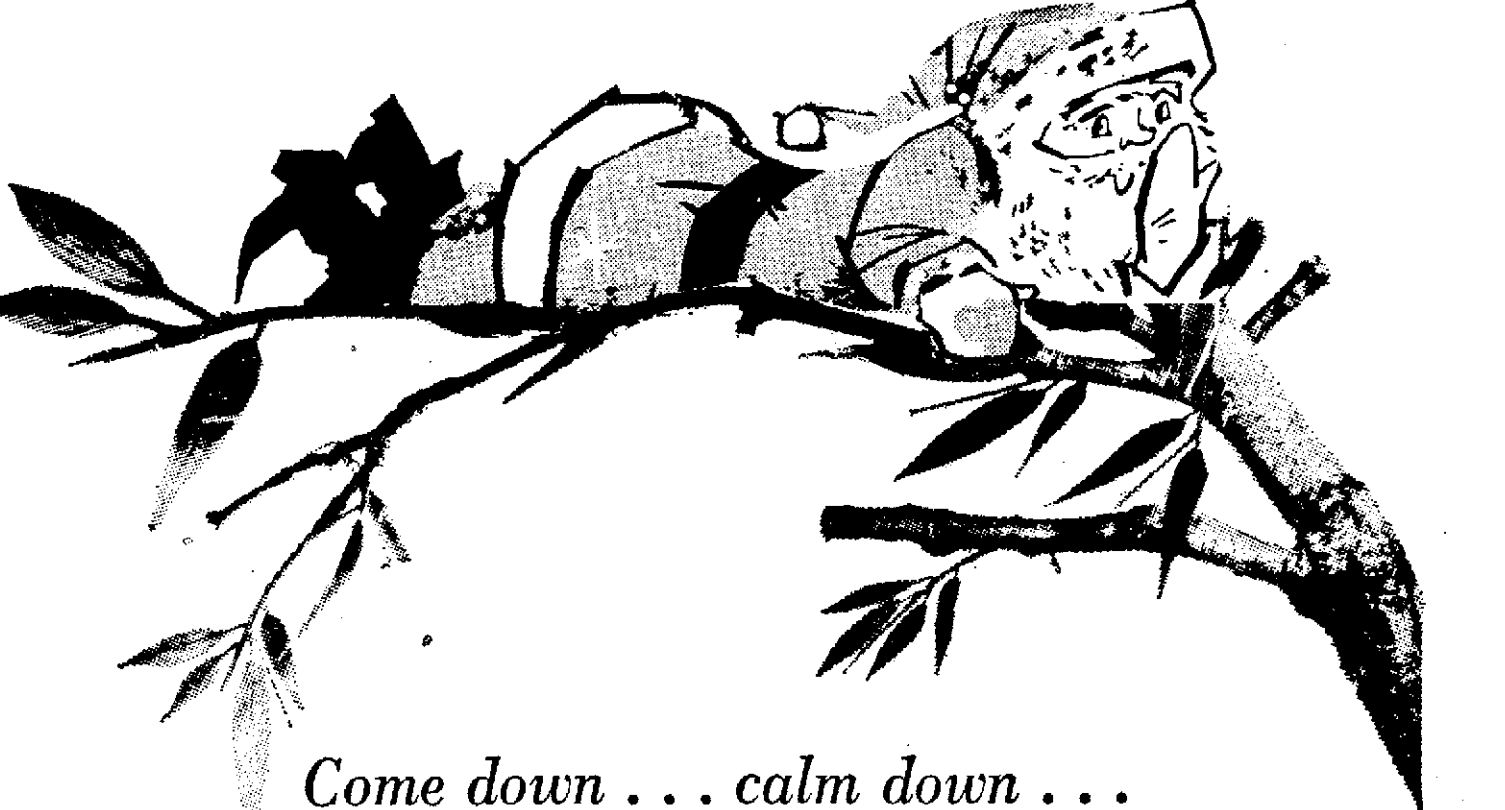

ture for the city said it would still be covered while construction is underway.

Broehm said he presumed the city would have coverage on the parking structure as it would any other municipal building.

Acting Public Works Director Henry Crowe said he could not interpret the meaning of Meyer's letter and suggested it might be referred to the city attorney.

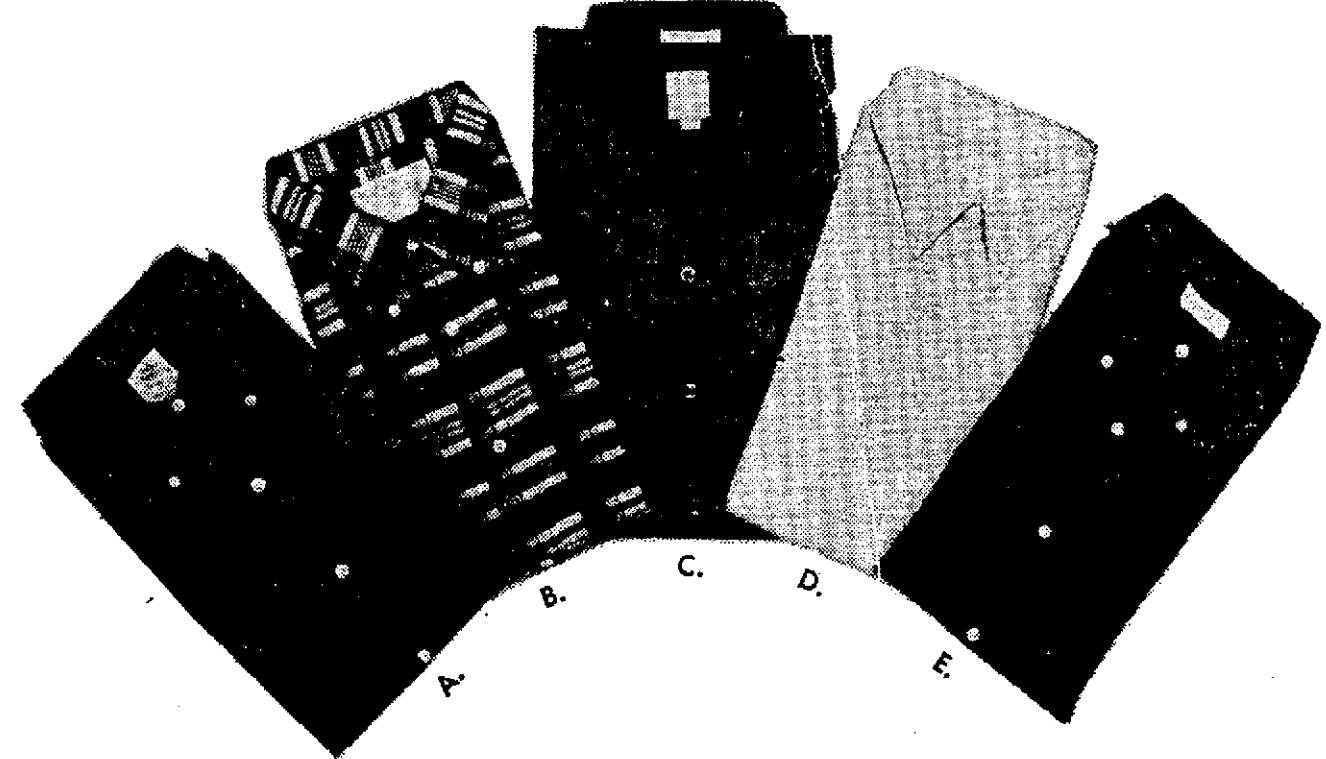

Other city officials contacted said they thought the letter was "confusing."

Retired TV Cowpokes Try Stage Roles
BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens to retired television Western stars? They go to Broadway, that's what.
At least that has been the pattern with such horseless heroes as Hugh O'Brian (Wyatt Earp) and Gene Barry (Bat Masterson). Unfortunately their New York plays quickly folded.
Now Bob Horton, the onetime Scout Flint of "Wagon Train," is going legit. Even considering the chancy pattern of success on Broadway, it's likely that he'll have a longer run than his fellow cowpokes.
The reason: He will star in "I

Jingo Sees Paar Show, Sorry He Succumbed
Feels Tricked by Lure of Two Great Stars Robert Goulet, July Garland
BY JINGO
Jingo is ill. He has been suffering since about 9:15 p.m. Friday and he's angry with himself because the malady is hardly worth the effort.
Reacting so violently gives much too much weight to the germ that caused it and, in a very left-handed way, serves as something like a compliment to that undying virus. That's something Jingo would rather not do!
But there it is, Jingo has been ill ever since he was tricked into watching The Leader once more. Annoyance with himself may very well be at the bottom of the virulence of the attack.
During The Great One's nightly infection, he rightly won kudos for gathering together incomparable parties of personalities from which he was able to draw programs of compelling interest — this despite his obvious lack of a definable talent.
No one can be blamed, last week, when he heard that Robert Goulet and the creme de creme of the theater's July Garland were going to visit his town. The One's now weekly infection, of the millions who made it a there are hardly any names with point to take advantage of the more luster than these two and if show to meet Goulet and Queen The Leader had lived up to some Garland as the program was ad of his daily "performances," that verities, would be a show not to be missed.
So it wasn't—worse luck. The Leader gets paid for what he did last Friday and "It's a Since The One has immense Man's World" is being cut from control over His program and the air! The roar of the Great since He has the opportunity to One's claue in his ears, Jingo is edit the tape and—presumably—certain those Nielsen bugs are reshoot anything that just doesn't all in Gotham.

TV Bunches Good Drama Shows Today
9-10 (Channel 11) — Two good dramas are, unfortunately, opposite each other tonight. So you have to choose between Premiere and The Alfred Hitchcock Hour. Premiere has a good story and two good actresses to bring it to life. "The Way From Darkness" considers two sisters living in a house of hate. Shelley Winters is the elder, bedridden and almost proud of the fact that she is "dying." Joan Hackett, the younger, has for years waited on her, refusing to go out on dates so she could stay home at night. Now she finally decides she must have a normal life, and accepts a date.
9-10 (Channel 2) — The Alfred Hitchcock Hour lets Peter Falk have a ball as a rascal filled with evangelical zeal and greed, in equal parts. We first see him waltzing a wealthy recluse into a heart attack. He wants her house as his temple, but she wills it to the worldly Dina Merrill, so Falk sets his sights on her. At first, he figures he can marry her (and the house) but when she turns him down, he has another idea.
7-8 (Channel 11) — Leave it to Beaver has a good study of the onset of egotism this week. It's funny, too, so don't be frightened by the serious aspect. We watch as Beaver scores a vital touchdown and becomes the object of great admiration. It begins to get to him.
7-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare spends an hour wrestling with his conscience and wins in straight falls. Richard Chamberlain learns from a dying patient that he (Mario Alcalde) took several anti-histamine pills before his auto accident, and felt dizzy. Alcalde's widow determines to sue the other driver so her son can have an education. Kildare doesn't know whether to tell about the pills.
8-9 (Channel 2) — The Nurses

Freedom High Sets Concert
FREEDOM — Bernard Keil, band and choral director of music at Freedom High School, announced the theme of the annual Christmas concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in the school auditorium.
Featured in the theme, "Ring the Bells and Trim the Tree 'Tis Christmas Eve Let's Be Happy," will be the band, a play by the Freshman Latin class and chorus.
The Latin class portion is titled "The Christmas Story" directed by Betty Vanden Hoogen. The narrator is Tom Smith. Cast members include Sherry Weiland, Donald Kron, Conrad Marx, Jerry Stein, Bill Weyers, John Garvey, Larry Keil and Richard Vandewettering.
There will be community singing.
starts out as though it could be a funny comedy but shifts gears in mid-plot. The result is a hodgepodge of a show, marked by some good acting. Shirl Conway carries the brunt of this one. She decides she would be happier and richer if she quit the hospital and turned to private nursing. So she gets a post with a family which seems nicely whacky for a time, but really is un-nicely disturbed.
8:30-9:30 (Channel 11)—Here's Edie has Edie Adams in London, where she's currently shooting a movie with Bob Hope. This program was to have started with some scenes of a Royal Command Performance at the Palladium, with Queen Elizabeth II in attendance, but since parts of this were shown on Hope's show last week, there is some doubt if it will be used here. Michael Redgrave is the only guest, with a Shakespearean excerpt as his contribution.
9-10 (Channel 5) — The Andy Williams Show has Mickey Rooney and Miyoshi Umeki as the nominal big-name guests, but you may be captivated by The Osmond Brothers. These are four boys, aged 6 to 12, who will sing "Be My Little Bumble Bee." (Color)
10:20-12 (Channel 4-5)—Among the Tonight Show guests will be Jan Murray and Connie Boswell. (Color).

Loopholes in Meat Checking May Be Closed

Expect Legislature Will Try to Reach Those Not Covered

MADISON (AP) - Another drive against the loopholes in the public meat inspection system is in the making, the state department of agriculture says.

Department officials expect another effort in the new legislature, that will convene in January, to set up a state meat inspection system to cover an estimated 10 to 15 per cent of the meat reaching the tables of consumers that is now outside the scope of the U. S. government inspection service, and is not within the jurisdiction of such municipal inspection services as are functioning within Wisconsin.

The problem has been before the legislature in previous sessions, sometimes with strong participation by consumer organizations, but an acceptable formula has not yet been evolved.

The central difficulty is the financing of what would be a comparatively costly service. The department says it will involve about $700,000 a year, either in withdrawals of state tax money, or in assessments upon slaughterers.

An appropriation of that size would be difficult in the deficit situation that now confronts the legislature and the new state administration.

The alternative of assessment of slaughterers would be strongly resisted, because it would put such state-inspected meat producers at a competitive market disadvantage with larger companies which now receive the inspection services of the federal government without charge.

It was that dilemma that confronted previous legislatures, and which according to department of agriculture spokesmen, has not yet been resolved.

Society Director Says Use of Animals in Science Excessive

MADISON (AP) - Frederick Meyers, the executive director of the Humane Society of the United States, said in a debate Wednesday night that medical scientists were using an excessive number of animals in research experiments.

Meyers, of Washington, D.C., said researchers used up to 40 per cent too many animals in tests during 1961. He urged passage of the Griffiths-Moulder bill that would limit the number of animals used in research and the amount of pain that could be inflicted upon them.

Opposing Meyers were Dr. Anthony Currier, a member of the surgery department of the University of Wisconsin Medical School, and Dr. W.T.S. Thorp, dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Minnesota. They also opposed the bill.

Currier said that Meyers was appealing "to the emotions of the American public" and denied animals were subjected to too much pain by researchers.

Allis-Chalmers Says Retail Sales Up 23 Per Cent '62

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. said Wednesday sales of farm tractors have more than doubled in the last three months and that retail sales in the first 11 months of 1962 for the entire farm equipment division have increased by 23 per cent.

L.W. Davis, vice president and general manager of the farm equipment unit, told of the sales gains as he reviewed a "Land of Power" sales promotion. Figures were not supplied.

Davis said the sales promotion had "more than lived up to its profit expectations." During the "Land of Power" program tractor buyers were given a three-day, expense-paid trip to A-C plants in the Milwaukee-Chicago area. Davis said that more than 7,200 persons were flown here during the campaign.

Name 3 State Residents In Farm Program

MADISON (AP) - Three Wisconsin residents were named Wednesday as overseas delegates to the International Farm Youth exchange program sponsored by the National 4-H Club foundation.

The three will live with rural families in foreign countries next year. They are Miss Alice Viestenz of Oconto, a teacher in the Neenah public schools, and Robert Oleson of Palmyra and Irvin Steinhauer of Mount Horeb who are majoring in meat and animal science studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Calumet Harbor, Wis., and lived in Appleton most of her life. She was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church; the Christian Mothers Society and the Third Order of St. Francis. Mrs. Lutz is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leo Casey, Appleton; Mrs. Bernadine Prasher, Sheboygan Falls; two sons, John, Rt. 3, Oconto Falls; Fred, Rt. 2, Hortonville; 18 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Joseph Catholic Church, the cortege forming at 10:30 a.m. at the Brett Schneider Funeral Home. Interment will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. State Milk Prices Drop in November

MADISON (AP) - Lower milk prices in November brought on a drop in the Wisconsin index of prices received for producers sold by Wisconsin farmers, the State Department of Agriculture noted today. The index was off two per cent from a year ago.

Prices received for milk during the month averaged $3.55 per hundredweight, down 19 cents or 5 per cent from November, 1961. This was the lowest price for the month since 1958.

Prices for meat animals sold by farmers continued to hold steady to higher than November last year.

Kuehn Advisor Plans Move to Stevens Point

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Kirby Hendee, a former state senator and press secretary and adviser to unsuccessful Republican governor candidate Philip G. Kuehn, plans to move from Milwaukee to Stevens Point late this month.

The 39-year-old Hendee, an attorney, has accepted a position as counsel for Hardware Mutuals-Sentry Life in the firm's home office at Stevens Point.

Hendee represented the 4th state Senate District from 1957 to 1961.

JEEP WAGONEER

Different? Definitely! The new 'Jeep' Wagoneer is the first station wagon ever built to offer the comfort, silence, speed and smoothness of a passenger car—plus the safety and traction of 4-wheel drive.

The 'Jeep' Wagoneer is the one family wagon you can drive almost anywhere, in almost any kind of weather.

It's the first and only 4-wheel drive wagon with optional automatic transmission and independent front suspension.

The 'Jeep' Wagoneer features the power and economy of America's first and only automotive overhead camshaft engine, the Tornado-OHC.

It has the most usable cargo space... both high and wide. The 'Jeep' Wagoneer is also available in 2-wheel drive models. Step in. Size it up. Try it out on your 'Jeep' Dealer's today!

Kennedy's Meeting With Macmillan to Set 'Skybolt' Plans

Hottest Argument in Years Between Great Britain, U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fate of the Skybolt missile program, subject of the hottest U.S.-British argument in years, hangs precariously on next week's meeting between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan—and this country's military budget.

Tentative American plans to give up on the expensive missile—around which Britain has shaped its nuclear strategy—has brought a sharp reaction from Britain and put a strain on the alliance.

When asked about the Skybolt dispute at his news conference

Writer Had Been Leading Spokesman For Conservatism

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Columnist George E. Sokolsky, 69, died Wednesday night in his Manhattan apartment. A leading spokesman for American conservatism, his writings appeared in 299 newspapers across the country.

Plagued by heart trouble, diabetes and the cancer to which he had lost a kidney, Sokolsky succumbed in the study of his home while making a phone call. His daughter, Mrs. Donald Feuerstein, was with him when he was stricken. His wife, Dorothy, was in another room.

A relentless foe of domestic and international communism, the bushy-haired Sokolsky drew from a world of experience in writing his six-day-a-week column and in a varied career that included stints as a radio commentator and lecturer.

He had been in Russia during

the early struggles for political power that culminated in communism's victory there, and he worked for many years in China.

Columbia Graduate
Graduating from Columbia University in 1917, he went on a globe-trotting tour that took him through revolution-racked Russia and restless China, where he finally settled down in 1920 to a 10-year stint as a political correspondent of the North China Daily News in Shanghai.

It was there that he met and married his first wife, Chinese-born, English-educated Rosalind Phang. She died in 1933 after bearing him a son, Eric.

In the 1930s, Sokolsky wrote a column for the New York Herald Tribune. During this time, he also wrote five books: "Tinderbox of Asia," "Labor's Fight for Freedom," "We Jews," "Labor Crisis in the United States" and "The American Way of Life."

In 1940 he began writing a nationally syndicated column for the New York Sun. Shortly after that paper ceased publication in 1950, his column, "These Days," started in the new York Journal-American.

His column had been distributed

Stevenson's Role in Cuban Crisis Lauded by President

Penalties Set For Sending Goods to Cuba

Vessels Would be Denied Cargoes From the U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has decided to impose penalties on non-Communist shipping engaged in trade with Cuba, chiefly by denying American cargoes to the vessels.

New regulations are expected to be put into effect in about two weeks.

The President's move, disclosed Wednesday at a news conference, involves reviving plans that were shelved when the Cuban crisis broke in October.

Thus, the United States is reverting to its pre-crisis policy of putting an increasingly tight economic squeeze on the Castro regime in Cuba and, at the same time, making the cost of Soviet support for that regime as high as possible.

Other Points
Kennedy also made two other major points about the Cuban situation:

1. He hopes that negotiations going on between U.S. and Soviet representatives in New York "will come to some conclusion in the not too distant future." Meanwhile the United States intends to maintain its vigilance against the re-introduction of Soviet offensive weapons into the island. This was the substance of the President's reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech in Moscow

Killing Arctic Cold Covers Eastern U. S.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A huge mass of arctic air enveloped the entire eastern half of the nation today. The damaging and tragic effects of the prolonged late autumn cold wave and snowstorm mounted.

The unseasonably cold weather persisted from the northern borders deep into the South, causing inconvenience to millions.

Damage to property and to vegetable crops in Florida was estimated in the millions of dollars. The continued cold threatened the multimillion-dollar citrus crop. Temperatures ranged from the teens in northern Florida to the 30s and 40s in southern sections.

Deaths in connection with the severe weather in the last week soared to near the 100 mark—with some estimates as high as 150.

The biting cold air dropped temperatures to record low levels for the season and for the date in many areas. The South was especially hard hit by the icy blasts.

The main core of the arctic air was in the northern Gulf states. The mercury plunged to 11 below in Crossville, in eastern Tennessee. Temperatures along the coast dipped to the middle teens. Readings of zero were reported in north Georgia and in mountain areas of Alabama.

Negotiations Quit In Strike Against New York Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations in this city's newspaper strike have been called off until next week by federal mediators in the face of a solid deadlock.

The action late Wednesday meant that eight million persons would have to do without their nine major dailies for at least five more days. Also doing without are the hundreds of businesses that depend on the papers to advertise their wares during the Christmas shopping season.

The strike of printers represented by Local 6 of the International Typographical Union is already in its sixth day. Nearly 20,000 employees of the papers have been idled.

BY PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia addressed the Soviet Parliament today and approved Soviet Premier Khrushchev's handling of the Cuban crisis. This seemed certain to increase Communist Chinese anger at the Soviet leadership.

The Yugoslav leader, expelled from the Communist fold as a "deviationist" by Stalin in 1948, told the Supreme Soviet that Khrushchev and Yugoslav points of view "on all major international questions coincide or are close to each other."

Tito's appearance followed an address by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in which, echoing Khrushchev's major policy speech, he suggested the U.S.S.R. wanted to negotiate a settlement of the West Berlin issue. He said Moscow is setting no deadline.

4-Day Session
The 1,443-member Supreme Soviet wound up its four-day session day by approving a sweeping reorganization of the Soviet economic structure and accepting the U.S.S.R. 86.6-billion-ruble budget for 1963.

Close Look at Venus

Frail 'Mariner II' Approaching Waited 'Magic Moment in Space'

BY JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mariner II now approaches its magic moment in space. The frail, bug-like explorer—seared by the nearness of the sun—is ready for a first, close look at a neighbor planet.

This all began on Aug. 27 when earth's cloud-veiled sister Venus, an Atlas-Agena B rocket complex, then the gyros went off again. Mariner is to pass some 20,000 miles from Venus—give or take a few thousand miles.

For half an hour its instruments will measure radio and heat radiation from below the dense flight path. It is an historic moment in man's probing farther and farther into the solar system. Even now, a Soviet space probe is pushing toward Mars for a closer look at that planet.

Series of Troubles
Mariner has weathered a series of troubles, but with one of its solar panels out of operation, it is about to complete its mission. Mariner is already holder of all

U.N. Ambassador's Service 'Distinguished,' Kennedy Says at News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy tried again to close the book on the Adlai Stevenson chapter in the Cuban crisis. He said it should be left to history "when the whole record will be spread out in great detail."

But he said he thought that after having read various statements of the past 10 days "any historical charges and countercharges, should proceed with some care."

The President in his news conference Wednesday touched on many subjects — including the Mona Lisa and a record spoofing the First Family. But the questions kept returning to Cuba and Stevenson.

The President again endorsed the U.N. ambassador saying, "The fact of the matter is that Gov. Stevenson renders very distinguished service. He has done an excellent job at the United Nations."

Urging Appeasement
But the President left up in the air who in the administration may have given two reporters information.

Kennedy Plans Special Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will appear on national television networks Monday night to review his first two years in the White House.

The White House announced today that the hour-long program will be taped in advance and shown at 6:30 p.m. (EST) by ABC and CBS and at 8:30 p.m. by NBC.

The program will be produced by a committee of the three major networks and will be entitled "After Two Years—A Conversation with the President." Kennedy will be interviewed by Sander Vanocur of NBC, William H. Lawrence of ABC, and George Herman of CBS.

tion portraying Stevenson as urging appeasement during Cuban crisis conferences of the National Security Council's executive committee.

The president said "it is my judgment that this statement or interpretation of Gov. Stevenson's position did not come from a member of the National Security Council. I satisfied myself on that. I never heard anyone characterize Stevenson's position in that way and I am satisfied myself that no one did."

He added there were other people who might have. But that, he said, is a matter for reporters. "A matter that, as I say, I think can much better be left to history when the whole record will be spread out in great detail."

Kennedy was asked "You don't know, then, who leaked it?" "No, I don't know who," he replied, "and I think it is unfortunate if anybody discusses any

12 Million Miles

On Oct. 31, almost 12 million miles from earth, Mariner radiated that its power production had dropped. Technicians guessed that one of the solar panels, which convert sunlight into electricity, had developed a short circuit.

On Sept. 29, the same thing happened. Again no good explanation. Suddenly the eyes of Mariner reported the earth was now as bright as it should have been. This too is unexplained, more than five million miles from earth.

NATO Told to Take Initiative

Optimistic Report Given to Annual Meeting by Rusk

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today to take the initiative in the cold war and demonstrate that freedom is the wave of the future.

In a cautiously optimistic report to the annual NATO winter ministerial meeting, Rusk said the outcome of the Cuban crisis and weaknesses developing in the Communist bloc offered the West new opportunities.

The world may be arriving, he explained, at a time when the East instead of the West will do a greater part of the worrying.

Assures Allies
Rusk also assured America's NATO allies the United States government is not negotiating with the Soviet Union on any other subject than Cuba.

He proposed wide-ranging Western studies of major diplomatic problems to consolidate advantages now flowing toward the Atlantic community.

And he warned the Soviet Union the United States has given all the concessions it intends to offer in the negotiations for a treaty to ban nuclear tests.

Rusk spoke for nearly an hour at the opening session of a three-day ministerial review of NATO problems in the Paris headquarters of the 15-nation alliance.

He said the Soviet Union is bumping into serious problems, including troubles inside the country itself, within the Communist bloc, and in relations with the rest of the world.

British Troops Regain Towns In Brunei Area

LABUAN, North Borneo (AP)—British troops pushed out from regained towns in Brunei and northwest Sarawak today chasing rebel bands seeking refuge in dense jungles and swamps.

Local British commanders were concerned that the rebels, whose strength still is unknown, would attempt to organize a long guerrilla war from swampland hideouts.

Several hundred tribesmen from the interior of Sarawak, responding to an ancient hostility to the rebel coastal dwellers, were reported prowling the Brunei-Sarawak border areas in an effort to cut off rebel bands.

However, Lt. Gen. Sir Nigel Poett, commander of British Far East land forces, declared after a visit to operations areas that the possibility of rebel guerrilla resistance already was remote after only six days of revolt.

A Retired Man's Wife Asks Boss for Advice

BY THOMAS COLLINS

Dear Mr. Boss:
It was nice of you to send my 65-year-old husband home last month with his pension. That's what a wife is supposed to say, isn't it?

A n y w a y, I've got him n o w and you haven't. Or you're rid of him and I'm not. Whichever way you want to look at it. And the purpose of this letter is to give you some helpful hints in exchange for some helpful hints I need from you.

First, I want you to tell me how you kept my husband from taking a nap every day right after lunch. You didn't let him take a nap at the company, did you? Well, he is now taking a nap right after lunch and it is disorganizing my whole routine. Please tell me how you kept him awake without making him mad.

Helpful Hint

Now for a helpful hint for you. You know about the fancy Golden Years stuff your Personnel Department is feeding men like my husband before they retire. Well, it's a lot of pea shells. My husband, like most husbands, is not going off to a mountain top in retirement. He's coming home to stay, which means he's going to help me with the housework which means the dishes.

But you sent him home with no skill in this chore and with no conditioning to do it. Tell your Personnel experts to start putting men at the sink in the company cafeteria about three months before they retire, so they can get used to the life that's in front of them.

The next thing I need to know from you is how you handled my husband's drinking. This business of his keeping beer in the refrigerator and starting to drink it before lunch every day is shocking. And I'm surprised that you let employees get into this habit. How much beer did you serve employees on the job, and how did you keep my husband from drinking all afternoon?

I guess you don't have bedrooms down at the company, so it wouldn't be fair to suggest that you teach retiring employees how to make beds, sweep and such, also in their future when they come home. You don't have any bedrooms down there, do you?

Best Help

The best helpful hint I can give you, I think, is to stop retiring your employee's loyalty whenever you retire the employee. My husband came home riding a rah-rah bronco for the company and he would have punched anybody who said anything bad about it. Why didn't you train him to be a part-time commission salesman for the company's products after he retired? He could have sold on enthusiasm and devotion alone. You didn't follow through. You sent him home with a party and a bang. Then what did you do? You sent him the house organ. You big fellows don't follow through. And do you know where all that company loyalty goes after a man retires? It goes to the Social Security office and to the insurance company that sends him his pension. Your company makes appliances. Why didn't you train him to repair them in his retirement if you couldn't make him a salesman? He would have made housewives in this neighborhood think those appliances are the greatest thing since flush toilets. Because he'd BELIEVE it. But you didn't follow through and now, just one month out, he's beginning to think Social Security and Medicare have prettier legs than you do.

I need to know one more thing from you. What did you do to my husband to get him out of his pouts? He's a good pouter. He'll get mad at me for something and sit looking at daytime television all morning and not say a word to me. What did you do with him when he pouted at the company? Pet him? Kick him? What?

I think you owe me some serious consideration of these issues I have raised. I married my husband for 16 hours out of the 24, and for better or worse. Now you come along when he's not as much fun as he once was and give him to me for 24 hours out of the 24. And that is not necessarily for the better.

Please answer:

Paper Firm Plans Changes

Consolidated Will Install High Speed Blade Coating Unit

Plans for a major improvement program at the Wisconsin Rapids Division of Consolidated Papers, Inc. have been announced by Stanton W. Mead, company president.

A high speed blade coater will be installed to further process enamel printing papers. A building addition to house the new machine modification, building ad-coater will be erected on piers over the Wisconsin River on the southeast corner of the division.

"When this unit is completed next fall," Mead said, "we will be capable of blade-coating production from eight of our enamel paper machines to meet continued demand for this type of paper."

The improvement program also will include the modification of another enamel paper machine to increase operating efficiency and

machine modification, building ad-coater, and the auxiliary equipment will exceed $3,000,000.

The building will measure 60 ft. wide by 272 ft. long and in height will be equivalent to a five-story structure. It will have two floors and a mezzanine. The exterior will be faced with brick.

Work on the building began today with construction of earth-filled timber cribs or cofferdams to temporarily divert the flow of the Wisconsin River from the area of the addition.

The basic blade coater will be supplied by Beloit Corporation.

Chilton Public School Short of Library Space

Education Supervisor Lauds Program
Of Teaching; Cites Use of Materials

CHILTON — Up-to-date, constructive teaching, texts and materials are employed in Chilton Public School's elementary department but the department is short of library space, according to the inspection report of Harriet M. Glatly, supervisor of elementary education for the state department of public instruction.

The report lauded the general teaching program pointing out that teachers had science equipment, SRA reading materials, radios, film strips and other instructional aid available to them.

Instructors were encouraged to carefully evaluate the needs for extended reading material available to broaden the educational scope provided by the texts. This focused attention on the library.

Space is too limited, according to the report, to provide reading tables and chairs for any class group using the facilities. This will be corrected with the building expansion program slated to get underway early in 1963 but until then, the report recommends that periods of extended reading be carried out in the respective classrooms with the librarians concentrating on assisting pupils in book selection.

Alleviate Load
Aside from enabling the library to function in a meaningful way, the expansion program will alleviate the crowded kindergarten facilities pointed out in the report. Larger kindergarten quarters and an additional kindergarten classroom are planned for the new structure.

The pupil-teacher load at present is too large for one teacher to handle adequately.

Semi-departmentalization of the seventh and eighth grade curriculum carried on at the Chilton school seemed successful, the report stated. It capitalizes on the training and interests of the teachers and also provides for balance in the morning and afternoon sessions.

A growing pain also was noted in the report. The school is getting to be of a size where consideration could be given to hiring a curriculum coordinator.

New School Costing Iola $285,296

Several Bills
Yet to be Paid
Will Add to Total

IOLA — A summary and breakdown of costs of the new elementary school was reviewed by the Iola - Scandinavia school board Monday.

A total of $285,296 has been paid out for site, building and equipment. Still to be paid are architect's fees, $1,100 withheld from contracts not yet completed at inspection a month ago, an electrical bill of $88.65 and a plumbing bill of $42.56, which were not included in the original contracts but were approved for payment in the meeting this week.

The board voted to accept a bid submitted by Iola Motor Sales for a new Chevrolet to replace the '57 Ford station wagon now in use at a price of $2,086 with trade-in.

William Opperman was elected voting delegate with A. O. Lee as alternate to the Wisconsin School Board Conference in Milwaukee Jan. 16.

In other business the board agreed to accept applications for the position of teacher's aid in first grade, which will be vacant after January, approved the purchase of a car and truck lift for the school garage if it proves satisfactory during the trial period and moved to purchase a Victor calculator for the main office.

Available with a July purchase date which would place it on next year's budget.

Waupaca Curlers Open Season With Narrow Win

WAUPACA — The Waupaca High School curling team opened its new season with an 8-7 win over Wausau at Wausau.

Coach LeRoy Haberkorn's all-senior rink, consisting of Dennis Girard, skip; Kent Taylor, John Knueppel and Ted Johnson as three two and one respectively, scored four stones in the final end to eke out a victory.

For six ends, the teams alternately scored two in the first, one each in the next four and Wausau counted three in the seventh end.

The Waupaca junior varsity team, consisting of Craig Taylor, John Woody, Jeff Jensen and Bob Olsher, won its game 9 to 5.

The intramural league was kept to one match. In the boys' league, the Orange rink defeated the Blues.

Campfire Girls Start Annual Caroling Party

Chilton Unit Will Sing Around City,
Play Games Dec. 21

CHILTON — Completed plans for the first annual caroling party Dec. 21 for all girls enrolled in the Campfire program here have been announced by Mrs. Quentin Moeschberger, chairman.

Bluebirds from second and third grade groups and fourth grade Campfire Girls will meet at the community Christmas tree at Main and Madison at 6:15 p.m. where they will carol for 15 minutes. Groups then will separate for carolling in other areas of the city.

Second graders will have W. Main Street, third graders will be on South Madison and fourth graders will be on North Madison.

These girls then will proceed to the high school auditorium for games and refreshments. They are expected to reach the school about 7:15 p.m. and parents have been asked to pick up their children at 8 p.m.

The older girls, fifth and sixth grade Campfire girls and seventh and eighth grade Junior Hi Campfire members will convene according to plans set by group leaders.

Fifth graders will be on Brooklyn Heights, State, Maryland and Chestnut streets; sixth graders will sing on Washington and Court Streets and seventh graders will be in the downtown business district. The eighth graders will carol on Brooklyn Street and visit Calumet Memorial Hospital.

A combined songfest of older groups has been set for 7:25 p.m. at the community tree. A party at the high school until 8:30 p.m. will follow.

Mrs. James Steenport, Mrs. Bruce Alberts, Mrs. Charles Nikolai are serving on the committee with Mrs. Moeschberger.

Chilton Cagers Look For Third EWC Victory

Tigers Rated Underdogs in Coming Battle
With Kiel Raiders; Count on Whitby, Dhein

CHILTON — The Chilton Tiger quintet takes to the road Friday night in quest of its third Eastern Wisconsin Conference win, but the going won't be easy.

Though holding a better league record, 2-1, compared to their opponent Kiel Raiders' 1-2 mark, the Tigers must be rated underdogs. Led by Rich Platz and Gene Drumum, Kiel gave Valders and New Holstein stiff battles before accepting a pair of narrow margin setbacks. Even more significant is the fact that both were road games for Kiel. Friday night they have familiar surroundings.

Chilton, meanwhile, fashioned a pair of slim victories over

Sheboygan Falls, 3-0, travels to Plymouth. The host Panthers have lost but once, to New Holstein, and are tough on their home court. The Panthers have height but Falls, paced by Mike Maurer and Jim Mattek, has solid scoring balance throughout the lineup.

The victory drought will be ended for at least one EW League team Friday night when Oostburg and Kohler, both 0-3, clash at Kohler.

St. Martin School Yule Program Set

CLINTONVILLE — Grades one through four at St. Martin Lutheran School will present a Christmas program, "God So Loved the World", at 8:45 a.m. Dec. 23 at St. Martin Church.

The congregation and children will participate in the procession, "Come Hither, Ye Children." The Rev. Donald Biester, pastor, will give the Christmas message.

The children's program will consist of songs and recitations. "God's Gift," the Sunday school Christmas program, will be at 11 a.m. Dec. 23 at the church. The Rev. Mr. Biester will be narrator. There will be several speech choirs and songs by the various grades. Jerry Krueger will sing, "What Child Is This?"
